ETHIOPIAN GRAB BY ITALY GETS LEAGUE BACKING

British Win Fight to O. K. Mussolini.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GENEVA, May 9.—The league of nations council today put a more or less official stamp of approval on Italy's conquest of Ethiopia. However, it balked at British hopes of obtaining at Geneva approval of Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain's negotiations with Italy and Japan.

Despite the diplomacy of Viscount Halifax, British foreign secretary, and the loyal support of the French, neither Italy's conquest of Ethiopia, the civil war in Spain, nor Japan's war in China took quite the turn it had been hoped for.

To start with the council in a three hour secret session decided against any covering resolution authorizing Great Britain and other members to recognize the Italian conquest of Ethiopia.

Delegates to Voice Positions.

Instead, each delegate will express his country's position in regard to the problem. Then Chairman Wilhelm Munters, Latvia's foreign minister, will sum up the case in a statement which the British will be able to cite later as justification for recognizing the Italian seizure of the East African empire.

This serves Chamberlain's accord with Premier Mussolini, but does not in British eyes pass the buck sufficiently for the decision to break with the doctrin of nonrecognition of territorial gains by aggressors as enunciated by Henry L. Stimson when he was American secretary of state.

To make matters worse there will be an indelicate public debate on the matter. Due to the merciless hammering of Maxim Litvinov, soviet Russia's foreign commissar, and the New Zealand delegate, it was reluctantly decided that the spokesman for Haile Selassie, fallen emperor of Ethiopia, will be permitted to present his case during the council debate.

Angell May Be Spokesman.

He will not be an official Ethiopian delegate, as that would imply that Ethiopia still exists, but will be termed an "informer" personally representing the exiled emperor. Sir Norman Angell, famous British pacifist, Nobel peace prize winner, and foe of Chamberlain, probably will be the spokesman.

Italy annexed Ethiopia two years ago today following a war for which the league condemned her as an aggressor.

Julio Alvarez Del Vayo, Spanish government delegate, spiked British proposals to dispose of Spanish protests against the nonintervention policy tomorrow immediately after Lord Halifax details the British-Italian agreement.

Del Vayo will speak either Wednesday or Thursday when the spell has worn off. He has indicated he will propose that an investigating committee be sent to Spain to determine whether Reichsfuehrer Hitler and Mussolini are helping Generalissimo Francisco Franco, commander-in-chief of the rebels, in case any one doubts it.

Heed Clamor in America.

This means a full debate and attendant publicity which the British are very anxious to avoid on account of the clamor in America for lifting the embargo on arms shipments to Spain. If the United States congress should yield to this clamor the British fear that it would be a death blow to Chamberlain's policy of dealing with the dictators.

[Washington dispatches last night indicated President Roosevelt has refused to approve efforts to lift the arms embargo against Spain.]

Finally the Chinese were inconsiderate enough this afternoon to charge that the Japanese had been trying out poison gas on them recently and that they are preparing to inaugurate chemical warfare on a large scale.

Deal with Japs Periled.

If this accusation is confirmed the British feel that they will be forced into an attitude of moral indignation which will compromise Chamberlain's negotiations with Japan for settlement of the Chinese war on the basis of respect for British interests.

League observers believe it unlikely that these difficulties would seriously imperil Chamberlain's policy of "realism." But the British fear that it may impede propaganda to present Britain to America as a champion of democracy in world affairs.

COURT RETAINS LABOR BOARD'S RECORD ON FORD

Opens Way to Review of Procedure.

Covington, Ky., May 9.—[Special.]—The United States Circuit Court of Appeals in an amended order today forbade the National Labor Relations board to withdraw its records from the court in the board's decision against the Ford Motor company. The court previously had permitted the board to withdraw its petition for an enforcement order against the company.

Frederick H. Wood Argues for Ford.

The effect of the decision is to prevent the labor board from vacating its faulty record against the company and to hold the entire controversy within the court's jurisdiction.

[The Inland Steel company yesterday received notice here that the National Labor Relations board will meet Thursday to set aside its recent order to Inland to deal with the C. I. O. union. The company plans to make every effort to resist the withdrawal and have its appeal tried by the court. Details on page 3.]

Blocks Labor Board.

Through Philip E. Phillips, regional director, the board tried to retract its order finding the Ford company guilty of violating the Wagner labor law after the Supreme court recently expressed aversion to star chamber methods of governmental agencies and following new charges that the board was acting as the tool of John L. Lewis and other C. I. O. leaders in harassing employers.

By backing down the board sought to escape a judicial investigation of its procedure, which might be embarrassing at a time when the board is under fire from many quarters for its dictatorial methods of denying employers a fair hearing.

The Ford company contended it was not given its constitutional right to answer fully charges made against it; that it was not given its rightful "day in court" to present certain testimony, to cross-examine witnesses, and to exercise other rights of a fair judicial procedure.

Sees No Full and Free Hearing.

Oral arguments were made before the court today by Frederick H. Wood, chief Ford counsel and the man who led the successful fight to declare the NRA unconstitutional.

He asserted it was obvious that the labor board, if permitted to withdraw its record of the case, did not intend to give a full and free hearing of the matter prior to an announced intention of producing new findings.

"We do not intend to go through with a whitewash of this case," said NLRB Director Phillips, "but to serve proper findings of fact to which Mr. Wood can take any objection he desires."

He cited a United States Supreme

Pro and Anti Hague Rallies Roil Business

Jersey City, N. J., May 9.—[Special.]—The Journal Square Merchants association of Jersey City, whose business has been brought to a complete stop on two successive Saturday nights by demonstrations for and against Mayor Frank Hague, announced tonight it will send a delegation to the city hall tomorrow to demand that all demonstrators be barred hereafter from Journal square.

One of the three large theaters on or near the square played shows to empty seats last Saturday night, it was reported, while pro-Hague demonstrators filled the square to keep out a planned anti-Hague meeting sponsored by the International Labor Defense at which two United States representatives were to have spoken. The theaters' loss in revenue was put at $3,000.

Losses Put at Thousands.

Another merchant said he did not have a single customer after 6 p. m., whereas normally Saturday night is the best business period of the week. The total losses of merchants were estimated at thousands of dollars.

Mayor Hague's office said several hundred letters and telegrams from all over the United States had been received in the last two days, nine out of ten commending his stand in forbidding speaking permits to radicals.

The adverse comments, it was said, were largely from communist-dominated sources.

Students Plan Rally.

At Princeton university, a few miles to the south, student leaders laid plans tonight for an anti-Hague rally Thursday night, to which they have invited as speakers Norman Thomas, Senator Robert M. La Follette, Dr. Harold W. Dods, president of Princeton, and Prof. Walter P. Hall, history lecturer at Princeton.

Thomas accepted immediately, they said. He is a Princeton graduate, class of 1905. He was ousted from Journal square recently when he tried to talk there.

COP FINDS ANSWER LIKE A SHOT TO A WEIGHTY PROBLEM

It was round and it was heavy, and to Andrew Lindgren, who is inexperienced in such matters, it looked very suspicious. Andrew was startled when he stumbled over it in the yard of a plant at 1305 Belmont, where he is a watchman.

"A bomb," yelped Andrew, and he picked it up and legged it to a filling station nearby. Frank Rizzo, the operator of the station, took one look and did not bless Mr. Lindgren for bringing it. He had an idea that a gas station is no place for a bomb.

Then Lieut. Anthony de Grazio was summoned. He picked the thing up and, to the amazement of Lindgren and Rizzo, tore it apart with his bare hands. It was just the lether cover of an indoor baseball filled with sixteen pounds of BB's that some amateur shot putter had thrown too far.

8 YEAR OLD BOY ARMED WITH GUN HOLDS UP A MAN

Jacksonville, Ill., May 9.—An 8 year old boy armed with a pistol was held in jail here tonight after robbing a man in the business district and threatening a policeman, who found him hiding in an alley.

B. McHatton, a painter, reported to police that Beebee Hayes approached him with a drawn pistol and ordered him to "put up your hands."

Later Policeman Homer Nunes found Hayes seated in an automobile. When he approached, the boy took a pistol from his pocket. The officer wrested the pistol from him. He will be arraigned in Juvenile court. His brother Albert, 18, is in the county jail on a charge of burglary.

Rub Dry Ice on Your Gem and if It Squeals It's Real

Wilmington, Del., May 9.—(AP)—Dry ice was described today as an unfailing eye for the detection of fake gems. "Rub any crystalline substance against dry ice and the ice will squeal," Dr. Samuel G. Gordon, Philadelphia mineralogist, told the Tri-State Jewelers association. Most real gems, he explained, are crystalline. Glass gems make no sound when rubbed against the solidified carbon dioxide.

Davies Freed of Boredom in Red Russia

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
(Pictures on page 3.)

Washington, D. C., May 9.—[Special.]—Joseph Davies, wealthy lawyer, was nominated ambassador to Belgium by President Roosevelt today.

Davies will be transferred from Moscow which he and his wife, Mrs. Marjorie Post Hutton Davies, found boring because of the lack of social life among the soviets.

The couple have been trying ever since they found Moscow barren of social glitter to get to a capital where they could give the type of entertainments for which they were noted in Washington.

Insures Ice Cream Supply.

Davies was named ambassador to Russia in November, 1936. Early in 1937 he set out for his post with 2,000 pints of grade A cream, a quantity of rock salt for making ice cream, and 1,000 bottles of wine and mineral waters. As he left with the shipment he said he planned to run the embassy the simple American way.

Instead of the social functions with which they dazzled Washington, the ambassador and his wife, heiress of the great Post cereal fortune and one of the ten wealthiest women in the country, gave a series of buffet suppers.

Soviets Cold to U. S. Life.

At the suppers motion pictures were shown depicting the American way of life. The movies did not appeal to regimented soviets, nor did this way of life interest the apostles of the simple life. Both spent more time in this country than in Moscow.

When Davies heard that Robert Worth Bingham, ambassador to Great Britain, and William E. Dodd, ambassador to Germany, were planning to resign, he raced home to put in a bid for either post. He arrived too late. Joseph P. Kennedy went to London and Hugh Wilson to Berlin.

Again when he heard Hugh Gibson, veteran career diplomat, was about to resign, Davies raced for the White House and won the dash.

Davies gained many legal clients through political associations during 25 years in Washington. He is 60 years old and a native of Watertown, Wis. He married Mrs. Hutton two and a half years ago.

Eye Removal Halts Tumor's Fatal Spread

Baby Helaine Colan, given up last week to death or total blindness, may yet grow up to see the world about her.

She was sleeping comfortably last night between her regular feedings after a surgical operation which ten eminent Chicago medical men said was her only chance for life—the removal of her left eye.

Because both her eyes were known to be affected by a cancerous growth, glioma of the retina, it had been believed that both eyes must be removed if her life were to be saved. But hope of saving the one eye was raised when Dr. Robert H. Good told nine colleagues called in to decide what was best for Helaine yesterday, that he believed a laboratory study of the left eye, already sightless, might point the way to treatment of the right.

Find She Still Has Vision.

The medical group, asked to take charge when Elaine's parents were unable to choose between the alternatives of death or blindness, agreed with Dr. Good upon learning that he had made light tests which showed Helaine still had vision in her right eye. Dr. Good was chosen to perform the operation.

He operated at once on Helaine, now 5½ weeks old. From her bedside in the Garfield Park Community hospital this bulletin came at midnight on the condition of the little girl whose fight for life is being watched by all the nation:

"Baby sleeping. Had regular feeding. Temperature, 99.2. Pulse, 158. Respiration, 60."

The surgeons told more: That Helaine lost no more than a half a teaspoonful of blood in the operation, and that she was on the operating table only 13 minutes.

Mother Near Collapse.

Helaine's mother, Mrs. Estelle Colan, 23 years old, was near collapse in the seclusion of a family friend's home. Her father, Dr. Morris Hershman, had collapsed as he paced the corridor outside the operating room and been put to bed in the hospital. The baby's father, Dr. Herman Colan, worn by days and nights of struggle to decide between an operation and permitting nature to take the course he knew meant death, said:

"My wife and I are satisfied that the doctors' committee has done everything to minimize our worry, and we are eternally grateful to the doctors for their decision. We hope our experience will benefit others."

Agree Not to See Baby.

Rabbi A. E. Abramowitz of Congregation Israel, the family spiritual adviser, said the parents have agreed not to see their baby again until some definite progress is reported in her case. This action was urged upon the parents that they might be spared further mental anguish in a situa-

HOPKINS, ICKES WILL POUR OUT MOST OF FUNDS

House Opens Debate on Bill Today.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 9.—[Special.]—The administration's 5 billion dollar prescription for curing a sick nation was presented in part to congress late today in the form of a bill providing for huge expenditures, totaling 2 billion, 519 millions of dollars, on a staggering variety of projects. The house will begin consideration of the measure tomorrow.

Rep. E. T. Taylor.

While the direct appropriations in the measure aggregated the above total, they constitute only half of the cost of President Roosevelt's pump priming program. In pending and approved bills, authorizations and appropriations totaling another two billion dollars are provided, and the end is not in sight.

Every conceivable method of spending, from insect pest eradication to Porto Rican relief, was provided in the bill reported to the house by Representative Edward T. Taylor [D., Colo.], chairman of the appropriations committee. But some exceedingly large items, such as the proposed 3 hundred million dollars for housing were left for consideration in some other bill.

Lower than Estimates.

The total of the bill was thus considerably lower than the estimates, ranging from 3 billions to 5 billions, which have been made since the President sent his message to congress urging immediate spending on a large scale to meet the depression.

[The United States' plan for curing the depression by national spending was denounced as a failure in a report of the Bank for International Settlements. Details on page 23.]

The house measure also contained much legislative material directing the manner in which the money shall be spent. The significant phrase, "subject to the approval of the President," occurred again and again. This restriction in regard to all work relief expenditures was written into the bill today. Despite all reports to the contrary, the President will have as much control over the allocation of funds as he ever did, the wording of the bill revealed.

Hopkins Gets Over Billion.

The WPA of Harry Hopkins is awarded 1 billion, 250 millions in the measure. Of this amount, 425 millions are to be spent on highways, roads, and streets. Another 575 millions is set aside for public buildings, parks, public utilities, rural electric transmission lines, sewer systems, water supply and purifications systems, airports and other transportation facilities, flood control, conservation insect pest eradication and soil fertilization. The remaining quarter of a billion is to be devoted to educational and so-called white collar projects.

The national youth administration was awarded the 75 million for which it asked. The farm security administration got its 175 million for loans and grants. The committee decided that conditions in Porto Rico waranted the spending of 6 million in that island.

More for Expenses.

Expenses of certain government departments, especially in the treasury, will necessarily be raised because of the spending of all this money, the committee realized, so the following amounts were awarded the following offices:

General accounting office	$4,180,000
Procurement division	5,500,000
Disbursement division	3,500,000
Office of treasurer	750,000
Secret service	300,000
Commissioner of accounts	2,000,000

Adding these amounts revealed that a total of $16,230,000 will be spent on spending the money.

Certain departments in need of money were also taken care of in the bill. These appropriations would otherwise have appeared in a deficiency appropriation bill and were not strictly classed as "recovery" expenditures. Among them were the following:

U. S. employment service	$1,500,000
Bureau of air commerce	325,000
U. S. employés compensation commission	3,500,000
National emergency council	250,000
National resources committee	250,000
Prison industries reorganization administration	120,000
Department of justice	1,250,000

The Public Works administration of Harold L. Ickes was allotted 965 millions of dollars, just short of the billion dollars requested. Of this amount not to exceed 100 millions are to be spent on federal construction projects and not more than 11 millions on administration expenses of the PWA, the bill provided.

The bill also increased from 70 million to 130 million dollars the authorization for the three year program for federal buildings which was provided in a 1937 deficiency act. This was one of the methods by which President Roosevelt won over votes to the pump priming program.

It enables the construction of two postoffices or federal buildings in every congressional district in the United States instead of one. A direct appropriation of 25 million is contained in the bill to provide a speedy start on the program.

This completed the direct appropriations in the measure which thus totaled $2,519,425,000. In addition, the President's program calls for an appropriation of 300 million dollars for housing upon which action has not yet been taken. Another 100 million dollars is to be spent on roads in addition to the WPA highway work. The civil conservation corps is to get 50 million and flood control 37 million dollars.

Billion and Half in Loans.

Not to be forgotten in this compilation of spending under the pump priming program is the billion and a half dollars authorized to be loaned by the Reconstruction Finance corporation to industries, large and small, which it may select for assistance.

Including this RFC authorization, the administration's entire program contemplates the spending or lending of 5 billion dollars in an effort to meet the depression.

A certain flexibility was given the WPA in the spending of its fund by a provision stating that moneys made available for the various classes of projects may be increased as much as 15 per cent by transfer of funds.

The measure also extends for one year, or until June 30, 1939, the life of the WPA, the NYA, the Farm Security administration, the NEC, and several other agencies which were formed four and five years ago as "emergency" organizations.

Prevailing Rate of Pay.

The bill specifies that the prevailing rate of pay for work of a similar nature shall be paid on WPA projects. But no person employed on a WPA job shall keep it if he refuses a bona fide offer of employment in private industry which pays as much or more in compensation as the WPA, the bill provides.

Nor shall any person who is a candidate for public office hold a supervisory or administrative position with the WPA, the bill provides. This applies also to persons serving as campaign managers for others who are candidates.

The Public Works administration may not allot any of its $965,000,000 to projects which cannot be commenced before Jan. 1, 1939, and substantially completed prior to June 30, 1940, according to the bill. No grant shall be made in excess of 45 per cent of the cost of any nonfederal project. Not more than $750,000,000 of PWA money shall be thus used for grants.

Distribution of Pump Priming Cash

PUMP PRIMING BILL $2,519,425,000
W. P. A. $1,250,000,000
ROADS $425,000,000
WHITE COLLAR PROJECTS $250,000,000
PUBLIC WORKS $575,000,000
NATIONAL YOUTH ADMINISTRATION $75,000,000
FARM SECURITY ADMINISTRATION $175,000,000
PORTO RICO $6,000,000
EXTRA EXPENSES $16,230,000
P. W. A. $965,000,000
DEPARTMENTAL DEFICITS $7,195,000
FEDERAL BUILDINGS $25,000,000

The proposed distribution of cash under the administration's bill providing for expenditures totaling 2 billion 519 million dollars. The house of representatives will begin consideration of this bill today. It provides half of the cash cost of President Roosevelt's prescription for curing a sick nation.

Senate Accepts Compromise on New Revenue Measure

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 9.—[Special.]—The senate today passed without a single objection the conference agreement on the 5 billion 300 million dollar revenue bill of 1938 that is intended to relieve business from destructive taxation. House leaders plan to bring up the conference report Wednesday, when it will be adopted and sent to the White House for President Roosevelt's signature.

Senator Arthur H. Vendenberg [R., Mich.] made the only statement on the senate floor in connection with the conference report, which he and Senator Arthur Capper [R., Kas.] had signed as minority conferees. He said the bill was not altogether satisfactory because it does not repeal outright the punitive tax on undistributed corporation earnings, but that he and Senator Capper were forced by the parliamentary situation to take the lesser of two evils.

Saves Roosevelt's Face.

The conference agreement retains a face saving vestige of the undistributed profits tax, demanded by President Roosevelt in a letter to the conferees, but it is limited to the calendar years 1938 and 1939. In the meantime congress must draft new corporate income tax legislation. For the calendar years 1938 and 1939 corporations earning more than $25,000 will pay a maximum rate of 19 per cent if no earnings are distributed in dividends and a minimum of 16½ per cent if all earnings are distributed. There is a credit of 2½ per cent against the maximum tax on the amount of dividends paid.

Corporations earning under $25,000 are exempt from the profits tax principle, and will pay 12½ per cent on the first $5,000, 14 per cent on the next $15,000, and 16 per cent on the next $5,000.

Rejects President's Demand.

The bill abolishes the present system of taxing long term capital gains as ordinary income, the retention of which President Roosevelt had demanded. Gains from assets held less than 18 months will be taxed at the ordinary income and surtax rates, but losses may be carried over one year to offset gains in the next year.

On gains from assets held from 18 months to two years, the tax payer may pay a flat rate of 20 per cent or add 50 per cent of the net gain to his ordinary income. If the assets are held more than two years, the flat rate is only 15 per cent.

SPEED WAGE BILL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 9.—[Special.]—The house will be rushed to a vote late this week or early next week on the administration's bill for federal control of wages and hours, developments indicated today.

A movement to waive the rules so that the measure could be brought up before May 23 was initiated by Chairman John J. O'Connor [D., N. Y.] and won almost immediate approval. Two Republican members of the rules committee will change their votes to make the earlier vote possible, they announced.

Balloting on May 23 had been made possible by the signing of a petition last Friday by 218 members, a majority, which discharged the rules committee from control of the act.

Act to Hasten Adjournment.

Taking cognizance of the sentiment in the house evinced by the signing of this petition, O'Connor introduced a resolution which would make it in order to call up the bill at any time prior to May 23.

This resolution must be approved by the rules committee, which has voted 8 to 6 against giving the bill right of way. The two Republicans who will change their votes to form a majority in behalf of the new resolution are Representative Carl E. Mapes of Michigan and Donald R. McLean of New Jersey.

"The people want congress to adjourn," Mapes said. "The house has clearly indicated it wants to vote on the bill. Nothing can be gained by delaying the vote. If advancing the vote will hasten adjournment I am for it."

Hope for an early adjournment also impelled McLean to change his vote, he said.

Business Wants Adjournment.

"Business men of the country desire an early adjournment of congress," he said. "If early adjournment can be brought by expediting consideration of the wage-hour bill the price might not be too much to pay."

The rules committee will probably meet tomorrow and approve the resolution. It is expected that it will be called up late this week or early next week. There is no doubt of its approval and Chairman Mary T. Norton [D., N. J.] of the labor committee can then immediately call for a vote on the measure itself. Approval is unquestioned.

Senator Pat Harrison [D., Miss.] hinted today that there was still the possibility of a senate filibuster against the bill.

PIRATED PLAY AUTHORS GIVEN $587,000 AWARD

'Dishonored Lady' Script Used by M-G-M.

New York, May 9.—[Special.]—A special master in federal court today awarded Edward Sheldan and Margaret Ayer Barnes $587,604.37 for the pirating of their play, "Dishonored Lady," by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer and associated film companies.

Margaret Ayer Barnes.

The play, in which Katharine Cornell appeared with success on Broadway in 1930, was made into a movie called "Letty Lynton" in 1932. Joan Crawford and Robert Montgomery were featured.

The suit by the authors of the play dates back to the release of the movie version. It was the first heard by Federal Judge John M. Woolsey, and carried to the Court of Appeals when he decided against the authors.

Lower Court Reversed.

The Court of Appeals reversed Judge Woolsey in 1938, and in the same year the United States Supreme court declined to entertain an appeal by the film producers.

After the high court had declined the appeal Gordon Auchincloss was appointed special master to fix the amount of damages, based on profits from the picture.

Bared by Hayes Office.

During the long litigation it was declared by the authors that they had submitted the manuscript for "Dishonored Lady" to Metro early in 1930 and that the film company had agreed to buy it for $30,000.

Subsequently Will Hays, movie czar, declined to permit the play to be made into a movie, and, according to the film producer, a novel by Mrs. Belloc Lowndes, dealing with the same historical matter, then was bought and made into the movie, "Letty Lynton," by studio writers.

"Dishonored Lady" and the Lowndes novel were based on the trial and acquittal in 1857 of a Scottish girl accused of poisoning her lover.

ENJOYS MORAL VICTORY.

Mrs. Margaret Ayer Barnes, author, had no comment to make last night on the award of more than half a million dollars made to her and Edward Sheldon in New York for the movie piracy. Her husband, Cecil Barnes, said the important consideration in her view was the moral victory. Mr. and Mrs. Barnes live at 1153 North Dearborn street.

FALL FATAL TO WIDOW, 83.

Hip injuries suffered when she fell in her home two weeks ago resulted last night in the death of Mrs. Elizabeth Schuette, 83 years old, 7665 Sunset drive, Elmwood Park, a widow.

SENATE TAKES THREE HOURS TO SPEND BILLION

Washington, D. C., May 9.—(AP)—It took the senate less than three hours today to discuss and approve the expenditure of 1 billion 104 millions in federal funds for farm and highway programs.

The agricultural appropriation bill, which would provide this record sum for use in the fiscal year beginning July 1, then was sent back to the house for consideration of some 50 million dollars the senate added to it.

The bill contains an item of $187,500,000 for federal aid to highways. It includes $758,572,820 of new appropriations; $191,095,000 of reappropriations, and $154,524,065 in so-called permanent appropriations.

In debate on the measure today Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg [R., Mich.] charged that government farm expenditures had been increased six fold in the last decade without appreciable improvement in the financial condition of farmers.

NLRB ATTEMPTS TO BACK DOWN ON ORDER TO INLAND

Company Fights Move; to Seek Court Ruling.

The National Labor Relations board moved yesterday to withdraw its order of April 5 against the Inland Steel Company of Chicago. The action met with vigorous opposition from the company.

The order, which directed Inland Steel to sign contracts with the Committee for Industrial Organization as sole bargaining agent for its employés, was appealed last Wednesday to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals on the grounds that it violates the constitution, that the 15 week hearing on which it was based was unfair, and that numerous errors committed by the trial examiner were upheld by the NLRB.

Seek to Force Decision.

The company, according to its attorney, Frederic Burnham, plans to use every legal weapon at its disposal to prevent withdrawal of the order so that it may be decided by the court.

"The labor board," said Burnham, "in the last two weeks has sought to withdraw similar orders against the Ford Motor company and the Republic Steel company. This is a confession of error on the part of the board.

"It apparently hopes to withdraw its orders and correct the errors they contain, then reinstate them. If this piece-meal revision is permitted, the case can drag on forever. The notice we received today states the board will meet next Thursday to set aside its decision of April 5 and institute further proceedings.

Questions the Procedure.

"What these further proceedings may be is not made clear. The board is evidently proceeding on the theory that as long as the record of last summer's hearing has not yet been certified to the Circuit Court of Appeals, it may withdraw its original order and thereby terminate our appeal without further action by the court. We question such a procedure."

The withdrawal of the NLRB order is believed to have been precipitated by the company's appeal of May 4, which asked that the order be annuled and set aside. The appeal requested that the board be directed to certify to the court a complete record of last summer's hearings. The court immediately ordered that this be done by May 20.

Transcript the Crux.

By pulling back its finding, the board hopes to avoid submitting a transcript of the hearing to the Court of Appeals, Mr. Burnham believes. The court has not been notified of the withdrawal decision, it was pointed out.

The steel company's appeal is based upon grounds similar to those recognized by the United States Supreme court when, on April 25, it reversed a ruling by Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace fixing minimum prices that might be paid by marketing agencies operating in the Kansas City stock yards.

The decision in this case upset practically the entire structure of the NLRB's operations. It hedged immediately in the Ford Motor company and Republic Steel company cases.

Would Try It "On Merits."

Explaining the board action in the Inland case yesterday, I. S. Dorfman, NLRB attorney, said the move was made primarily to comply with procedural technicalities.

"The withdrawal," he said, "is for the purpose of further proceedings before the board to try the case upon its merits. Fearing that the precedent set in the Kansas City case might throw doubt on the procedure in the Inland case, the NLRB is reversing its stand, permitting the trial examiner to submit another report."

LIFT 3-SUBJECT LIMITATION IN HIGH SCHOOLS

Starting with the fall school term in September first year high school pupils, above the average in ability, will be permitted to study four major subjects instead of three as at present, Superintendent of Schools William H. Johnson yesterday informed a meeting of high school principals at the board of education offices.

The new ruling carries out a recommendation made by a committee of assistant and district school superintendents. Dr. Grace Munson, head of the school child study bureau, directed the principals' meeting.

The three subject ruling was put into effect in 1936, when Dr. Johnson determined many pupils leave high school at the end of the first semester because of failure. "We reduced that loss from 2,596 in February, 1935, to 368 this February," he said.

The principals were also told that an articulation program to acquaint elementary school graduates with high school courses and activities is to be started this semester.

Blossom Queen and Court Herald Michigan Festival

Michigan's blossom queen, Dorothy McBride of Kalamazoo, arrived in Chicago yesterday with members of her court, advertising the annual festival now in progress near Benton Harbor and St. Joseph. Members of her court included Arline Thomson [Miss Grand Rapids], Le Ila Bradley [Miss Battle Creek], Donna Pitcher [Miss St. Joseph], and Winifred Lerch [Miss Benton Harbor]. The queen and her attendants will be at the Hotel Sherman until tomorrow. The festival ends Saturday.

COURT RETAINS LABOR BOARD'S RECORD ON FORD

Opens Way to Review of Procedure.

court opinion that it cannot be presumed that government officials will act unreasonably or improperly.

Phillips contended that since Friday, when the court decided the board could withdraw its record and a copy of that order was received by the board, it had taken jurisdiction and had given notice to the Ford company that the order would be vacated on Tuesday.

"All the court did last week was to give permission to withdraw [records]," interposed Judge Xen Hicks. "Nothing was said about jurisdiction."

At the conclusion of the hearing the court amended its order of last Friday so that it forbade the board from withdrawing its records against the company. This will permit a review of the constitutionality of the board's procedure.

Planned Supreme Court Appeal.

Prior to the hearing Attorney Wood telegraphed the labor board he would seek the order he won "pending application to the Supreme court or any other court of competent jurisdiction for relief from the said order and pending decision upon any such application."

The board's order of last December found the Ford company had violated the Wagner act after the trial examiner reported numerous unfair labor practices in pursuance of the company's refusal to bargain collectively with John L. Lewis' C. I. O. union of automobile workers.

The board ordered the company to reinstate 29 workers and demanded that it cease its alleged anti-union activities.

The Ford company contended the union did not represent its employés, and denied the charges of unfair labor practices. The company's claim that the board had denied it a fair hearing was given sudden and potent support by the United States Supreme court's decision last week in the Kansas City stockyards case. The high court ruled the secretary of agriculture had not given Kansas City live stock commission men a fair hearing in fixing rates.

Republic Steel Case.

Philadelphia, Pa., May 9.—[Special.]—Action on the National Labor Relation board's petition for dismissal of an order preventing reopening of its case against the Republic Steel corporation was postponed today by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals.

Joseph W. Henderson, counsel for the corporation, charged at the hearing that the board was trying to "doctor up" the record of its case. The order keeps the board from disturbing records on which it ordered reinstatement of 5,000 Republic workers who struck last July in Ohio.

550 AT LEYDEN SCHOOL TO GO ON "STRIKE" TODAY

The 550 students at Leyden Township Community High school in Franklin Park voted last evening to go on strike today to protest the refusal of the school board to renew the contracts of Athletic Coach Lynn Watson and Leland A. Meyer, commercial teacher.

The board by a vote of three to two voted a week ago not to renew the contracts. Although Mrs. Ada Dodge, president, refused to explain the action, Board Members Frank W. Case and Ervin Mudgett, the minority, charged politics.

Coach Watson has been associated with the school for ten years while Meyer has been on the teaching staf six years. The students plan to stage a parade and picket the school.

AGREE TO LIMIT SIZE OF NEW BATTLESHIPS TO 35,000 TONS EACH

Washington, D. C., May 9.—(AP)—A senate-house conference committee approved today a compromise draft of the billion dollar naval expansion bill. David I. Walsh [D., Mass.], chairman of the senate naval affairs committee, said the compromise provided that three new battleships authorized under the measure would be limited to 35,000 tons unless 45,000 ton ships were needed for defense.

Admiral William D. Leahy, chief of naval operations, asked the house naval committee today to approve a $28,000,000 shore construction program to keep an expanding fleet ready for battle.

C. I. O. COMMUNIST UNIT, 400 METAL WORKERS TOLD

The Committee for Industrial Organization was called a subsidiary of the communist party yesterday by R. G. Soderstrom, speaking at the golden anniversary convention of the International Association of Sheet Metal Workers in the Hotel Sherman.

Soderstrom, president of the Illinois Federation of Labor, asserted that the American Federation of Labor is unalterably opposed to all bore-from-within organizations of the leftist type because they are responsible for the rifts in the ranks of labor.

The convention, which is expected to conclude its sessions Saturday, is one of the largest in the history of the metal workers, more than 400 attending, according to J. J. Hynes, president. Other speakers of the day included Mayor Kelly, John Fitzpatrick, president of the Chicago Federation of Labor; Joseph McInerny, head of the building trades construction department of the A. F. of L., and Patrick Sullivan, head of the Chicago Building Trades council.

CITY TOLD I. C. C. CAN'T ORDER RAIL LINE OFF AIRPORT

After a conference yesterday Chairman James Slattery of the Illinois commerce commission and Joseph F. Grossman, assistant corporation counsel, decided that the I. C. C. does not possess broad enough powers to order the Chicago and Western Indiana railroad off the Chicago airport. The two men agreed that legislative authority would have to be granted the railroad so its attorneys could condemn a new right of way and make the airport enlargement possible.

Grossman explained yesterday that many parcels of land along the proposed new right of way carry reversionary rights. Only four such pieces were turned up by researchers of the Chicago Title and Trust company because the company investigated only the quarter mile immediately west of Laramie avenue. There is at least another mile of the new right of way still uninvestigated and the company says that undoubtedly owners of many tracts have reversionary rights.

DANCER BENDS FORWARD; CAN'T STRAIGHTEN UP

Hollywood, Cal., May 9.—(AP)—Joan Davis, film comedienne, whose theatrical work is featured by her ability to be knocked around without injury, was the victim of a freak accident today. She was rehersing a dance routine with Buddy Ebsen for a picture. When she bent over forward and couldn't straighten up she was taken from the studio to a hospital.

Man Seriously Injured in Mystery Fight in Tavern

Joseph Chernuha, 55 years old, whose address is not known, was taken to the County hospital in a serious condition last night after he was found suffering from a skull fracture in a tavern at 2750 Southport avenue. Joseph Hartman, 38 years old, 1314 Schubert street, the bartender, was held as a witness by police after he said that two men had struck Chernuha in a fight. Mystery was added to the case by a note found in Chernuha's pocket showing he had paid $350 to a man named Schuman for a half interest in the tavern. Police said the owner is an Edward West.

MARTIN CANCELS FRANKENSTEEN'S AUTO UNION JOB

Scoffs at Reports He May Be Ousted.

Detroit, Mich., May 9.—[Special.]—A split in the leadership of the United Automobile Workers, a principal C. I. O. affiliate, appeared today with the disclosure that Homer Martin, president, had demoted his first assistant and chief rival, Richard T. Frankensteen.

Richard T. Frankensteen.

A battle was fought over the action in a closed meeting of the U. A. W. international executive board here today, but details of the debate were not made public. Some observers viewed Martin's act as the beginning of warfare that may rock the entire union.

Reports have been current that an attempt might be made at the board meeting to remove Martin.

Job Is Abolished.

Martin disclosed his removal of Frankensteen, his assistant president, in a letter sent to the board members just before today's meeting. He said he found no authorization in the U. A. W. constitution for that office and that he was abolishing it.

Although Frankensteen remains one of five international vice presidents of the U. A. W., the move curtails his power and deprives him of the seniority he enjoyed. He still is director of the campaign to organize Ford Motor company employés.

Frankensteen had been considered Martin's closest confidant until recently. He also was one of Martin's stanchest backers at the Milwaukee convention when opponents of Martin nearly caused a riot by an antagonistic demonstration.

Heads Martin's Foes.

As Martin pressed his drive against communists in the U. A. W. ranks, such radicals as Walter Reuther of Detroit and his two brothers, long his opponents, lined up behind Frankensteen. The assistant president soon found himself at the head of a fusion of Martin's enemies.

The breech between Martin and his former friend was widened irreparably three weeks ago when he criticized Frankensteen for launching a so-called program to end factionalism.

Without approval from Martin, Frankensteen sent to all executive board members a letter recommending a drastic disciplinary program. He suggested that all factions and caucuses be abolished.

Will Continue Program.

That Frankensteen has no intention of giving up this plan was evident after his statement following the board meeting that despite his demotion he would continue efforts to put over the program to end his factionalism.

"I didn't seek the job of assistant president," Frankensteen said. "When Martin found it was unconstitutional he should have notified me."

While Martin scoffed at reports an attempt might be made to remove him, it was said the board would consider at least two proposals to end factionalism which called for curbs on his power.

Clash With Police.

With the executive board ready to begin consideration tomorrow of means to curb outlaw strikes in the union, members of C. I. O. unions clashed with police at two Detroit plants today. Eight U. A. W. pickets and two policemen were injured in fighting at the Michigan Steel Castings company plant.

Two policemen evicted thirty sitdown strikers from the power plant of the American Brass company. The strikers, members of the Mine, Mill, and Smelter Workers' union, had held the plant since April 29 when the company announced a wage cut.

FRANCE FORCES END OF STRIKE; ORDERS SAILORS TO COMPLY

PARIS, May 9.—(AP)—The Daladier cabinet, forcing striking stewards and officers to shelve their differences, today ordered resumption of service by the French line fleet which had been bottled up at Le Havre by a six day conflict.

The government announced settlement of the dispute just before the arrival from New York of the giant liner Normandie, to which the movement had threatened to spread, just at the start of the tourist season. The stewards on May 4 had called a "strike for principle" after officers of the liner Champlain refused to discuss their demands for smarter uniforms with a union secretary. The strike spread to other vessels of the line and 1,605 men were out.

The minister of merchant marine, Louis de Chappedelaine, under firm orders from Premier Edouard Daladier, told separate delegations of line officers and stewards that the government was determined to maintain the vital service. He instructed them to return to work while a conciliation committee took up the quarrel.

SHUNS SMOKING AND DRINKING SO SHE GETS $1,000

Belvidere, Ill., May 9.—[Special.]—It was worth $1,000 to Miss Jane Mae Moorhead, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Guy W. Moorhead of this city and a junior at the University of Colorado at Boulder, not to smoke or drink until she was 21 years old.

A check for that amount has just been presented her on her 21st birthday anniversary. She said she may take a trip to Europe with the money or use it to continue her education.

Although she is now free to smoke and drink if she likes, she says she probably will not. Two of her brothers, James and Dixon Moorhead, were given $1,000 each for refraining from smoking and drinking until they attained their 21st birthday anniversaries.

JAPANESE RENEW PUSH FROM SOUTH TOWARD SUCHOW

3 Columns Drive Nearer Lunghai Railway.

SHANGHAI, May 10.—[Tuesday.]—(AP)—After 307 days of bitter warfare at an estimated cost of more than 1,000,000 casualties, about 1,000,000 Chinese and Japanese soldiers fought today for control of China's vast interior.

The struggle was chiefly on the central Chinese front where domination of the Lunghai railway, which runs more than 600 miles west into the heart of China, and 150 unconquered miles of the intersecting Tientsin-Pukow railway were the principal Japanese objectives.

Three Japanese columns were thrusting northward against the Lunghai in a desperate effort to circumvent the costly deadlock along the Shantung province front on the north.

Japs Capture Mengcheng.

Suchow, nerve center of the Chinese defenses and reported by Japanese sources to be ringed with 400,000 Chinese soldiers, was the objective of the center column moving northward along the Tientsin-Pukow railway. It was reported approaching Kuchen which is seventy miles south of Suchow.

The right wing force had driven within sixty miles of the eastern end of the Lunghai in northern Kiangsu province, near Fowning.

The left wing column was reported to have wrested Mengcheng, which is thirty-five miles west of Kuchen, from the Chinese in a fierce contest, and to be advancing on Kwoyang, thirty-five miles to Mencheng's northwest and about sixty miles from Kweiteh, a Lunghai railway city west of Suchow.

The Chinese denied they had lost Mengcheng and insisted the Japanese had been pushed back.

To the northeast of Kweiteh, at Tsining, Shantung province, a Japanese force started skirmishes as a prelude to a simultaneous drive on Kweiteh from the north. Japanese planes bombed Kweiteh yesterday to soften the resistance. Thirty-five thousand Chinese were entrenched near Kiasiang, west of Tsining, ready to oppose the Kweiteh drive.

Planes Aid Ground Attack.

The battle on the north side of the Lunghai railway yesterday saw Japanese airmen desperately trying to blast a hole in the defenses about thirty-five miles east of Suchow.

Chinese artillery positions there, less than 10 miles from the Lunghai, were heavily bombed.

On the western extremity of the Lunghai front, the Chinese reported a surprise attack had cut the Shansi railway, just within the great bend of the Yellow river, isolating a Japanese garrison at Yungtsi, the southern terminus.

Dispatches from Hankow, temporary Chinese capital, reported new Chinese successes for Chinese guerrillas in their war of harassing Japanese armies in North China. The outstanding instance was that of a mobile column said to have crossed the great wall where it intersects the Peking-Suiyuan railway northwest of Peking and to be advancing on Changping, only twenty miles from the ancient capital.

Other Chinese reports said mobile columns had attacked the Japanese near Marco Polo bridge, only fifteen miles from Peking, where the war's first shots were fired last July 7.

TURN DOWN NAZI COLONIES' PLEA, CHURCHILL URGES

MANCHESTER, England, May 9.—(AP)—Winston Churchill, Britain's half American rebellious Tory, tonight condemned any peace pact with Germany which might return Germany's war-lost colonies or result in muzzling the British press.

The wartime chief of British sea forces proclaimed vigorous opposition to negotiating with Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler for an accord such as Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain concluded on April 16 with Italy. Churchill's pronouncement came as he launched a country-wide campaign for returning to full support of the league of nations and the collective security it represents in opposition to "power politics."

At a mass meeting he pleaded that Britain should "arm and stand by the league covenant in defense of freedom and peace." He urged the formation of an alliance of at least ten European powers "for mutual defense against a probable aggressor," which he left unnamed but inferred was Germany.

RUSSIA ORDERS SPY PURGE OF CHEMICAL WORKS

Vital War Processes Will Be Rechecked.

MOSCOW, May 9.—(AP)—Inspection of all soviet Russia's chemical processes vital to the national defense has been ordered by Lazar Kaganovich, commissar for heavy industry, who attributed his action to a wrecking plot.

In an address delivered on April 29, but reported in the press only today, Kaganovich told a conference of chemical industry executives that more wreckers and spies had been found in their industry than in any other during the past year.

The wrecking, he said, took the form of distortion of formulæ, manufacturing of faulty apparatus, technical laxity, disruption of the supply of raw materials, and "accidents."

"All our enemies are not yet cleaned out of the chemical industry," he said.

Kaganovich ordered greater expansion of the nitrogen industry with a statement stressing the importance of chemicals for war industries.

With "a mighty chemical industry" already created in Russia, the commissar said, there had been an increase of 50 per cent in production of synthetic ammonia in April as compared with April of 1937.

HITLER ORDERS ARMY TO ADOPT NAZIS' SALUTE

[Copyright: 1938: By the New York Times.]

BERLIN, May 9.—Chancellor Adolf Hitler today issued orders that all troops, on the march or at rest, are to give him personally as Fuehrer and commander-in-chief of the armed forces the Hitler salute instead of the usual military greeting.

Only when troops are drawn up ceremonially under arms for some special purpose are officers to be permitted to order them to greet Hitler in military fashion hereafter.

[The German army, which holds itself above party politics, has clung to the old salute of the fingers to the cap and then outward and has ignored the Nazi extended arm salute.]

WOMAN FOUND DEAD IN HOME.

Nora Belikow, 20 years old, described by police as an expectant mother, was found dead of unknown causes yesterday in her apartment at 6032 Blackstone avenue. Police are searching for a married man and father of four children for questioning.

JAPANESE FAVOR NONAGGRESSION TREATY WITH U. S.

Would Quiet Many Fears, Foreign Chief Says.

TOKIO, May 9.—(AP)—Foreign Minister Koki Hirota disavowed today any Japanese intention of adopting an aggressive policy toward the United States.

The concern of many Japanese, on the contrary, he declared, was with the possibility of the United States adopting "such an attitude as would adversely affect the natural development of Japan's policy in this part of the world."

Speaking in an interview the foreign minister:

1. Declared "nonaggression is a desirable condition to exist between nations," commenting on rumors that Japan was preparing to discuss a nonaggression treaty with the United States.

2. Praised the "fair and impartial attitude" of the United States since the outbreak of the Chinese-Japanese war.

3. Ridiculed fears Japan would menace the Philippines after independence was gained.

Favorable Sentiment in Japan.

Favorable Japanese sentiment toward the United States, he said, "really is the result of the fair and impartial attitude the United States has maintained since the outbreak of the Chinese affair.

Commenting on rumors of a possible move for a Japanese-American treaty he said:

"Japan's foreign policy always is actuated by a spirit of nonmenace and nonaggression. . . . No one in Japan entertains any idea regarding the possibility of Japan's adopting an aggressive attitude toward the United States.

"Contrarily, not a few Japanese are apprehensive regarding chances the United States might some day adopt such an attitude as would adversely affect the natural development of Japan's policy in this part of the world.

Claims Peaceful Intentions.

"So, from Japan's standpoint, it is earnestly to be hoped that all cause for such fears and anxieties will be eliminated by the United States.

"I do not believe it will be difficult if the American people understand Japan's peaceful intentions in her relations not only with the United States but with all nations.

"In these circumstances the question is whether the United States government has the intention to make a nanaggression pact with Japan."

He said he believed the "overwhelming majority" of Americans were friendly to Japan and added, "it is my confident hope that even those who are critical will, in due course, come to evaluate Japan's policy and action in their proper perspective."

Commenting on the Philippines, he said:

"Whether the commonwealth delays independence from the United States is a question solely to be settled between the commonwealth and the United States, and Japan considers herself in no position to meddle in the matter."

MUSSOLINI GIVES HITLER SURPRISE FIREWORKS SHOW

Fuehrer Leaves Florence for Germany.

BY ALEX SMALL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

(Pictures on back page.)

FLORENCE, Italy, May 9.—Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler started for home tonight amid a blaze of fireworks which illuminated the Florentine sky for miles around.

The German dictator officially ended his dramatic six day state visit with Premier Mussolini at midnight when the Fuehrer's special train pulled out for Brenner Pass and Italy's Alpine frontier which Hitler promised to respect "for all time."

The display of fireworks was Il Duce's farewell gesture and a grand climax to the superbly staged show in the Nazi leader's honor. Thousands of Roman candles and rockets were set off as Hitler and Mussolini reached the railway station. The Fuehrer looked bewildered.

10,000 Children Sing Farewell.

He smiled with pleasure when 10,000 uniformed children sang a farewell. He beamed while bands played and thousands of troops saluted. A minute before the train left Hitler and Mussolini clasped hands.

There is a possibility Hitler will pause at Milan on his way home in order to inspect factories turning out war materials for Italy. This visit is not on his program, but it would fit in with Mussolini's apparent intention of showing the Nazi chieftain what a powerful ally or enemy Italy can be. After tremendous displays of Italian land, sea, and air forces an exhibition of Fascist war industry would complete the picture.

Hitler, who reached Florence this afternoon from Rome, did a lot of sightseeing. He again was dazzled, this time with a vision of the grandeur of Italy of the middle ages in contrast to the grandeur of antiquity of Italy in Rome.

Duce Beats Fuehrer to City.

Mussolini preceded his fellow dictator here and welcomed him at the station. Together the dictators drove through the streets. The entire population of Tuscany province turned out to greet them because a mobilization of citizens had been decreed for the first time since the Ethiopian war.

The enthusiasm was almost as great as at Naples, where Hitler saw Italy's navy. Only the Romans had shown themselves somewhat reserved in their welcome to the Fuehrer.

Thousands of lilies, the favorite flower of Florence, were tossed at the dictators as they drove from the station to the Pitti palace, which was Hitler's headquarters during his stay.

Later the dictators went to Holy Cross square and laid wreaths at the monument to Fascist martyrs.

See Medieval Pageant.

Hitler then was escorted to a magnificent spectacle of "palio," which, as a special favor to him, had been transferred from its traditional home of Siena to Florence. "Palio" is best described as a performance of medieval games performed in medieval costumes. For instance, there was a football game as played in the days of Dante with the participants clad in gaudy striped costumes. Six hundred "knights" carried heraldic banners of the middle ages in the spectacle.

In the evening Hitler attended one act of Wagner's opera "Walkyrie" in the 16th century Boboli gardens. He left early to prepare for his departure.

Duce's Paper Rebukes Pope.

MILAN, Italy, May 9.—(AP)—Premier Mussolini's newspaper, Il Popolo D'Italia, said today it was "very dangerous to speak of and wave the cross of Christ as if it were a weapon." The newspaper expressed this opinion in an editorial which was believed to refer to Pope Pius' statement published in L'Osservatore Romano of May 4.

The pope was quoted as saying it was "a sad thing" that "it is not considered exceedingly out of place and untimely to hoist in Rome the insignia of another cross that is not the cross of Christ." This was considered a reference to the display of the swastika in honor of Adolf Hitler.

The Popolo D'Italia editorial said: "If it is necessary to speak clearly we would like to say to the father of all us Catholics that today it is very dangerous to speak of and wave the cross of Christ as if it were a weapon and then to find oneself in the menacing and smirking company of masonic and bolshevik usurers without any longer having in one's hands even the whip which scourged them from the temple of god."

Tells "Lost Love"

Gaye Melton, Los Angeles model, sitting in her attorney's office and recounting events which led up to her $200,000 suit for breach of promise against William Koenig.

Hollywood, Cal., May 9.—[Special.]—Orchids, luxurious apartments, yachts, and then disillusionment. So ran the story of heartbreak told today by Gaye Melton, 24 year old model, in an informal conference with her attorney, S. S. Han. Miss Melton filed suit Saturday against William Koenig, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer executive, for $200,000 damages, charging breach of promise. She said she met the 53 year old studio manager in a Beverly Hills restaurant a year ago and added:

"It was love at first sight—at least as far as I was concerned."

Mrs. Kledhans testified she was under the influence of liquor during the second marriage.

NAZIS HINT ITALY BACKS GERMAN DRIVE ON CZECHS

Press Repeats Demand for Early Autonomy.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, May 9.—Berlin today prepared to give Reichsfuehrer Hitler a grandiose reception on a scale unprecedented even in the German capital when he returns from his triumphal tour of Italy tomorrow night.

Meanwhile the German press indicated that support of Germany's demands for autonomy of the 3,250,000 Sudeten Germans in Czechoslovakia is the price Premier Mussolini is paying for Hitler's guarantee of the Italian borders and the surrender for all time of 250,000 Germans in South Tyrol.

Points to Rome-Berlin Axis.

"Despite events in the far east Czechoslovakia today is in the limelight of world interest," the Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung said. "This proves that European questions rank above and will remain more important than all other problems. That this is so is due to the Rome-Berlin axis."

The Frankfurter Zeitung spoke of the "great understanding which the Italian statesmen showed for the suffering Sudeten Germans."

While no official comment is available regarding the French and British proposals to Prague for a peaceful solution of the German minority problem, political circles said that "only a fundamental, far reaching solution will satisfy Germany"—that is to say autonomy.

[The French and British ministers in Prague on Saturday advised the Czechs to meet the demands of the German minority "so far as it is compatible with the interests of the state."]

Nazis Seek Immediate Action.

That Germany is in no mood to tolerate postponement of the question undoubtedly will be told Sir Nevile Henderson, British ambassador to Berlin, when he calls on Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop after his return from Italy.

RETURN SUICIDE VERDICT.

A verdict of suicide while mentally deranged was returned yesterday by a coroner's jury in the case of Michael J. Warren, who was found shot to death in the basement of his home at 1108 North Waller avenue.

Hapsburg Takes a Teacher for Bride and Loses Royal Status

BUDAPEST, May 9.—(AP)—Archduke Albrecht married a commoner today and lost his place in the ancient house of Hapsburg.

Archduke Albrecht.

Expulsion of the archduke from the family dominant in Europe for 700 years was announced shortly after he took for his bride Katherine Bucskay, a country school teacher and daughter of a mechanic. She is 27 years old.

The expulsion was disclosed in a statement by Count Josef Hunyadi, representative in Hungary of Archduke Otto, head of the house of Hapsburg and pretender to the nonexistent throne of Austria.

Members Get Circular Letters.

Count Hunyadi explained "King and Emperor Otto" several years ago issued a circular letter to all members of the Hapsburg family reminding them that if they should marry beneath their rank they automatically would cease to be members of the imperial house.

"Since Archduke Albrecht concluded a mesalliance he therefore ceased to be a member of the house of Hapsburg," the count said.

Albrecht, who looks younger than his 40 years and himself a one-time candidate for the throne of Hungary, was married once before, in 1930 to Mme. Irene de Rudnay, divorced wife of a Hungarian diplomat.

But that marriage, which ended in divorce, took place before Otto issued his warning letter. Moreover, it was a civil ceremony and therefore not recognized as valid under the Hapsburg family law.

Vatican Recognizes Wedding.

The archduke's first marriage was not recognized by the Vatican and today's marriage, therefore, was considered by the church as his first. Because no court was competent to deal with Albrecht's divorce from his first wife, the regent of Hungary about a year ago appointed a Hungarian court martial to dissolve his marriage.

The archduke's marriage to the dark and attractive school teacher was a religious ceremony in the 1,000 year old abbey at Pannohalma. Civil rites were held Saturday.

Chief Abbot Crisostom Kelemen conducted the ceremony in the abbey's medieval Gothic church, 100 miles west of Budapest.

There was an audience of bemedalled military and fashionably dressed nobility. However, no male representative of the Hapsburg line was present to congratulate Albrecht, a reminder that the wedding was without Otto's sanction.

PLAYED FOR ALMA MATER; ATHLETE WINS TUITION SUIT

Edward Brozowski, 24 years old, of 5717 South Maplewood avenue, charged yesterday in Municipal court before Judge Edward B. Casey that a former head of St. Rita parochial High school, 6312 South Oakley avenue, had excused him from paying tuition because he was a star basketball and baseball player.

His defense was in answer to a suit brought by the school for $429 tuition and fees from 1930 to 1934. Because the school offered no refutation of Brozowski's statement, Judge Casey entered a judgment for $29, representing books and laboratory fees, and dismissed the suit for the balance.

Father R. P. Fink, principal of the school, said outside of court that the late Father John Harris, former principal referred to by Brozowski, had not made such a statement.

EYE IS REMOVED; BABY LIVES; MAY YET SAVE SIGHT

Patient Rests Well After 13 Minute Operation.

tion which has now been placed in the hands of the medical world.

The rabbi said also that in case the child should be mentally affected by the operation or by complications, the parents have reluctantly agreed that she be placed in an institution, that she may be given the best of care.

Helaine's tragic experience may be the means of saving other babies throughout the United States from the development of the dread cancerous eye growth that she is suffering.

Examination Is Suggested.

The ten physicians who decided that she should be given the chance of a surgical operation went on record at the suggestion of Dr. Cassius C. Rogers as urging that all babies henceforth be examined immediately after birth for the growth.

Eye specialists will begin today examining the eyeball that was removed, at the Albert Merritt Billings hospital—to determine how to treat the eye that is left. It is expected that their decision will be made known within a week, and that the treatment will begin immediately afterward.

X-ray or radium treatment is favored at present by the physicians.

Not a moment was lost after the parents and Dr. and Mrs. Hershman decided to place in the hands of the medical commission of ten the question that had tortured them since last Thursday.

Final Examination Made.

Even as the commission prepared yesterday morning for its meeting in the Midwest Athletic club at 6 North Hamlin avenue, a final examination was being made in the hospital a stone's throw away by Dr. Good and other eye specialists who were to make the decision: Drs. Edward F. Garraghan, Rogers, Edward V. L. Brown, and Max N. Kulvin.

They held a light over the sleeping infant's right eye. The glare awakened her. They held the light over her eye again. She blinked and closed her eye. The physicians knew then that her vision remained.

The board met under the chairmanship of Dr. Irving S. Cutter, dean of the Northwestern university medical school. Conferees were Dr. Maurice H. Cottle, Dr. Theodore T. Stone, Dr. Paul Schmitt, Dr. Harold N. Wait, Dr. A. M. Vaughn, Dr. Brown, Dr. Good, Dr. Garraghan, Dr. Kulvin, and Dr. Rogers.

Tells Worry Over Girl.

Samuel Hoffman, attorney and friend of the family, told the sociological aspects of the case—the worry that the little girl, if blind, might be forced to struggle through a life of unhappiness.

The grandparents sat in a corner, weeping. With them was Helaine's father, white but dry-eyed.

"When my daughter noticed the discoloration of the pupil in her left eye," the grandfather said, "she told me about it. I knew it was glioma. But we took the baby to two specialists. Both diagnosed it as glioma. Her general condition had been normal. She was beginning to coo and smile. [Here the grandfather gave way to tears completely.] We decided to let nature take its course when we considered the possibility of a child without eyes. But my association with her had made me very fond of her. I began to waver——"

Dr. Good told of the light tests.

"I believe we should remove the left eye and make microscopic examinations of sections," he said. "In this way we can indicate whether X-ray treatments may save the sight of the right eye."

Dr. Colan was asked his opinion.

"My chief concern is that the suffering of my child be minimized," he said.

Dr. Cutter Calls for Vote.

Dr Cutter asked a vote on the proposal to operate.

There was a chorus of "Ayes," a unanimous vote.

Quickly it was decided that Dr. Good, the hospital's eye specialist, should perform the actual operation in coöperation with Dr. Garraghan, and with others of the board standing by.

The muscles of the left eyeball were severed. It was removed with one inch of the optic nerve, the nerve being taken up to the foramen or small tunnel which led it through the sphenoid bone to the brain.

The little girl was under ether throughout the operation.

Dr. Good said the eyeball had been enlarged by the tumor. The eye was already sightless from the disease, he said. Had the tumor been allowed to develop, the medical men agreed, Helaine's suffering would have been terrible.

TAXI DANCE HALL LOSES FIGHT TO KEEP ITS LICENSE

The Century Dancing school, a taxi dance establishment at 27 South Wabash avenue, lost its fight against revocation of its license yesterday when Judge Michael Feinberg denied its plea for a permanent injunction to prevent the city from closing it. The place was shut by police last week on the order of Mayor Kelly. Under Judge Feinberg's ruling it must stay shut.

During several days of hearings police assigned to investigate the conduct of hostesses at the establishment have testified that indecent dancing was permitted there. The hostesses were wont to bite the ears and kiss and blow on the necks of their partners, the policemen testified. The hostesses denied it.

"Aside from this testimony," Judge Feinberg ruled yesterday, "it was shown that a twenty-six game was operated there. This is sufficient cause for revoking the establishment's license. The injunction is denied."

'DEAD' SON BACK; SEEK IDENTITY OF BURIED BOY

Masontown, Pa., May 9.—(AP)—The identity of a youth buried in a cemetery near here became a mystery today with the return of Donald Fiore, 15 years old, from a two year hitchhiking trip.

Donald's parents buried there a year ago the body of a boy they believed was their son, missing since February, 1936. The body was that of a boy shot accidentally in Olive Hill, Ky.

Donald, a tall boy with a friendly smile, came home Saturday for Mother's day, a visit he said he had planned as a surprise for his mother for a month.

"Hello, pop," said Donald to his father on his arrival at his home. Fiore stared in amazement at the "dead" boy. Then he called Mrs. Fiore.

"Hello, mom," Donald greeted her. She moaned and fainted.

GIRL SEES WELL 18 YEARS AFTER REMOVAL OF EYE

Glioma Victim Pleased by Colan Baby Decision.

Eighteen years ago Effa Roach, then 20 months old, was operated on for glioma of the retina. As was the case yesterday with tiny Helaine Judith Colan, her left eye and a portion of the optic nerve were removed.

Today Effa, a pretty girl whose right eye is above average in visual ability, is a switchboard operator and stenographer for a real estate firm. She has completed three and a half years of high school in Oak Park and leads a normal and completely happy life. She has never worn glasses and never had any trouble with her sight.

"I think the parents of that baby made the right decision," she said last night, "the baby has a right to live whether it will be blind or not. And if it's blind . . . well . . . at least it will never have known what it was like to see. Alec Templeton and Helen Keller have certainly achieved something in life."

Case Similar to Helaine's.

The medical history of Miss Roach's case is similar to that of the Colan baby's, except that a much longer period elapsed between the discovery that something was wrong with her vision and the actual operation.

She was three months old when her mother, Mrs. Frank Roach, 1122 South Harvey avenue, Oak Park, noticed that her left eye seemed to be getting larger. The infant was healthy enough, however, and nothing was done until she was almost two years old.

Then she was brought to an eye specialist, who made a careful examination of both eyes, noted that there was a growth in the left eyeball, and diagnosed the disease as glioma.

Diagnosis Is Confirmed.

After a thorough consultation with the parents an operation was decided upon and the eye removed a week later. Following the operation the eyeball was carefully sectioned and the diagnosis confirmed as glioma of the retina.

These details were disclosed yesterday by the surgeon who operated, Dr. T. J. Williams, as evidence that the disease is not always fatal or necessarily leads to blindness.

In the doctor's office yesterday Miss Roach read without trouble print so small that another person present was unable to read it with both eyes.

"I'm certainly glad they decided to operate," she said smilingly.

27 NEW POLICE CAPTAINS TO BE SWORN IN TODAY

Commissioner James P. Allman yesterday promoted twenty-seven police lieutenants to the rank of captain and the same number of sergeants to the rank of lieutenant. The new officers will be sworn in today in the city hall. Afterward Mayor Kelly will congratulate them.

The promotions were made in order from the civil service lists. Chief of Detectives John L. Sullivan headed the list in examinations for captains and Michael Ahern of the Town Hall station was the first sergeant promoted.

Youth now occupies most of the key positions in the department, Commissioner Allman said. Several of the new appointees are in their early thirties and few are more than 45. Most of the vacancies in the upper ranks were caused by the compulsory retirement law which went into effect Jan. 1, 1936.

FIGHT PAYING EDITOR'S WIDOW $25,000 IN LIBEL

Communist Paper Men Ask New Trial.

New York, May 9.—[Special.]—In an attempt to stave off payment of the $25,000 criminal libel judgment returned against them last Tuesday in favor of Mrs. Edith Liggett, widow of Walter Liggett, slain Minneapolis editor, the Daily Worker and two officials of the communist paper, started proceedings today aimed at vacating the judgment.

The two co-defendants are Clarence Hathaway, editor of the Daily Worker, and Hyman Colodny, its former business agent. The verdict was returned in Brooklyn Supreme court by Judge Meier Steinbrink, who ruled that Mrs. Liggett was libeled in a series of articles published in the Daily Worker a short time after Liggett, crusading editor of the Midwest American, was murdered in Minneapolis in December, 1935.

Formally Enters Judgment.

Morris D. Forkosch, counsel for Mrs. Liggett, formally entered the judgment in the office of the clerk of Kings county, in Brooklyn, last Saturday. At the same time he announced he was prepared to exercise "body execution" of the judgment, an added concession Judge Steinbrink made in his oral decision.

The defendants, Hathaway and Colodny, represented by Attorney Edward Kuntz reappeared today before Judge Charles Dodd in Brooklyn Supreme court and petitioned for a reopening of the case. Hathaway, through Attorney Kuntz, pleaded that the date of the previous hearing before Judge Steinbrink had been forgotten. When he remembered the day, he said, he rushed to court only to find that Judge Steinbrink already had rendered his decision.

Judge Reserves Decision.

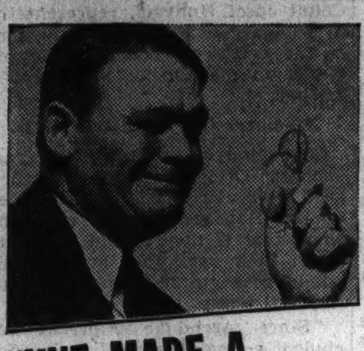
Judge Dodd reserved decision on the petition to reopen the case following a brief hearing. Mrs. Liggett's attorney agreed tentatively to the proposal for reopening provided the defendants would post $25,000 bond, as a guarantee of payment of the judgment.

Hathaway protested that, even in the face of the verdict, the defendants were unable to post any such bond. Attorney Frokosch then offered to approve a reopening based on posting of a $15,000 bond, plus $200 court costs. The defendants said they would agree to payment of costs, but asked for time to consider the matter of bond.

This discussion occurred after Judge Dodd had reserved decision.

KELLY PROMISES AID IN GETTING LANDS FOR PLAY

Mayor Kelly yesterday told a group of parents and representatives of civic organizations that he will coöperate with them in trying to find funds through which the city can purchase vacant property in Rogers Park for playgrounds for school children. Lots at Clark street and Sherwin avenue and at Ashland and Arthur avenues were suggested. These would cost more than $100,000, including outstanding speical assessments, the mayor was told.



"I'VE MADE A GREAT DISCOVERY!"

"Like finding money in an old pair of pants," said he, when we told him what we'd give for his old car.

And after a week in his new Hudson 112, that smile spread from car to car. For he had discovered the car that leads all the other lowest priced leaders in room, smooth performance, safety, economy. You'll make the same discovery at Butler Motors, Inc., 2500 S. Michigan Ave., or the nearest Hudson showroom. Open evenings.

VINCENNES RAID ON PRESS READY FOR GRAND JURY

Charges Are Prepared by Prosecutor.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Vincennes, Ind., May 9.—A grand jury was impaneled this afternoon before which Prosecuting Attorney Wayne Combs purposes to take charges resulting from the raid upon Walter A. Ewing's print shop before the primaries last week. The raid was ordered by Mayor Joseph W. Kimmel.

A statement of information was filed with the prosecutor by Dr. J. H. Hammon, manufacturer of optical goods and laboratory appliances, giving particulars of the raid. This foray, it is charged, violated freedom of the press and of speech and guarantees against unreasonable search and seizure. With the information was a list of suggested witnesses that might be called before the grand jurors if they decide to investigate the case. Topping the list was the name of Ewing, the printer.

Force and Firearms.

Ewing, back from the Derby today, said that if called before the grand jury he will produce evidence showing Police Chief Noel Swayze and two patrolmen, with force and firearms, entered his plant on April 30 and removed type used in printing a campaign circular.

He reiterated today that no search warrants were read, the entry was over his protests, and the raid violated the ballot laws of Indiana, and the federal constitution with its guarantees of free press.

"It ignored," he said, "all my constitutional rights of freedom of speech and of press and my right to be protected against search and seizure of property without due process of law."

Critics of the mayor say the case is an illustration of the press censorship advocated by Senator Sherman Minton in Washington.

Adjourns Until Wednesday.

The grand jury impaneled today is composed of the following: Ray Evans, Republican trustee of Harrison township, foreman; Ivol Cooper, William Ballard, a Vincennes grocer; John C. McElroy, H. L. Lichte, and John Little.

The jury adjourned until Wednesday. When in its routine program it reaches the order of officers accused of neglect of duty, the prosecuting attorney says the print shop raid will be called to its attention.

Vincennes simmered today with discussion of the case. Mayor Kimmel, who has been in office nine years, by way of counter attack may seek action against the "Kimmell Machine Busters," authors of the campaign document which precipitated the trouble. He charges the handbill was criminal libel.

Fireman's Case Heard.

The case of Hercules Hebert, fireman, one of the four city employés discharged on Kimmel's orders two days after the primaries in what some Vincennes citizens term a purge of employés who did not work for the Kimmel ticket, had a hearing this morning. It was before the board of works and public safety. Mayor Kimmel presided. Counsel for Hebert was William P. Dennigan, Democratic nominee for Superior court judge in Knox county.

Charges against Hebert were that he had not paid tradesmen's bills and was not efficient in keeping the motor equipment of the fire and police in shape as city motor mechanic. Chief highlight of the hearing was the matter of Hercules' pants and whether he paid the tailor for them.

"Hercules got a pair of pants and never paid for them. The merchant took the trousers back," testified Fire Chief J. E. Burway. "The tailor kept annoying me with duns for the pants."

"It was this way," explained Hercules, "I ordered a pair of pants for $9.25 and made a payment of $3, then I was sick two weeks and the tailor kept bothering headquarters about when he was to be paid. So I told him to keep the pants and the $3. They were never out of his shop. He probably sold them to somebody else."

The case was taken under advisement.

Other Trials Postponed.

Trials of Louis Robbins, fireman, and of the two policemen suspended on Kimmel's orders, Williard Mickey and George Flack, were postponed.

Mayor Kimmel maintains the men were suspended because of incompetence and other sufficient reasons.

A diversion was caused late in the day by the cases of Melvin Ferguson and Paul Massey, the two licensed handbill distributors who were arrested for distributing the circular of the "machine busters."

Mayor Kimmel, by virtue of his office, also judge of the City court, conferred with Ramsey and Grayson, attorneys for the two men, now under $1,000 bond. Prosecuting Attorney Combs refused to sign the affidavit of charges.

Fires at Bandits

Miss Elda Paris, cashier, showing how she fired at bandits who robbed Ranch at Oak street and Michigan avenue.

Two bandits sat at the bar in the Ranch, a tavern and restaurant at 123 East Oak street, yesterday morning waiting until Joseph Penn, 2048 Cleveland avenue, the manager, brought up the Saturday and Sunday receipts which had been kept overnight in a safe in the basement. Penn started counting the money with Miss Elda Paris, 1232 North La Salle street, the cashier, preparatory to taking it to the bank a block away.

One of the bandits, a bald-headed man of 35, walked out and got into an automobile parked at the curb and started the motor. The other man drew two pistols and stepped up to Penn and Miss Paris. Ordering them to hold up their hands, he seized the money, about $1,000 in currency and $100 in checks, and ran out to the waiting automobile, which sped away. Miss Paris obtained a revolver and ran after the bandits, firing two shots. The bandits did not return the fire and were out of sight in a few seconds.

HORNER ASSAILS MINTON'S THREAT TO FREE PRESS

Defends Criticism as a Democratic Symbol.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., May 9.—[Special.]—Gov. Henry Horner voiced opposition to the Minton press censorship bill tonight in a speech before the Daily Newspaper League of Illinois.

"I don't like the Minton bill and I don't think it will work," the governor told the group of publishers whose annual meeting he has addressed for three consecutive years. The bill of Senator Sherman Minton [D., Ind.] menaces freedom of the press.

Criticism a Good Thing.

Illustrating his belief in freedom of the press, Mr. Horner said criticism directed at the Roosevelt administration is a symbol of democracy that should be encouraged.

"I think," he said, "that it is one of the healthiest things that exists in this country."

The governor entered this phase of his address by contrasting American journalistic freedom with that which exists abroad.

"See what happens over there," he said. "If you don't agree with the government you are thrown in jail."

"Why Exempt Senators."

Then the governor shot a series of short questions to show his own feelings.

"Why should senators and lawyers have their speeches exempt? Why shouldn't newspapers have the right to say what they please? Why should political orators go ahead with flannel mouths and long tongues, castigating the other fellow? Why bridle the thing that is the symbol of democracy?

"It's wrong basically. Let us all roar and speak as we want. The truth is irrepressible."

61 FOUND GUILTY OF VOTE FRAUDS IN KANSAS CITY

Kansas City, Mo., May 9.—(AP)—Six surprise pleas cleared another vote fraud case from the docket of Federal Judge Merrill E. Otis late today, as Mrs. Frances B. Ryan, 12th ward leader, went to trial for a second time on charges resulting from federal investigation of the 1936 general election.

Two men and four women who stuck to their innocent pleas last week when 71 pleaded no defense and sixteen entered guilty pleas, appeared before the judge at the end of today's testimony and changed their pleas to no defense. They will be sentenced next Monday.

Sixty-one persons have been convicted and sentenced; of 196 others indicted 64 are yet to face trial, 26 have pleaded guilty, and 106 pleaded no defense.

COLLYER-STEFFY FEUD BRINGS ON TWO MORE SUITS

Two suits were filed yesterday in the Superior court against William C. Steffy of 530 Maple avenue, Wilmette, by Frank P. Collyer and his family of 730 9th street, Wilmette, asking $25,000 damages for slander and an injunction to restrain the Steffys from molesting the Collyers. The suit grew out of the death in an automobile accident two years ago of Howard Steffy, son of William C. A car driven by Frank P. Collyer Jr., 20 years old, was involved in the crash.

Soon afterward young Collyer was beaten by Cornelius Van Schaack Jr., son-in-law of Steffy, and was forced to sign a confession, taking the blame for the crash, the suit charges. Since that time members of the Collyer family have been threatened in public, copies of the purported confession have been pasted to the windshield of their automobile, and persons have driven past their home shouting, "Bring out the murderer" and "Where is the rat?" the bill adds. A suit for damages filed by the elder Steffy against young Collyer as a result of the accident is still pending.

MARKED MONEY TRAPS 2 IN SALES TAX FIXING PLOT

Seized by Investigator in Liquor Store.

An investigator for the state department of finance and an attorney were held yesterday in bonds of $5,000 each because another investigator hid on top of an ice box to trap them accepting marked money in an alleged sales tax fixing plot. The story was told yesterday to Judge John J. Rooney in Felony court, before whom they were arraigned on charges of operating a confidence game, extortion, and conspiracy.

The defendants are William Rosenberg of 3623 Dickens avenue, and Attorney Louis Slutsky of 2905 Shakespeare avenue, who has offices at 188 West Randolph street. Rosenberg is the Courtney-Horner committeeman in the 34th ward, and said he was appointed as a sales tax investigator two years ago by Gov. Horner.

Seized in Liquor Store.

Gus Bartel, chief criminal investigator for the department of finance, and Sergt. Joseph Healy of the state's attorney's office arrested them Sunday in the saloon and wholesale liquor store of Norman Shapiro at 4048 North avenue.

In the course of his duties as an investigator Rosenberg learned that Shapiro had not kept a record of his wholesale liquor sales. Together with Slutsky, Bartel said, Rosenberg then told Shapiro that he was a sales tax violator.

They threatened to force his business into receivership, Bartel said, but offered to fix the case for a $600 fee. Bartel said he learned of this and told Shapiro he was being victimized since wholesale liquor sales are not subject to the sales tax.

Hides on Top of Ice Box.

"For two hours I hid on top of an ice box in Shapiro's store," Bartel declared. "Sergt. Healy loitered out in the saloon. Then Rosenberg and Slutsky came in. After Shapiro gave them $300 in marked bills I jumped down and arrested them."

Bartel said Rosenberg and Slutsky admitted the fraud plot, although Slutsky at first declared he thought it was a legitimate enterprise. In the transfer of the money, Bartel said, Shapiro gave Slutsky a receipt marked "for legal services rendered and to be rendered."

Judge Rooney set the hearing for May 20.

4,000 TAGGERS WORK IN RAIN TO COLLECT $42,000 FOR CHARITIES

The 4,000 women who voluntarily tagged on street corners in the rain and mist yesterday collected an estimated $42,000 for the Chicago Federation of Aged and Adult Charities, Mrs. Arthur Brumback, president, announced last night. A final count will be completed today. Last year, when their tag day was accompanied by sun and warmth, they collected $47,312. The funds will be spread among 38 organizations.

STOP Baldness
AT THESE THREE POINTS

IS YOUR scalp replacing the hair which falls or is your hair getting thinner and thinner at the (1) temples, (2) frontal point, or (3) crown? It is natural for hair to fall out—but it is equally natural for new hair to replace the hair which falls. The average healthy scalp sheds and regrows 81 hairs each day. Baldness is caused, therefore NOT by falling hair, but by local infections (such as dandruff) which keep the hair-growing structure from growing new hair to replace that which falls.

Thinning hair should alarm you and warn you—but should not cause you to feel that baldness is inevitable. Thinning hair can be stopped and baldness can be avoided if you consult a Thomas specialist. A Thomas specialist knows the symptoms of the 14 local scalp disorders (which cause 90% of all cases of hair loss) and knows precisely how to overcome them. He knows how to end dandruff, how to stop abnormal hair loss, and how to promote hair-growth on the thin and bald spots.

Decide today to avoid baldness—to save your hair! The Thomas' can help you with their reliable 20-year proved treatment, just as they are helping 1,600 other persons each day. They can stop your abnormal hair loss—overcome your dandruff—and regrow hair for you on the thin and bald spots. Consult a Thomas specialist today and learn the truth about your hair and scalp. Moving Forward

Marshall Field & Company presents here each day observations and opinions intended to be of interest and value to those it seeks to serve.

IT'S MORNING

By CALEB

IT IS early on a bright spring morning. But inside the store a subdued, half-dusk persists until the lights come on, one by one, like stars brightening an early sky. Long strips of cloth cover the cases, their lumpy contours hiding the beauty of myriad articles beneath.

The echo of hurrying feet sounds across the room. Morning greetings break the stillness and waken a slumbering room into vigorous, bustling activity.

The covers are whisked off the tops of showcases, revealing the once shapeless lumps as colorful, sparkling displays. Feather dusters appear from nowhere, followed by dust cloths. Over here someone hums a snatch of song punctuated by vigorous rubbing on a glass case front. Over there someone whistles, "Just Whistle While You Work"—suiting the action to the word.

Lights in cases go on. New colors and new form are added to the picture. It is as though some artist first roughed a painting on his canvas—and then with great, bold sweeps shot it through with detail and color. The store is coming alive.

In a few minutes a complete, new picture has been painted. There isn't a sign of the long case covers. Here and there a busy cloth still pursues an elusive dust speck, but most of the things in showcase and on shelf have passed the sharp-eyed scrutiny of enthusiastic, self-appointed inspectors. The whole place shines like a little boy on his way to Sunday school.

And that's the way the day begins at Field's. The story is repeated, with variations like a symphonic score, on every floor, in every section of the store. The merchandise standing alone on shelves and showcase is interesting —but add people who know and love the merchandise, and it takes on warmth and new life.

The whole room is dominated by human personality. The still-grayness of early morning has been routed. By the time the first customer enters the revolving doors the whole store is warm and glowing with the lively presence of our people.

If you were to watch this opening of the store morning after morning, you would understand more clearly why we think so highly of our salespeople, and of those who work with them to make up the great organization that is Marshall Field's.

Get Wise to Constipation!

When you're constipated, it's a great temptation to be satisfied with quick relief. But physics may become a habit. And they don't keep constipation from returning. It's so much better to get at the cause of the trouble.

If you eat what most people do, chances are the only thing the matter is you don't get enough "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean how much you eat. It means a kind of food that isn't consumed in the body, but leaves a soft "bulky" mass in the intestines and helps a bowel movement.

What to do? Eat a little Kellogg's All-Bran for breakfast every day and drink plenty of water. This crunchy toasted cereal is not only rich in "bulk"—it also contains the natural intestinal tonic, vitamin B_1. All-Bran is made by Kellogg in Battle Creek. Sold by every grocer.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

An excess of acids or poisons in your blood, when due to functional kidney disorders, may be the cause of nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Skin MISERY

Due to Eczema or Psoriasis

For quick and prolonged relief from the torment of itching and burning, apply Resinol.

Holds My FALSE TEETH Tighter and Longer

"I've tried several kinds of powders to hold my false teeth. When I tried FASTEETH I found the one powder that does not thin out or wash away, but 'stays put' all day." It gives a most pleasant feeling, a real sense of security and holds and holds and holds. Breath is always pleasant. If any one with loose-fitting false teeth wants all day comfort and a real stay there fit, insist upon FASTEETH at any good drug store. FASTEETH is alkaline (non-acid).

PERKINS LABOR POLICY TRIUMPHS IN MARINE BILL

Senate Takes Up Revised Measure Today.

BY CHESLY MANLY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 9.—[Special.] — The senate tomorrow will begin consideration of the merchant marine and ship subsidy bill of 1938, which contains an emasculated labor relations section representing a victory for Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins in her feud with Joseph P. Kennedy, former chairman of the federal maritime commission and now ambassador to Great Britain.

Kennedy denounced as utterly futile the proposal to spend hundreds of millions of dollars on a program to rehabilitate the American merchant marine without legislation assuring labor responsibility. After an exhaustive survey of American shipping, which had been paralyzed by sitdown strikes and waterfront tieups called by the C. I. O. maritime unions, he recomemnded extension of the railway labor act and the powers of the national mediation board to maritime labor relations.

Kennedy Plan's Provisions.

Under the Kennedy plan, the mediation board would attempt to settle disputes over wages and hours and working conditions by mediation, and if this failed, it could request the maritime commission to appoint a special arbitration board to investigate the facts of the dispute and report within 30 days. While the findings of the board would not be compulsory, there could be no strike for 30 days after the submission of its report.

Secretary Perkins denounced the Kennedy plan, calling it premature and arguing that marine labor was not sufficiently organized for the proposed mediation and arbitration machinery.

The labor section in the present draft of the bill postpones the formulation of a permanent maritime labor policy for three years and creates, to function in the meantime, a maritime labor board, which is directed to encourage employers and employés to settle their differences by peaceable means but has no powers.

Over Billion Contemplated.

The merchant marine program calls for a total expenditure by the government and the ship operators of $1,250,000,000 over a ten year period. Admiral William D. Leahy, chief of naval operations, told the commerce committee that the minimum needs of the navy, from the national defense standpoint, called for approximately 500 merchant ships during the next ten years.

The pending bill contains a provision, strongly urged by Kennedy, authorizing the maritime commission to establish a system for training licensed and unlicensed personnel for service in the merchant marine.

NEW INDIANA PRISON WARDEN ARRIVES TO TAKE OVER HIS POST

Michigan City, Ind., May 9.—[Special.]—Alfred F. Dowd, newly appointed warden of Indiana state prison here, arrived today from Pendelton where he has been assistant superintendent of the state reformatory. He replaces Louis E. Kunkel as head of the Michigan City prison.

Alfred F. Dowd.

Dowd will take over his new duties next Monday. He will spend the intervening days meeting prison officers here and familiarizing himself with the routine at the state prison.

Dowd, who is known as a strict disciplinarian, was said to have been brought here to attempt to silence the Indiana prison scandals caused by the escape of at least seventy prisoners in five years. Kunkel was a political associate of former Gov. Paul V. McNutt. He said he was glad to surrender his post.

URGES PASSAGE OF LAKE WATER DIVERSION BILL

Springfield, Ill., May 9.—(AP)—The Illinois congressional delegation in Washington was urged by Gov. Henry Horner today to work for early and favorable final action on the Parsons-McAndrews bill that would permit the Chicago sanitary district to divert Lake Michigan waters down the Illinois waterway at the rate of 8,000 cubic feet a second.

The United States Supreme court has ordered the diversion reduced to 1,500 cubic feet a second by Jan. 1.

"I believe," Mr. Horner said, "that so far as Illinois and the whole central west is concerned no problem is more pressing than that which the diversion bill will solve, because it means the future of the lakes-to-gulf waterway, as well as the problem of Chicago's sanitary district."

BRITAIN UNAFRAID OF WAR, ASSERTS SIR PERCY BATES

Rearmament Will Prevent It, He Declares.

England's rearmament program is designed not for war, but to convince other nations that aggression against the British empire would be decidedly unpleasant, in the opinion of Sir Percy E. Bates, chairman of Cunard White Star, Ltd.

Sir Percy Bates.

Sir Percy arrived yesterday for a brief visit at the Chicago office of the steamship lines. He was guest at a luncheon and dinner in the Chicago club attended by bankers, railroad executives, and other industrial leaders.

"Our people are not in the least disturbed about war scares in central Europe," Sir Percy said. "We are rearming to keep out of war, and the nation is falling solidly behind Prime Minister Chamberlain's foreign policy.

War Danger Spot Removed.

"Personally I hate the way the German-Austrian anschluss came about, but I think it should have been done in 1919. That it has been achieved, removes one of the war danger spots from Europe. England's policy is to mind her own business."

Naval ship building is increasing in line with his country's rearmament program, Sir Percy said, but owing to a slight decline in business, there is now a mild pause in the construction of new merchant ships.

Cunard White Star, he said, will launch two large ships this year. One, the new Mauretania of 36,000 tons, will be in the medium class; the other, the Queen Elizabeth, will be a sister ship of the 81,235 ton Queen Mary.

"The Queen Mary is the best commercial property of our line," the speaker declared, "and one of the most economical to operate. There will always be a definite economic place in the Atlantic ocean for such large ships. There won't be many, but there will always be a few."

What U. S. Shipping Needs.

British commercial shipping, Sir Percy declared, has never experienced a mutiny, and seldom has had any form of labor trouble. He said he agreed with Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy who stated that the crying need for the American merchant marine was more ship discipline.

"The British working classes are more contented now than in any recent times," said Sir Percy. "As you know, there is always the professional agitator group which nothing ever satisfies. But broadly speaking we are remarkably free from industrial troubles.

"We have collective bargaining in every important trade and industry. Our trade unions are responsible entities, responsible in the criminal and civil courts, which makes for a feeling of responsibility on their part. As employers, we feel it is our business to support and work with these unions."

82 YEARS IN TOWNSHIP; DIES.

Litchfield, Ill., May 9.—[Special.]—Funeral services will be held tomorrow for George Davis, 88 years old, of North Litchfield township, where he lived 82 years.

Stubborn Safe Holds Out $1,000 on Yeggs; Get $20

Hyde Park police yesterday sought two robbers who held up James J. Pearson, manager of a restaurant at 1342 East 53d street. They were unable to blow open the safe containing $1,000 and fled after taking $20 from the cash register.

241 Influenza Cases; Ban Visitors at State Prisons

Warden Joseph E. Ragen announced yesterday that no visitors will be permitted at the Joliet and Stateville prisons until a mild epidemic of influenza among the prisoners has been stopped. The warden said 241 prisoners are ill with the disease.

DIVORCEE, ONCE HELD IN SLAYING QUIZ, ENDS LIFE

Figured as Secret Friend of Victim's Husband.

Conneaut, O., May 9.—[Special.]—Miss Theresa Ludwig, 46 years old, a divorcee whose friendship with Deuber S. Cable, widely known contractor of Canton, O., was disclosed in the investigation into the mysterious slaying of Cable's wife last year, was found dead today in a garage at her sister's home here. Police said she had committed suicide.

Miss Ludwig's body was under her automobile, the motor of which was still running, and the garage doors were closed.

The divorcee had been living in Conneaut since her release a few days after Mrs. Cable's slaying, which occurred March 11, 1937, and has never been solved.

Long Friendship Admitted.

Cable admitted to Canton police he had carried on an illicit friendship with Miss Ludwig, who was proprietor of a Canton dress shop, for seven years. Miss Ludwig told police she had acted as hostess for Cable and his friends in a liquor stocked apartment at Akron, 20 miles from Canton.

Mrs. Cable, who was prominent in Canton social and church activities, was killed by the blast of a shotgun fired through a window of her home during the midnight hours. Cable was in Cleveland at the time. However, he also was held on suspicion and later was released. He offered a reward of $5,000 for information leading to a solution of the slaying.

Discloses Demand for Money.

Cable disclosed today that Miss Ludwig visited him last night at the home of his brother, A. B. Cable, in Canton and threatened him with trouble if he refused her demand for money. The divorcee demanded, Cable said, that he pay her for the "seven best years of her life" which she said she had given him.

The demand was refused, Cable related, and Miss Ludwig was ejected from the house after she became abusive. Police reported finding several bruises on her arms and shoulders.

As Miss Ludwig drove away last night, Cable said, she shouted: "You haven't heard the last of me yet."

Hotel Embezzlement Case in Evanston Is Continued

Judge James M. Corcoran in Evanston Municipal court yesterday continued until May 23 a charge of embezzlement against William Gerard Jr., 1414 Chicago avenue, Evanston. Mrs. Anna Brodsky, former owner of the Claridge hotel in Evanston, charged that Gerard had taken $419 while employed as a clerk there two years ago.

UNION DEMANDS INVESTIGATION OF CITY'S MILK WAR

The Chicago and Illinois State federations of labor are backing the affiliated Milk Wagon Drivers' union in a demand for a complete investigation of the wrecking last week of milk trucks of the Meadowmoor Dairies, Inc., Daniel D. Carmell, counsel for the labor bodies, said yesterday. Two loaded trucks of the Meadowmoor company, a cut rate concern at 1334 South Peoria street, were wrecked on the west side last Friday and Saturday.

Carmell made his statement following the opening of an inquiry by the state's attorney's office into the recent violence. Assistant State's Attorney Mal Coghlan declared following a conference with union and company officials that vandalism in milk disputes would not be permitted in Chicago.

Deny Violence Responsibility.

Carmell and David A. Riskind, attorneys for the union, asserted that union members had nothing to do with the violence and charged that the vandalism was sponsored by the company in an attempt to gain public sympathy.

Stores selling Meadowmoor milk are being picketed by the union, because, according to labor officials, the company's drivers are not organized and are being paid far below the scale of union drivers. Picketing began about three weeks ago following the dismissal of a four year old injunction against the union.

Cites Court Victory.

"It is odd that just after we win our long court fight violence breaks out suddenly," Riskind said. "The picketing is accomplishing everything we desire. It would be foolish for us to cause any violence and our members realize it.

"We want to see an investigation carried to the limit and we definitly charge that this is an attempt by the company to get public sympathy. They are commiting these acts of violence."

William Parillo, one of the attorneys for the company, denied the charges.

"Such a statement," he said, "is ridiculous. The drivers of the wrecked trucks will be able to identify their assailants when those men are arrested by police."

ASKS WALLACE TO ALTER QUOTAS ON CORN RAISING

Washington, D. C., May 9.—(AP)—Representative E. C. Eicher [D., Ia.] wrote to Secretary Wallace today that the system of designating allotments for corn acreage was resulting in inequalities and discriminations.

"I can't believe that the commands of the statute are so unyielding as to permit you no discretion in administration," Eicher wrote, adding that protests against corn acreage allotments were reaching him in large numbers, adding:

"Unless assurance of substantial modification is given before the end of the corn planting season, the average of coöperation with the program in my district will be under 50 per cent.

"Certainly coöperation cannot be expected from operators of 40 to 80 acres of land, who under existing rules are not even permitted to raise enough corn to feed their chickens."

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Frank Ridgway

AAA Committees

May, 9, 1938.

IN discussing the federal government's crop control program with other farmers, men on the experimental farms find a growing interest in the network of little AAA organizations set up in almost every community in the United States. Official figures compiled by the Agricultural adjustment administration office in Washington show that there are approximately 25,000 committees administering the AAA plan authorized by the new farm law. This includes state, county, and township committees. There are between 75,000 and 100,000 persons serving on these committees. Similar machinery was set up by the government to administer the original AAA program invalidated by the Superior court.

The little AAAs now operating throughout the country are regarded by some farmers as potential political organizations to strengthen the forces of agricultural colleges and agricultural extension agencies drafted as aids to Washington politicians. This view was strengthened lately by the results of a nation-wide survey which revealed that nearly half the farmers voting indicated that they believed the Roosevelt administration was using the agricultural colleges and their extension workers, which included county agents and farm advisors, to influence farmers in favor of the Roosevelt policies.

Farmers Grow Dissatisfied.

Since corn and other crop acreage allotments have been sent out during the last few weeks, many farmers have become dissatisfied with the whole AAA plan and are organizing to register their protest with authorities in Washington, hoping that the law can be repealed. Some of the protesting farmers fear that there is discrimination in calculating how much corn, for example, may be grown under the government plan this year by individual farmers.

Suspicious farmers, aroused over the danger of a dictatorship, lately have been making a more careful study of the way the members of the committees are appointed or elected. State committees have been appointed by the secretary of agriculture. County and township committee members are elected by farmers under certain restrictions written into the law.

It is pointed out by some of the leading opponents that farmers who do not take part in the government farm plan and accept subsidy payments are not properly represented on the local committees that fix the acreage allotments for both coöperating and noncoöperating farmers. These opponents interpret the law as meaning that only participating farmers are allowed to vote for committeemen.

The Law's Provisions.

In reference to the selection of local committees the law says that "farmers within any such local administrative area, and participating or coöperating in programs administered within such area, shall elect annually from among their number a local committee of not more than three members for such area and shall also elect annually from among their number a delegate to a county convention for the election of a county committee."

Acreage allotments sent out by the secretary of agriculture to states and counties are passed on down to individual farms by the county committees. These allotments are made to all farmers, whether or not they participate in the program.

Whenever marketing quotas are put into effect under the provisions of the law, they apply alike to farmers who participate in the program and those who do not. For example, if there is a marketing quota on corn next fall, every corn farmer in the commercial area will be told how much corn he can sell or feed and how much he must store under government seal. The actual number of bushels that each farmer must seal will be based on the corn acreage allotment given him by the county AAA committee. The committee not only fixes the farmers' acreage allotment, but decides on the average production per acre to be credited each farm.

Since marketing quota penalties apply to all farmers alike, opponents of the government farm plan believe that nonparticipating farmers should have a voice in the selection of the county committees that fix the individual farm allotments on which the marketing quotas are based.

Members of the AAA county and township committees are paid on a per diem basis. County committeemen also are paid 4 cents a mile for the use of their automobiles when on official duty. The money is deducted from the AAA funds sent to the counties. The AAA county board, made up of township AAA committee chairmen, decide upon the per diem rate, which varies. Farmers serving on these committees usually get $3 or $4 a day.

Doctors say never take a laxative for stomach pain. It is dangerous and foolish. It takes those little black tablets called Bell-ans for Indigestion to make the excess stomach fluids harmless, relieve distress in 5 minutes and put you back on your feet. REPLACE YOUR SMOOTH WORN TIRES AND BE SAFE

LAST year highway accidents cost the lives of more than 40,000 men, women and children and nearly a million and a quarter more were injured. More than 52,000 of these deaths and injuries were caused directly by punctures, blowouts and skidding due to smooth, worn, unsafe tires. A recent survey discloses that 59 million tires now in use are, or will become, smooth this year. Do your part to make driving safer. Replace smooth tires on your car. Come in today and equip with Firestone Convoy Tires and save 25%.

FIRESTONE CAN GIVE YOU SUCH A HIGH QUALITY TIRE AT SUCH A NEW LOW PRICE

Because Firestone saves money by controlling and securing rubber and cotton at the source and by more efficient manufacturing and distribution. These savings make possible more extra values at low prices:

New High Quality — First choice rubber and cotton selected that conforms to Firestone's high standards and rigid specifications.

Long Mileage — Safe, silent tread design made of tough, slow wearing rubber that assures long mileage. Sturdy bars and rugged notches give protection against skidding.

Blowout Protection — Nine extra pounds of rubber are added to every 100 pounds of cord by the Firestone Patented Gum-Dipping process. Every cord in every ply is saturated with liquid rubber which counteracts internal friction and heat that ordinarily cause blowouts.

Puncture Protection — Firestone's patented construction of two extra layers of Gum-Dipped cords under the tread protects against punctures.

Come in today. Let us put a set of these large size, rugged, long wearing Firestone Convoy Tires on your car—remember, you save 25%.

REUNION IN ROME.

Mussolini isn't Bismarck, but he has profited from his example. Within a fortnight he has rededicated himself to the accord with Herr Hitler and he has taken out a reinsurance policy with Great Britain. Hitler makes Il Duce important to Great Britain and Great Britain makes him important to Hitler. He may not be the smartest statesman of modern Europe, but as a horse trader he hasn't made bad use of his money.

The Furor is no doubt the less stable character of the two. He is the greater mystic and more interesting to the psychiatrist. He also has much stronger material so long as he either beguiles the powerful forces of Germany or is useful to them. There is a great curiosity to know what the German army really thinks of the little Nietzschean parvenu dictator. He has been useful to the army. He gave it freedom from the limitations of the Versailles treaty and inasmuch as he depends on it his interests and the army interests are parallel. In the German-Italian alliance the weaker mind has the stronger hands and the Italian friend does not deceive himself on that score.

In entertaining the Furor Mussolini proved again that he can throw his chin around with any man on earth and, although his military show probably did not deceive any of the cool heads of the German army attending the proceedings, Hitler himself may have thought that Il Duce was a man very well panoplied. The two dictatorships, for all the terrible significance they have for the world today, are very childish in their behavior. The two chiefs themselves seem like juvenile play actors showing their toys to each other. But it is the childishness of adult barbarians, dismaying because there is no assurance that they will not do some tremendous thing either because they are too restless to sit quiet or because they perceive a chance to gain a triumph satisfying both to their egotism and their self-interest.

Character faults which make repose and routine of life, even of administrative life, unendurable, and ambitions which have complete supremacy in flamboyant minds, make it next to impossible for either of them to accept a status. The dangers which such temperaments present to the world also, fortunately, are dangerous to the men themselves. Napoleon was not the first restless man who couldn't stay out of such a place as Russia. More worlds to conquer is the familiar dream of the unstable man of power.

What Hitler and Mussolini agreed to do when they talked to each other between the shift of scenes at the Italian show is being guessed at, and one guess is that they have divided central Europe into spheres of influence. In the excitement of their grandiloquence and megalomania it is taken for granted that they will do something. Hitler's renunciation of the German population in northern Italy, being inconsistent with his general policy and distasteful to German feeling, may in itself require him to do something spectacular in another direction. Meanwhile Italy, upon reflection, will put little trust in anything that may have been promised with regard to the present frontier because Hitler could not bind a future Germany and the world of present day dictators is known to be based upon opportunism and not good faith.

A BOGUS NAVAL PROJECT.

The gargantuan project for a huge expenditure on the naval establishment needs deflation. It is well that Senator Borah, Senator Vandenberg, and other able men in congress submit it to analysis. THE TRIBUNE has always been a strong and persistent advocate of a powerful navy. It is for that reason we object to exaggerated proposals which can only discredit the legitimate claims of national defense.

Our naval strength needs building up. We have neglected it for over a decade in the futile pursuit of peace by treaties and conventions. The fleet is out of balance and there should be a prompt and energetic development of naval and aviation bases. The menace of foreign bases within easy striking distance of our shores should no longer be ignored. It should be attacked by serious negotiations without procrastination. There should be liberal provision for research in improved equipment, and the navy authorities, instead of indulging in megalomaniac dreams, should foster a spirit of initiative, enterprise, and progressiveness in the study and practical application of new means and methods. Burocratic and professional bourbonism should be excluded from naval affairs. By this policy we can achieve a qualitative increase of naval strength without inordinate expenditures.

The present project, now in conference in congress, is the product of politics, not statesmanly policy. It is launched to distract the public's attention from the domestic troubles which quack economics and demagogy have inflicted on the nation. It exposes its ulterior motives in the pretended planning for naval building far beyond the possibilities of American yards and facilities, and it is supported by a deliberate distortion and exaggeration of our international situation.

War is not threatening the American people if their government does not propose to indulge in mischievous international experiments. It needs no such naval expenditures as have been proposed unless we propose to accept the implications of the President's Chicago bridge speech and undertake to entangle ourselves in foreign politics under the delusion that we are contributing to our own peace or that of the world.

THE SWEDISH STRAIN.

At Dover, Del., on Saturday, the 300th anniversary of the landing of the first Swedish colony in America was celebrated. It was eighteen years after the Mayflower reached Plymouth that the Swedish ships, Kalmar Nyckel and Fogel Grip, reached the shores of Delaware near the present site of Dover, and the celebration of the event is one of a series this year which will commemorate the coming of the Swedes and their rôle in American history.

Americans of Swedish descent are doing an interesting service for their fellow countrymen in arranging for a celebration of the first landing of Swedes in America. Committees of Swedish-Americans are at work from coast to coast to raise a $750,000 endowment for the American Swedish Historical museum in Philadelphia, and the celebration will have noteworthy official recognition when on June 27 the President will welcome at Wilmington the crown prince of Sweden and his princess, with a delegation of 700 Swedish subjects. Following this ceremony there will be festivities there and in Philadelphia, after which the prince and princess will make a tour of the east and midwest with the certainty of a warm welcome in all the communities they visit.

But the service we refer to is in the reminder this celebration brings to the American people of the very honorable part Swedes played in the early history and founding of the nation. The majority of Americans are of descent from the British Isles and the preponderance of their influence expressed through our language, laws, and institutions overshadows for most Americans the valuable contributions of other nationalities. It is well to be reminded, for example, that John Morton, a signer of the Declaration of Independence and a member of the Pennsylvania delegation to the congress, whose vote, it is said, decided the adherence of Pennsylvania to the national cause, was of Swedish origin, and that John Hanson, first president of the continental congress after the adoption of the articles of confederation, was a grandson of one of the first settlers of New Sweden.

The idea of colonizing in America first took form in Sweden soon after the landing of the English Pilgrims at Plymouth, and it was fostered by the hero-king, Gustavus Adolphus, and his great chancellor, Axel Oxenstierna. But it was not till 1637 that the first colonists put forth to reach the banks of the Delaware where the city of Wilmington now stands. In the meantime Gustavus had died on the battlefield of Luetzen, and though Oxenstierna still lived and managed the affairs of state, Sweden had entered stormy waters and could not give much thought and support to colonial adventure.

It is interesting to speculate upon how New Sweden would have developed had Gustavus lived. With his death, in spite of the genius of Oxenstierna, a great statesman and a great man, Sweden as a great power began to decline, and with the reign of the half mad Charles X., with his brilliant but disastrous wars, the decline was rapid. With a happier background, we may assume, Swedish colonizing would have been more extensive and the Swedes might have been a more numerous element of the original colonial population than they were.

But with the modest and difficult beginnings on the Delaware three hundred years ago, they have grown, it is estimated, to two million of Swedish descent today. The quality of their contribution to American national character and accomplishment is not expressed in numbers. They have been good citizens of the republic, sharing industriously and ably in its great labors and in its ideas and ideals. It is important to a true estimate of American development that their part in it from the beginnings of the nation should be emphasized. The Swedish tercentenary turns to an honorable page in the story of America which all Americans should know.

THE SCHOOL PATROLS.

The luncheon given in honor of 350 members of the school patrols from Illinois and Indiana was a well deserved recognition of an important public service. President Hayes of the Chicago Motor club, which has sponsored this movement since 1922, points out that the trafic death rate of children from 5 to 9 years old has decreased 25 per cent, while the rate for children from 9 to 14 has increased only 3 per cent in the same period, although the death rate for high school youth from 15 to 19 has increased 137 per cent.

Trafic accident statistics present an appalling picture, and to find any bright spot is a relief. The school patrols, these youths with Sam Browne belts who guard the children at school corners and crossings, are saving many lives and deserve the gratitude of the community. At the luncheon medals were distributed and sixty boys will be sent by the Chicago Motor club to Washington to represent Illinois and Indiana at the national patrol conference.

The motor massacre constitutes one of the major problems of the nation, and the killing or injury of little children is one of its most heart rending aspects. The patrols are one means of combating it and should be liberally supported.

Editorial of the Day

DAYLIGHT SAVING.

[Christian Science Monitor.]

Americans about this time of year recall a popular song of yesteryear, "When It's Night Time in Italy It's Wednesday Over Here." It's because of the clocks. Or not because of the clocks but because of the Americans. But not all the Americans. In Britain it would be because of the British. But, it would appear, not because of all the British.

It appears that "summer time"—or daylight saving time—still has some adherents to win in Britain. Kipling's "Village That Voted the Earth Was Flat" has a companion, equally conservative minded, in the Sussex hamlet of Ebernoe, which has lately come into the news as the home of several standpatters who stoutly refuse to put their clocks ahead. They see no reason in getting up an hour earlier, accept no governmental opinion in the matter, and will not dress either by the right or the left.

They do not, of course, imagine that they are losing an hour, as was the case with some of their forbears, who, when the calendar was altered, cried: "Give us back our eleven days!" It is rather a conviction that the last word, "the last syllable of recorded time," should lie with the sun, which alone can fix "the blaze of noon."

This is, however, a very small minority, and few others would deny now that the observance of "summer time" is not only an economical practice but has proved a contribution to the enjoyment of leisure.

Derby Visitor.

A scout comes shagging up with a belated Derby day note. A Chicago business man, R. C. McKee, got up early and drove to Louisville for the races. He took a hotel room to clean up, and dropped down for a little rest. Went to sleep and slept on, right through the Derby.

FROM A DEPARTMENT STORE.

The Picture Galleries.

When the adding and checking of clerks is done
And all the good nights have been said
And the boss has gone and there dies away
The lowly stockboy's tread—

There comes softly stealing the galleries through
A delicate fragrance of flowers,
And the faces begin to smile and to nod
And they talk through the long night hours.
(The surf washes up on the painted beach,
But the glistening sand is real;
The autumn leaves fall from the golden trees
And the blue-hazed air is still.)
Enchantment lives in the garden there
And strange and exotic things,
Till the night tiptoes at last away
And the magic spell takes wings—

And the first early comer who finds his place
Behind the counter to sell
Idly picks up a pink petal
And wonders from whence it fell.

The inscription in Eunice Tietjen's new book, "World at My Shoulder": All the characters in this book are real—none are fictitious. All persons are referred to and identified by their proper names and every word said about them is intentional.

AS NICE A TRIBUTE as wife ever made to husband is contained in Chicagoan Eunice Tietjen's new book, which is a fascinating record of her life and travels, written with gallantry, humor, and poetry. ". . . I cannot forbear saying here that after nearly twenty years of married life I still find Cloyd Head the most interesting person I know. I would still rather lunch with him than with any other human being. . . . Cloyd Head and I can start a conversational hare any evening and sit till midnight over the uncleared dinner table, discussing till our tongues are weary on their pivots. To me it is the great blessing."

Off Stage Humor.

Miss Libby Holman, whose admirers find her appearances too few and brief in "You Never Know," to Robin Thomas, who told her he was going to the play: "You won't see me if you blink."

IT WAS ROBIN THOMAS, son of Mrs. Harrison Tweed (Michael Strange) of New York, who shared an apartment above a garage on North Dearborn street with Tyrone Power two years ago. Both lads were appearing with a local little theater group, Robin with an allowance from home, Tyrone leading a hand to mouth existence. He was much liked for his pleasant disposition and quiet charm. Robin, just back from Mexico City, saw Tyrone recently and says fame has not changed or spoiled him.

Owner of Renoirs.

That young man with dark eyes and a dark mustache wearing a brown tweed suit, a camera over his shoulder, you might have seen on Michigan avenue last week-end was Philippe Gangnat, Parisian owner of some fifty late Renoirs never before seen in America that are on exhibit at the Pennsylvania Museum of Art. Gangnat flew to Chicago to see the Renoir paintings in the Chicago Art institute. He flew back east Sunday to see a Cezanne in the Etta Cone collection in Baltimore which formerly hung over his bed at home. His hobby is color photography.

PHILIPPE GANGNAT'S FATHER, Maurice Gangnat, was a friend of Renoir and had first choice of his later pictures. Renoir also made several paintings and panels for the Gangnat apartment in Paris. The young Gangnat often visited the Renoir family at Cagnes, and played with Claude Renoir, who was about his age. He branded as untrue the story that Renoir's arthritis was so bad he had to have his brushes strapped to his fingers when he painted. Renoir did suffer from arthritis, and his hands were sometimes bandaged but the fingers and thumb allowed a sidewise movement that made it possible for him to pick up his brushes and hold them, Mr. Gangnat said.

MINIATURE LIQUOR BOTTLE collecting is one of the newer hobbies to come to attention. A Seattle business man came to Chicago recently on the trail of nineteen pre-prohibition miniatures reputed to be in the hands of a man here. He was prepared to pay as high as $200 for the lot. A manufacturer in Philadelphia has accumulated some 2,000 varieties and has insured his collection for $10,000. There is a collector from Connecticut who arranged his business so he could be away for six months looking for miniatures. Impetus is given miniature collecting in the liquor line because only a few states permit the sale of miniatures.

CHICAGO AUTHORITY on liquor miniature collecting is Charles L. Walker, head of a hotel liquor shop that specializes in miniatures. There are 546 miniatures in stock, ranging in price from a 10 cent item (a bottle of domestic gin) to a $4 item (a set of three bottles of very old cognac on a small walnut tray). You can have one of each of the 546 miniatures for $271.13. The miniatures come from twenty-five different countries and include prupnik, a honey cordial from Poland; zytniowka, a rye distillation, also from Poland; paprika liqueur, made from Hungarian red pepper; vodka and zubrowska, from Latvia; tequila from Mexico; banana cordial from France and flavored rice spirits from China. The Dutch miniatures are in the shape of animals, filled with fine Dutch cordials. No champagne miniatures, although Mr. Walker says customers ask for them frequently. The wines sold in miniatures are the fortified kind, such as port or sherry.

THE GEOLOGY OF THE BODY.

WE look upon the human frame as a mass of muscles, organs, blood vessels, and nerves, all hung upon a skeleton composed of mineral matter. The arrangement of the bony parts follows an orderly pattern. Growth of this structure begins in the embryo and stops at a set time of life. Subsequent changes occur at a very slow rate. The marvel of it all is that certain vitamins and the secretions produced by tiny glands control the whole affair.

Apparently nature did not intend that we should go through geological eras. There is maintained, therefore, a remarkably exact equilibrium of all tissue fluids so governed that stonelike material will not be laid down. Nevertheless, as many can testify, stones may appear in the kidneys, the bladder, in or near a joint, or in the gall bladder. Then the question comes, "Why do these concretions form?"

We all are familiar with the lime encrusted pipes of a hot water heater, the scale that clings to the inside of a boiler, or that may cover the bottom of a tea kettle. When salts [minerals] exist in solution, evaporation will increase their concentration to the point at which they will be thrown down or, as we say, precipitated. The more liquid that is boiled away the thicker will the coating of lime become.

Now the bile, for example, harbors salts, some of which may not be able to remain in solution if disease has affected the liver, and hence has altered the character of its secretion. It may contain too much cholesterol, which ordinarily will be dissolved if enough calcium is present. Suppose that there is a damming back of the outflow from the gall bladder, with absorption of a portion of the liquid? We may then expect the development of a cholesterol stone.

We know also that the whole digestive process is interfered with occasionally by a backflow from the pancreas and whenever pancreatic juice is added to bile a soft, mushlike mass like fresh mixed cement is formed. It later may become harder, and such an episode may be responsible for stones in the large duct which leads from the liver to the intestine.

Again let us suppose that infection has injured the delicate lining membrane of the gall bladder or the bile ducts themselves, such as may be brought about by an attack of typhoid fever. We may anticipate that new products entering the liver from the impaired cells will result in concretions.

The reason that surgeons nowadays remove the gall bladder when it is found to have lost a good deal of its function is not only to get rid of its geological contents but to force drainage from the liver into the intestine. This follows because the main duct, which connects with the bowel, enlarges, making a free and open passageway. Should precipitation later take place, gravel will be washed out.

Just as the crust of the earth was laid down through countless ages, we must look upon the formation of bowlders anywhere within the body as a gradual process. But in this situation we ought not to blame the gall bladder too severely. If the bile which enters it is healthy, if its outlet to the intestine is unimpeded, if bacteria have not damaged its lining wall, there would be few instances of disease of this organ.

All of which should impel us to have a much higher degree of respect for the liver and its output which, after all, depends largely upon the food we eat. We can avoid using excessive amounts of cholesterol, the chief sources of which are brain, liver, eggs, butter, sweetbreads, goose, duck, cream, fat meats, and sausage. We also can make certain that the calcium balance in the body is adequate. Of course, vitamins play an important part and an excess of vitamin D, with too little of A, is to be guarded against.

MAY BE ARTHRITIS.

Mrs. E. writes: For several months I have been awakened early in the morning with cramping pain below the shoulders, sides, and stomach. Getting up and moving about seems to ease it. What would bring on such pain?

REPLY.

Probably arthritis of the spine also involving the shoulder. A careful physical examination should be made to determine the exact cause, as gall bladder disease and other types of digestive disturbances may be responsible.

HELPS IN DIAGNOSIS.

REPLY.

The metabolic test determines the condition of the thyroid and is an aid in the diagnosis—not in the cure—of thyroid disease.

PENSION PAYMENTS.

Chicago, May 7.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—In the case of a father who received old age assistance from the state amounting to $22 monthly for fifteen months, the proceeds of which were used entirely for medical attention and insurance premiums, who then passes away, leaving the widow only the insurance money, which in this case, after funeral expenses, etc., amounts to approximately $1,600 [1] is the widow compelled by law to return the $330 to the state out of her insurance money? Also, in the event she does not pay back this money [2] are the children liable to suit for return of same? The state investigator inferred that if my mother did not pay back the $330 [3] as the law states, then the state would sue, as this was only borrowed money. As my sister and I are in no position to pay, are we liable for this amount?

J. W. S.

1. The statute makes the accumulated pension payments a charge against any estate that the recipient leaves at the time of his death, but insurance payable to a named beneficiary as distinguished from insurance payable to his estate would not be a part of his estate so as to be subject to this provision.
2. Not on the bare facts stated.
3. If such a threat has been made it probably is based on the theory that the pension payments were kept up secretly and in substance as a fraud on the state. The officials in charge are in a better position to explain to you than we are.

WHY BUILDING WAS STOPPED.

Evanston, Ill., May 4.—Resumption in building was stopped a year ago by increased material and labor costs. If the building trades had been able to vote on the wage increase in the manner that the NLRB elections have been held, the majority would have been against increase. They knew then as they know now that they were cutting their own throats.

A year ago the FHA changed its rulings to make the benefits of FHA mortgage insurance available only to owners who would occupy the premises themselves. No great amount of home construction may be expected on this basis. The average man would rather look over homes already built and know exactly how much the cost was, the same way they buy automobiles. Few automobiles would be on the streets if a person had to get plans, let contracts, etc., in order to get a car.

A spur to home building would be a five year moratorium on real estate taxes added by the improvement. Let the vacant appraisal continue for five years, disregarding the improvement valuation.

WPA DEMONSTRATION.

Chicago, May 6.—I would like to call attention to the exhibit that closes today on the second floor of the Merchandise Mart — in connection with the Works Progress administration — women's and professional division.

It was quite by accident that I dropped into this exceedingly interesting display of work. Some few hundred women were working, and intelligent men and women demonstrating the various kinds of machinery, art, advertising, vocational training of all kinds. It would open the eyes of a great many people. Here a great work is being done to alleviate destructive idleness on the part of those unfortunates who are capable but unable to find employment.

I have no connection with the WPA, but in all fairness to this branch of the work I wish all could have seen the display.

AMERICANS, GET WISE!

Chicago, April 29.—Administering of relief must be corrected, so that those rightfully entitled to it shall receive it and those found guilty of accepting relief while receiving income from other sources are punished to the fullest extent of the law. Throw the politician out of the relief office. Rotten politics in relief is the major cause of all this trouble.

Americans, get wise to yourselves. You're just as good as your forefathers were and don't let any one tell you you've lost your nerve. Get up and fight. This is your city and your state and, thank God, your country.

Baltimore, Md., May 4.—We have been visiting in Paris and accidentally came across at 1 Rue Scribe the office of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE. We have secured valuable information from the office and were greatly helped in our trip in France, and we are thankful for the services rendered, for which no fees were taken. We assure you of our appreciation of the aid to American visitors.

We especially commend Miss Gogol, the clerk in your Paris office, who gave us helpful suggestions. Miss Gogol was cordial and courteous and her services are to the credit of THE TRIBUNE.

ED NEWHART.

WHERE RAILROADS WASTE MONEY.

Chicago, May 4.—There has been a great deal said in the press in the last few weeks about the plight in which the $20,000,000,000 industry—the railroads of the United States—find themselves at this time. This is no doubt the largest industry in this country. It is part of the President's big spending and lending plan to loan the railroads $300,000,000 for the purchase of new equipment; also further loans to make possible the return of 150,000 furloughed maintenance of way and equipment workers.

It has been said that 25 to 50 per cent of the railroads are now in bankruptcy, receivership, or in the hands of trustees. Trusteeships and bankruptcy proceedings are necessarily expensive to the railroads, with handsome salaried trustees.

The railroads have only themselves to thank for their predicament. Not many years ago trucks and buses started competition which has reached the stage of a coast to coast proposition and has taken millions of dollars' worth of trafic away from the railroads—and this all handled over congested highways built with taxpayers' money with inadequate returns to the states for the wear and tear in such usage.

I have been a railroad man for fifty years, have never been a member of any railroad labor organization, but have a kindly feeling for the "under dog," who always gets hit first in times of business depression.

There are other things besides increased rates, repeal of the long and short haul, federal regulation through the interstate commerce commission, of water transportation, etc. Probably every class 1 railroad in the country has an elaborate trafic organization, both freight and passenger, coast to coast. These organizations occupy fine offices in high rental districts in the cities. The business of these trafic men is to solicit business and in addition to their salaries they are allowed a generous expense account.

Just what would happen if all of the railroads would join in discontinuing these outside agencies is problematical, but it appears to the writer that the volume of business handled would not be reduced and it would seek its natural level among the competitive lines. There is a fertile field in which to make millions of dollars reduction annually in the operation of the railroads. I know one railroad which maintains thirty-one of these "outside" agencies.

There should be an opportunity to save further millions in reducing exorbitant salaries paid the executives in the upper brackets as well as reduction in the personnel.

A RAILROAD MAN.

WILL CHILDREN THANK THEM?

Chicago, May 5.—I know this won't be printed, but I cannot resist writing just how I feel when I think of all the mothers who have been so proud to bring children into the world. I really wonder how many children really would thank their parents. Not many; you can bet on that. This might sound silly, but just think what there is for a poor child anyway—just a lot of grief looking for a job that isn't. Every year there are thousands, I mean millions, who don't know where to look for a job just to exist. If any mother or father can feel proud to bring children into the world with that to offer, they surely are selfish or ignorant.

FROM AN URBAN LEAGUE FOUNDER.

Chicago, May 5.—As the only person now living in Chicago who helped in 1916 to found and organize the Urban league I wish to thank you for the editorial on the league's services which appeared in your issue of last Sunday. Although the Urban league has a splendid record of work done to improve the economic, cultural, health, and moral conditions among Negroes, still the rapid increase in their numbers [from about 50,000 when we started to 240,000 today], coupled with the fact that few white people know anything about their needs and problems, have made it difficult for us to keep pace with the growth of our task and to raise enough funds to finance our undertakings. We are grateful for Col. Sprague's interest and his efficient coöperation, and for your most helpful editorial. We know that large numbers of people will have read it; and we already find evidence of interest in our efforts among persons who before did not know of our existence.

HORACE J. BRIDGES.

HE LIKES THE HANDBOOKS.

Chicago, May 4.—After reading "Handbooks and Old Age Pensions," signed John H. Harper, I wondered just how old the writer is.

I don't believe in denying the older folks the pleasure that life still holds for them whether it be nursing the few nickels they receive or spending their nickels at the game of chance.

The handbooks are my only source of pleasure. I win a little. I lose a little. I have no place to spend my time and know it's best not to call at my children's homes too often. I am 75 years old. Why not license the handbooks? It would pay for pensions that some receive. Then the money would be well spent at a handbook.

Where should the old folks go for recreation? One may even sit in a handbook-place for several hours without spending a cent. There is no admittance charge but there is a lot of pleasure in minding one's own business.

ADOLF HANSEN.

OUST THE "RUBBER STAMPS."

Freeport, Ill., May 5.—If other states follow the lead of Florida in penalizing the patriots who really protect the people's interests at Washington, and reëlect senators who are only "rubber stamps," I fear we are only one step away from a Hitler or a Mussolini, and an acknowledgment that the people of America are not worthy of the democratic form of government won for us by the patriots at Valley Forge. It is time that our citizens become familiar with what is happening in Washington so they will not, through their own ignorance and indifference, vote against their own best interests on election day.

F. A. ROTH.

WHY NOT KEEP THE G-MEN?

Chicago, May 5.—I would like to suggest that instead of discharging our G-men from the wonderful work they are doing, on an excuse of economy, it would be advisable to lay off some of our many congressmen, senators, and many more in Washington, and use that money to double the staf of our G-men. By doing so we would make our country a safer and better place to live in.

ALEX H. GOLDBERG.

BRAUDE AND THE SAFETY COURT.

Chicago, May 5.—In view of the fine work done by Judge Braude in Safety court I should like to suggest that Chief Justice Sonsteby reconsider Braude's transfer to the civil branch of the court. I am sure he can do more good where he has served so diligently.

U. S. TO RETAIN ITS EMBARGO ON ARMS TO SPAIN

Roosevelt Withholds His Approval of Change.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 9.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt was reported tonight to have refused to approve efforts to lift the arms embargo against Spain after a series of White House conferences on the American neutrality policy.

The question of a policy change was raised in the morning at his meeting with the big four of Capitol Hill—Vice President Garner, Speaker William B. Bankhead, Senate Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley, and House Majority Leader Sam Rayburn—and again in the afternoon at a conference with Secretary of State Cordell Hull.

Change Sought by Nye.

The change in policy which would permit arms shipments to war torn Spain is advocated by Senator Gerald P. Nye [R., N. D.], who introduced a resolution calling for repeal of the embargo.

As the congressional group left the White House, Rayburn asserted that he is firmly opposed to modification of the neutrality act at this time. He would not speak for the President, but it was apparent he echoed Mr. Roosevelt's position.

Secretary Hull declined to comment on his conference. However, state department officials said the conference had been satisfactory. As the secretary is strongly against any change in policy this was taken as conclusive evidence there will be no tampering with the embargo act.

Roosevelt Dissuaded.

Two weeks ago the secretary, by long distance telephone from Pinehurst, N. C., where he was vacationing, and Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles, by four White House visits, dissuaded the President from a plan to lift the embargo against loyalist Spain as a slap at Italy and Germany, whose troops are fighting and directing the rebel cause.

Hull said his report on the operation of the neutrality act has not yet been completed. This report was requested by Senator Key Pittman [D., Nev.], chairman of the foreign relations committee, after Nye introduced his resolution calling for lifting of the embargo.

Pittman expressed himself against modification and added that he is convinced most of the senate is against any action now.

LOYALISTS REGAIN GROUND

HENDAYE, France [at the Spanish frontier], May 9.—(AP)—The Spanish government's central army today took a bite of territory from the rebel corridor to the Mediterranean.

The corridor reaches the sea between Barcelona and Valencia and today's action was on the Valencia, or southern side.

Government dispatches said Gen. José Miaja's troops started an offensive of their own, in which they occupied positions just north of Cuevas de Vinroma, after checking the rebels along the Alcala de Chisvert-Cuevas de Vinroma line.

Alcala de Chisvert and Cuevas de Vinroma are about eight miles apart. Each is on a main highway running southwest to Castellon de La Plana, which is about thirty miles away. Seventy miles down the coast from Castellon is Valencia.

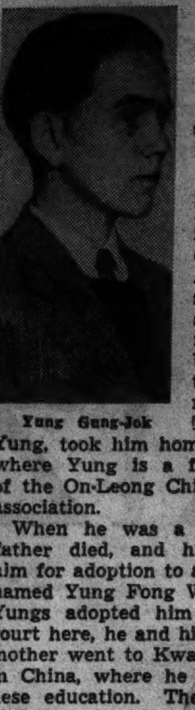
Inland Defenses Hold Firm.

The government reported its forces now dominated the entire Alcala de Chisvert-Cuevas de Vinroma road from which the rebels have been attempting to thrust down to Castellon.

The government's inland defense in the Morella sector, thirty-two miles by a winding road northwest of Cuevas de Vinroma, stood firm.

Rebel advices said Generalissimo Francisco Franco awaited only the lifting of rains to launch a decisive drive in the region.

AMERICAN FOSTER SON OF CHINESE RETURNS TO U. S. A STRANGER



Yung Gung-Jok

Yung Gung-Jok, 19 years old, who was born Harold Poe in Detroit, an American white boy, and adopted by a Chinese family here, returned to Chicago yesterday after spending 12 years in China.

He had forgotten the English he had learned and despite his American clothes stared about him strangely on arriving in the Union station on the Milwaukee road. His foster father, Charlie Yung, took him home to Chinatown, where Yung is a former president of the On-Leong Chinese Merchants' association.

When he was a baby the boy's father died, and his mother gave him for adoption to a Chinese family named Yung Fong Wing. After the Yungs adopted him in the County court here, he and his Chinese foster mother went to Kwangtung province in China, where he received a Chinese education. The foster mother died, and the father sent for him.

Gibraltar Fines American Stowaway; Prefers Jail

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GIBRALTAR, May 9. — Herbert Searl, an American who was brought here Saturday as a stowaway from Valencia, Spain, on the British steamer Celtic Star, today was fined $2.50 for trespassing on government property. Searl, who was believed to have been a plane pilot for the Spanish loyalists, refused to pay the fine or let any one else do so and began serving the alternative four days in jail. Charges against the master of the Celtic Star for allowing a stowaway to travel on his vessel and land at Gibraltar were dismissed.

ONE-WAY TRAFIC ARTERIES URGED FOR WEST SIDE

Mayor Welcomes Backing of Real Estate Board.

BY HAL FOUST.

Mayor Kelly yesterday welcomed support from the West Side Real Estate board to new proposals for a pair of one way trafic boulevards between Grant park and the western city limits. Speaking before a luncheon of the realty men at the Graemere hotel, he suggested they solicit their aldermen for favorable votes.

Robert J. Dunham, president of the Chicago park district, today will ask his commissioners to authorize him to present to the city council alternate plans for one way trafic systems for the west side.

Jackson-Monroe Unit Suggested.

One plan would use Jackson boulevard for east bound trafic only with westbound trafic using Monroe street to 5th avenue and thence west in Adams and Quincy streets. The other plan would extend the present Warren-Washington one way system east from Union park in Washington and in Randolph streets, and extend the system west from Garfield park in Washington and West End avenue.

Ray McCarthy, chairman of the real estate board's trafic committee, read a report that a one way boulevard system with synchronized lights using either Jackson or Washington could give the west side prompt relief from automobile congestion and hazard. Joseph R. Dorfman, president, then called upon the mayor.

"I am happy to hear that you favor doing something for the entire west side," said Mr. Kelly. "Heretofore, there has been opposition to any proposal other than some certain project."

Presumably, the mayor was referring to his experience in 1935 in fathering a scheme for one way trafic west from the loop. It was opposed by west side aldermen favoring an expensive development of Congress street.

Comprehensive System Aim.

"As you know," Mr. Kelly continued, "I am working toward the development of a comprehensive system for the betterment of transportation for all sections of the city. There are many ideas on the subject. There are those who believe that the day of surface street widening is past because these broad thoroughfares add to the accident toll and divide business districts. They say that we must come to elevated highways to move automobiles rapidly with safety.

"Pending ultimate development of a new roadway system, a one way control of trafic can give a measure of relief. Such a development requires a vote of the city council. You are organized to talk effectively with your aldermen."

The mayor said synchronization of stop and go lights on west side boulevards would be in operation before the middle of next month.

JAIL 6 MOTORISTS FOR DRUNKEN AND RECKLESS DRIVING

Five motorists were sent to jail yesterday by Judge Stephen Adamowski of the Automobile Safety court. He fined three others and placed another on probation. Those sentenced to jail and their terms are:

JOHN SCIWERT, 5701 South Laflin street, drunken driving, 10 days.

LEONARD KEMPSKI, 2314 West 21st place, reckless driving, 5 days.

MICHAEL KMIN, 4532 South Richmond street, reckless driving, 10 days.

ARNOLD PREUSS, 3341 North Kilbourn avenue, drunken driving, 10 days.

HIRAM BARNHART, colored, 11020 South Laflin street, drunken driving, 10 days.

Joseph Krutul of Wheatfield, Ind., and Anthony Mertig, 10414 Ewing avenue, were fined $100 each for drunken driving, and William Hahn, 5625 Irving Park boulevard, $10 for reckless driving. Frank Prebel, 3350 Pershing road, was placed on probation for six months for reckless driving.

Judge James M. Corcoran of the Evanston Municipal court yesterday sentenced Warren Foster, 32, of 1460 Fargo avenue, an Evanston cab driver, to 10 days in jail for driving while intoxicated.

Father and Son Are Killed When Automobiles Crash

Metropolis, Ill., May 9.—(AP)—Fred Melcher, 35 years old, and his son, George, 8, were killed in an auto collision on highway 145 northeast of here tonight. Melcher's auto collided at an intersection with auto driven by Robert A. Wilson, St. Louis salesman.

WPA Laborer Sentenced as Driver of Death Car

Judge John C. Lowe of the Criminal court yesterday overruled a motion for a new trial and sentenced Edward Manno, 23 years old, of 4700 Fulton street, a WPA laborer, to one to fourteen years in prison for manslaughter. He was convicted last week. On March 29 Manno's automobile killed Sebastian Casanto of 9321 South Green street, who was riding on a motorcycle. Manno and three companions fled, but were arrested when his wife reported his car had been stolen.

SYPHILIS TESTS INCREASE 300 PCT. OVER LAST YEAR

Syphilis tests made in the city laboratory during the first four months of 1938 totaled 88,714, an increase of 300 per cent over the same period of 1937 when 28,047 blood specimens were analyzed.

Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the board of health, said the totals given do not represent the exact number of persons examined, because many repeat tests were made, but the figures do reflect the increasing number volunteering for tests. More than 25,000 have been tested in field stations or in groups this year, 3,245 of these in the last week.

The total tested in the board of health's 37 field stations in the four weeks they have been open is 3,621. Of the 2,579 serologies tabulated of this group, 111, or 4.2 per cent, had positive blood tests.

Auto Injuries Prove Fatal to Pedestrian

William Chambers, 78 years old, 2508 North 79th avenue, Elmwood Park, died last night in the Oak Park hospital of injuries received on May 7 when he was run down by an automobile while walking across Grand avenue at 79th avenue in the suburb. Harold Schultz, 30, of 2528 Clinton street, River Grove, was the driver.

Up to 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, Chicago and Cook county had passed a fifty-four hour period without an automobile trafic death. Since Jan. 1 300 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county. Of these 235 were killed in Chicago where 6,058 were injured in the same period.

ANOTHER PULITZER PRIZE

FOR THE "MOST DISTINGUISHED WASHINGTON CORRESPONDENCE"

1938 Award is Eleventh Won by The Times and Members of Its Staff

THE Pulitzer Prize for distinguished Washington or foreign correspondence has been awarded this year to Arthur Krock, chief of The New York Times Washington Bureau. The award was made for his exclusive, authorized interview with the President which appeared in The New York Times of February 28th, 1937.

This is the second time Mr. Krock has won this award. In 1935 he won it for "fair, judicious, well-balanced and well-informed interpretive" coverage of Washington news.

The New York Times and members of its staff have won eleven Pulitzer Prizes, the highest distinction in American journalism. The record is unique. No other newspaper has won so many Pulitzer Prizes, or won them so consistently year after year by outstanding achievement in getting and publishing the news.

More even than they measure individual accomplishment, Pulitzer Prizes measure a newspaper's character and enterprise. By the measure of Pulitzer Prizes alone, The New York Times stands well in the fore as America's most distinguished newspaper.

With but one exception, all of its Pulitzer Prize-winning staff members are still on The Times staff, still writing for readers of The Times.

THE TIMES HAS WON MORE PULITZER PRIZES THAN ANY OTHER NEWSPAPER

Two Debutantes Will Make Bows at June Parties

BY JUDITH CASS.

LIKE the flowers that bloom in the spring, tra-la, British debutantes come out in the early May sunshine to bow at court and later to take part in a hectic debutante season. Some years ago early summer garden parties came into favor in the east for debutante teas, but this part of the country has been slow to adopt the English custom, and heretofore there have been few early summer debuts in and near Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. William B. Hale have set June 25 as the date for a dinner-dance they will give at their Winnetka home for their debutante daughter, Miss Mary Hale. Dinner will be served in the house, with dancing later on a platform in the garden. The invitation list is being kept short, for less than one hundred can be invited because in case of rain the whole party will have to be moved indoors.

Chapmans Plan Summer Party.

Mr. and Mrs. John Adams Chapman of Lake Forest are planning a dinner-dance for late June or early July, at which to introduce their daughter, Carolyn. They will give it at the Onwentsia.

White ties and tails strictly are de rigueur at London's June debut parties; in fact they are indispensable everywhere—at theaters, hotel dancing rooms, and night clubs—during "the season," but it is not likely that Chicago lads will copy their British cousins and don stiff bosomed shirts and warm black cloth on balmy summer nights.

Miss Hale's parents will entertain for her again next fall. She is being graduated from Dobbs Ferry on May 30, but she will remain there until June 20 to take college examinations, even though she does not expect to enter a college next year. Her sister, Eunice, a student at the North Shore Country Day school, may go to an eastern boarding school in the autumn. George E. Hale II., who is being graduated from the Harvard law school this spring, will be at home in the autumn, a welcome addition to the ranks of extra men so in evidence at American debut parties. London debutantes have no long stag lines to give them a whirl, for there is a dearth of young men in London, we hear.

Dicks Will Show Ponies in East.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert B. Dick left yesterday for Atlantic City to be there for the opening tonight of the horse show in which their string of fine harness ponies will be exhibited. The Atlantic City show closes Saturday night, but the Dicks will remain in the east to show their hackneys at the Devon show which starts on May 21 and runs through Memorial day. Then Mr. and Mrs. Dick will come home to Lake Forest, bringing with them, undoubtedly, more ribbons to add to their already large collection, for their harness ponies are winners.

Mr. Dick is the new president of the Lake Forest Horse Show association, so he will be exceedingly busy from the time he returns from Devon until the Lake Forest show opens on June 22.

Mrs. Clover Stephen to Be June Bride.

Of interest is news that Mrs. Clover W. Stephen and P. Harvey Middleton have been telling their friends that they are going to be married next month. Mrs. Stephen is a daughter of a nonagenarian, Charles H. Wilson, who celebrated his 91st birthday a few months ago, and a sister of Mrs. Daniel P. Trude. Mrs. Stephen is living at the Drake hotel.

Mr. Middleton, who was born in Portsmouth, England, came to the United States in 1907 and has been living in Chicago for the last few years, also at the Drake. A former newspaper man, he now devotes his time to writing. "Railways of Thirty Nations" is the title of his most recent book. After a wedding trip through Canada, Mr. Middleton and his bride will return to Chicago to make their home at the Drake.

Roberts Nuptials Take Place June 1.

Miss Eleanor Roberts, daughter of Mrs. Charles S. Roberts of 202 East Walton street, has chosen June 1 as the date for her wedding to Dr. Samuel Gale Taylor III., son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Gale Taylor. She will be married at 4:30 o'clock at the Fortnightly club, with a reception following at the club.

Miss Roberts has asked Mrs. Louis S. Hardin to be her matron of honor, and Miss Gertrude Smith, a niece, and Miss Julia Drake to be her bridesmaids. Winthrop Taylor will be best man for his brother, and the ushers will be Mr. Hardin, Dr. Douglas Boyd, and John Beadle.

Mr. and Mrs. Latham Castle will give a dinner party next Sunday for Miss Roberts and Dr. Taylor. Mr. and Mrs. John Beadle and Mr. and Mrs. William Vail will give a picnic party on May 22 for them at the Vails' farm, west of Lake Forest.

On May 18 Mr. and Mrs. Winthrop Taylor will give a dinner party for Miss Roberts and Dr. Taylor, and on Flower freshness of appearance isn't accidental. It's achieved by the most careful attention to a thousand and one details of exquisite grooming.

Several books could be written on the simple subject of how to be neat. But here, in as compact a form as we can get them, are some suggestions that should be taken to heart by any woman who wants to look flower fresh:

Hair is important. Don't ever go past the ten day limit without a shampoo. Unclean hair is unattractive, untidy, and often downright offensive.

Use a deodorant every day, or at least often enough to insure being on the completely safe side. This is especially important in warm weather or during seasons when you wear woolen dresses.

◆

Use clean powder puffs and keep the contents of your pocketbook in order. Never pull out a dingy handkerchief. Carry a "spare" every day.

Watch the shine on your shoes and the state of the heels. Keep a suede brush handy for suede shoes and part with the dime for a shine if you wear lether ones.

◆

Wear clean hose. One day is the limit. Soiled hose bag and wrinkle and often have an odor that is noticeable.

Keep your eyebrows groomed.

Refresh your makeup at least twice during the day and be sure to remove the old before you decide to don the new. A dingy face is never charming.

◆

Don't put perfume on clothes. It gets stale. Use it only on flesh or on washable touches such as handkerchiefs or lingerie.

Keep your nails in order and your gloves spotless.

Use cologne in quantities. Cologne has a basic fragrance that is beautifully clean. ELEANOR NANGLE.

Women Voters Plead for New State Charter

BY BETTY BROWNING.

The Illinois League of Women Voters worked hard and played hard at the opening day of its 17th annual convention yesterday in Winnetka.

Work came first. At luncheon Mrs. Florence Fifer Bohrer of Bloomington, pioneer league leader and for eight years a state senator, described the present Illinois state constitution as "so cluttered up with details it is almost unworkable." Other league leaders reinforced her criticism. Followed department conferences and a board meeting.

◆

Then at dinner came the fun. The rare opportunity "to see ourselves as others see us" was given Mrs. George G. Bogert, Illinois league president; Mrs. Laura Hughes Lunde, chairman of government and education; Mrs. W. W. Ramsey, director, and Mrs. Louise L. Wright, national chairman of government and foreign policy.

With Xanthippe, Queen Elizabeth, Queen Victoria, Amelia Bloomer, the woman's dress reformer; Emmeline Pankhurst, the first suffragette, and "Eleanor Roosevelt Roosevelt, most modern of the lot," they took their place in an amusing "essay in light verse" dedicated to "the champions who fought the early fights that won for us our present women's rights."

Mrs. Walter T. Fisher of Winnetka, the author, who is newly elected national treasurer of the league and the mother of six children, read the verses while one by one her heroines stepped from the pages of a book.

Nominated and unopposed as candidates were Mrs. Ramsey, Mrs. Guy Alan Tawney and Mrs. Archer Taylor for vice president and Mrs. Francis E. Broomell for secretary.

ENGAGEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond E. Daniels of 4828 Kimbark avenue announce the engagement of their daughter, Helen, to Walter D. Monroe Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter D. Monroe of 4811 Kenwood avenue. Good Morning!

"Once a bandmaster, always a bandmaster," seems, broadly speaking, to be the slogan of producers re the casting of Fred MacMurray. For again, as in "Champagne Waltz" and "Swing High, Swing Low" he waves a mean baton and, this time, leads an orchestra from oblivion on an excursion boat plying the Great Lakes to glory in Hollywood's celebrated night club, "Cocoanut Grove."

Besides being a band leader, Johnny Prentice is the adopted papa of a small, smart boy, Half Pint, who, as the story opens, is attracting attention of juvenile authorities who say he must either go to school, have a teacher or ELSE . . . !—Which brings Miss Harriet Hilliard into the scheme of things, for, as one Linda Rogers, she answers Johnny's ad for a teacher and is promptly installed as mentor and nurse for the tiny tad.

◆

She turns out to be a lady Columbus — discovering that the piano player is a composer of sweet, original songs sure to bring the band fame—if sung by herself—for this remarkable possessor of a teacher's diploma at one time also has been a professional singer . . . ! In addition she's the K. I. T. P. the boys have needed to get 'em going, for they are about to disband when she brings them glad tidings about the penchant of the genial manager of "Cocoanut Grove" for giving unknown musical units tryouts . . . and jobs—if they qualify.

And so to Hollywood, by various means of locomotion, et cetera, regarding which the picture shall inform you. . . . The road is long and beset with difficulties hard and hilarious, but where there are many wills there are many ways. And so to a triumphant finale.

◆

The film is a lively, entertaining opus, handing prominent and deserved "spots" to Rufe Davis and the biggest and best looking of the Yacht Club Boys. Don't know his name, but he looks to me like a comer. Mr. MacMurray turns out a slick performance. Ben Blue and Rufe Davis provide some good comedy, and all other supporting players are fine. Miss Hilliard, Mr. MacMurray's co-star, I can't care for.

"Cocoanut Grove" is cleverly staged, directed, dialogued, and photographed. It hands out a lot of laughs and considerable catchy music.

See you tomorrow.

Varied White Hats Sprightly with Dark Togs

BY RHEA SEEGER.

The white hats are in—ready to wear with dull black linen daytime dresses or with dark sheers. Small snappy things made of pique aren't much bigger than a pan lid and perch in sprightly fashion atop your head.

They are held in place with a neat back band of the same material as the hat or sometimes have a wisp of vivid green veiling or an eye shadow of black or brown or deep blue veiling. White chenille dots sprinkled over either a white or black veil cover devastating flat sailor hats with medium wide brims and flat crowns.

◆

Big upturned white hats, copied from the successful dark Breton hats, make dashing tops for dark clothes, whether of stiff and starched pique or dead white fine straw. Despite the fact they look bigger and more spectacular with white, they're tremendously effective with pencil slim black and dark tone dresses or with the finely plaited black chiffon skirt dresses.

Tiny toques of white flowers, daisies, valley lilies, gladiolus, and any other white blossoms make coquettish decorative cocktail hats to be worn with or without veils.

The smartest hats in all white are the medium brimmed affairs designed to be all-purpose headpieces for summer wear. These come in chalk white felt, in linens, cotton mesh, corded silk, rough and smooth straw, braid and coarse white lace. Brims are easy to wear, crowns stay anchored securely to the headline, and they are so made that they can be worn with all the items of a summer wardrobe.

◆

They may be dressed up or down with veils, hat pins, or left unadorned to wear with tailored daytime and street dresses. White cartwheels are reserved for country and garden party wear. They're picturesque and alluring and come in transparent as well as opaque straws and fabrics. The best looking models are trimmed simply with velvet ribbon or old fashioned picot edge grosgrain ribbon hanging in streamers down the back.

Looking at Hollywood by Ed Sullivan

Hollywood Index.

Hollywood, Cal., May 9. — Most amusing studio sidelight: At Paramount, where only the office boys' bicycle racks are lettered as "Mr. Johnson," "Mr. Samuels," etc. They're the only misters on the lot. . . . Most exciting comeback of recent weeks: That of Hoofer Sammy White in "Golden Boy." . . . Greatest night club entertainer in the business, Joe Lewis. It used to be Harry Richman. . . . Most enjoyable Hollywood formal affair of the last six months, the Tri-Guild ball. . . . Best photography of the month, those technicolor shots of cavalry riding through Sherwood Forest stream in the Errol Flynn flicker. . . . Best screen parody of recent months, the Ritzes' takeoff on "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," in their latest. . . . Silliest executive order of the week: That major studio command to all stenographers to cut down on carbon paper. No kidding. . . . Most amusing scene, Irene Dunne on roller skates in "Joy of Living."

Screen youngster who annoys me most, Bobby Breen. He tries too hard to be boyish. . . . Actress who has made the steadiest advance, Olivia De Havilland. . . . Publicity newcomer who has done the finest job, Bob Taplinger, at Warners'. . . . Most famous secretary in town, Carole Lombard's "Fieldsie" [outside of Simone's secretary, of course]. . . . Smartest chap in this town, Maxie Rosenbloom, who collects shekels acting as a fall guy. . . . Most striking on the ears and eyes: The trafic light bells, and the starched hoop skirts of the Brown Derby waitresses. . . . Youngster who will travel a long way, Bonita Granville. . . . Most unusual sight in town, the oil well that stands in the middle of La Cienago boulevard. . . . Comeback that most delighted the colony, that of John Barrymore.

Best golfer among the actors, Bing Crosby. . . . Most interesting casting, Alan Hale's appearance in "Adventures of Robin Hood," in the same rôle he played in the silents fifteen years ago. . . . The industry's greatest problem: Finding leading men. The good ones get so much they only make a few pictures a year and are thus often unavailable. . . . Best news story out of Hollywood, the $340,000 poker game.

Most delayed picture of season, Norma Shearer's "Marie Antoinette." . . . Actor who's come along fastest in the last six months, Douglas Fairbanks Jr. . . . Actress who startled the town most, Mae West, by cracking vaudeville records. [Remember way back when we believed that broadcast would ruin her?] . . . Personal nomination for Academy award performances, Deanna Durbin and Herbert Marshall in "Mad About Music." [If Marshall doesn't get the award for best supporting performance, there's no justice.] . . . Star most neglected by his studio, Allan Jones at M-G-M. . . . Most photographed curves of the cinema colony, those of Dorothy Lamour. . . . Daffiest publicity, that won by Stanley Laurel. . . . Best radio actor, Don Ameche. . . . Outstanding production record of the year, that compiled by Darryl Zanuck.

Studio head who gets the least publicity, Warners' modest Hal Wallis . . . Suavest of the screen villains, Basil Rathbone, as the commissar in "Tovarich." . . . Most baffling personal mystery: Why "Stage Door" received no Academy recognition. . . . Add bore dept.: The continued publicity on Martha Raye's legs. I know a lot of girls who have them . . . Most shocking story of the year revealed in Jackie Coogan's suit . . . most accurate summation of Hollywood, Andre Charlot's two line explanation: "Out here in Hollywood, when they say 'We must get together,' it means good-by forever."

◆

Performer who never turns in a poor performance, Robert Young . . . Romance that stirred the greatest newspaper lineage, the Garbo-Stokowski throb. . . . The girl who plays the meanest rôles in town, Bette Davis. She was just a nice kid in "Jezebel." George Brent rates a bow for his performance in that same picture. Ditto Donald Crisp as the doctor. . . . And veteran Charles Coburn as the doctor in "Of Human Hearts." . . . Not to forget Thomas Mitchell's doctor rôle in "Hurricane."

Picture I'd like to see: One in which Mickey Rooney played Spencer Tracy's kid brother. Eighty-seven scripts will be penned around that idea before the end of the week. . . Most surprising performance, the interpretation of Betty Furness in "Golden Boy." Nobody thought she had it in her. . . . Add Hollywood lookers: Hedy La Marr, who is on Reginald Gardiner's line. . . . Director who gets the most publicity: Mike Curtiz, who has swiped the dialectian concession from Sam Goldwyn. . . . Goldwyn burried the fable of his strangled speech at New York when he gave out that "entrenched mediocrity" interview. The town is still gasping. . . . Cutest fadeout, the scene in "The Awful Truth," when the little dancing dolls went back into the clock together.

◆

Nicest gesture, that of the Jack Haleys in adopting a ten year old boy, so he wouldn't be sent back to an orphan asylum. You've got to have luck for things like that. . . . Artist who has received the greatest attention, Alex Templeton, at the Coconut Grove. . . . Most enthusiastic writer, Mrs. Edward G. Robinson, who's doing a column. . . . Most charitable guy in town, Joe Penner. . . . ranking right behind him, George Raft, who runs himself ragged trying to get jobs for people. . . . Actor who's taken off the most weight, Jack Oakie. . . . Actress who's taken off the most poundage, Virginia Bruce. . . . Girl with the tiniest waist, Mary Livingstone. . . . Kid who has the most headaches, young Freddie Bartholomew. Everybody sues him. . . . Add mirth-provokers, the scene in "Bringing Up Baby," when Cary Grant stepped on Katie Hepburn's dress and ripped out the rear of it. . . . Happiest fellow in Hollywood, Byron Selznick, whose "Can't Wait" took down third money in the Kentucky Derby.

Unfamiliar Faces

By Alice Grant Rosman

[Copyright: 1938: By Alice Grant Rosman.]

SYNOPSIS.

Elizabeth Sandal is shocked to find her son, Oliver, and her daughter, Dorothea, resent their father's will that unexpectedly left a fortune to her and did not mention them. Dorothea wants to have her own London flat. Oliver hopes to marry into wealth. Elizabeth goes off to Switzerland for a change and rest. En route she stops overnight in Paris where she meets Andrew Leicester, who was a groom at her wedding. Andrew, a widower, is returning to England after years of absence, and is to meet his children in Paris. William, his son, lives with a bachelor relative. His daughter, Shirley, is with his wife's relatives.

INSTALMENT VIII.

A YOUNG REBEL.

Elizabeth gathered that Andrew was trying to reassure himself and suspected the relatives-in-law had been making use of him.

"Was the arrangement a success?" she asked.

"Hm, I wonder. The fact is I'm a good deal worried. I had no complaints about Shirley from any of them until a few months ago, and then a deal too many. It seems the little fool had an affair with a young airman unknown to the family—she was with her great-aunt at the time—and the first thing any one knew about it was when the pair of them crashed in his plane and the fact was reported in the newspapers. . . . They were not hurt, but the lad was engaged to a girl in the neighborhood who promptly broke it off, and the place was made too hot for Shirley by her family, who were furious. I should think nothing of the escapade in itself, I am no great-aunt—but cutting in on another girl is a different matter."

"How did she herself explain it?" she asked.

"To me? Not at all, not by a word. But she seems to have been thoroughly defiant and unmanageable. I had meant to retire shortly and I speeded things up and came home straight away, but if I am going to be faced with a rebellious little rotter the prospects are not rosy."

"You can't think her that whoever else does," protested Elizabeth warmly, though her heart misgave her.

"No." He seemed to count upon her opinion and looked relieved. "You don't know what a help it has been to talk it over," he said. "I know next to nothing of young girls, but you have a daughter of your own. . . ."

"What of the young airman?" she rather hastily interrupted.

"O, her grandmother, to whom she was sent, put a stop to the affair, and she hasn't seen him again as far as any one knows. . . . I suppose you must go on to Montreux tomorrow, Mrs. Sandal? I wish to God you would stay and see me through their first evening."

"Indeed I shall do nothing of the kind," she exclaimed. "Why, you have done the one sensible thing in sending for them to meet you alone. Don't be cowardly."

She held to her point, endeavoring to cheer him and in fact succeeding, though after she had said good-night and good-by his problem as well as her own accompanied her upstairs, each seeming to sustain the other.

Elizabeth's train left at an early hour next morning yet when she went down Andrew Leicester was already up and waiting to take her to the station.

He had the traveler's knack of getting quick service and she was soon installed in an empty carriage with every prospect of being undisturbed on the journey. The guard's sympathies has been engaged by Leicester with a substantial tip. Just before the train began to move, she said:

"I hope it will be all right. Of course it will. . . . I wish there had been something I could have done to help. . . .

"You've done wonders," he assured her warmly. "Perhaps you will let me report progress. . . ."

. . . .

Some hours earlier that morning Shirley Leicester boarded a workman's train for London, her aunt, Jay Mortimer, panting behind her and shivering with disgust at the draughty and none too clean carriage.

"Well, it's your own fault. You would come," snapped the girl aggressively to her exhausted relative.

"But of course, darling," said the other placatingly. "I had to think of your grandmother. It was the only way to manage her. . . . It's just that you walk so fast and I am such a mite in comparison. You don't realize."

Miss Leicester's expression seemed to suggest that she not only realized perfectly but had done it on purpose, though she did not trouble to say so. She was five feet nine, slim and beautifully fair, with that fairness which cannot be counterfeited, and even the mixture of contempt, defiance and resentment in her face could not entirely mar the radiance which belonged to it.

William was due to reach Euston from Northumberland soon after 7 o'clock, and Shirley was going to meet him. She had fought a battle royal with her grandmother and won by the simple expedient of announcing that either she would meet William's train or she would not go to Paris at all, father or no father. As it was clearly impossible to use force to put her on board the Continental express, Miss Mortimer had calmed her mother by saying that she would take Shirley to meet William.

"Take indeed?" Shirley had thought fiercely. "Take!"

It had been an unfortunate word, but Miss Mortimer, between calming her mother and placating the rebel had had very little time to choose her expressions with the tact she would have desired.

Andrew was coming home and she wanted him to know that she had done her best in a difficult situation. After all poor little Shirley couldn't altogether be blamed as she would remind him. It was the early upbringing.

Though satisfied with the excellence of her own intentions, Miss Mortimer perhaps thought they needed a little advertising to the other party to the dispute who had coldly withdrawn to the opposite end of the carriage.

"Don't worry too much, darling, if your father is a wee bit stern at first," she advised the girl. "We'll soon bring him around."

"You do make me laugh," said Miss Leicester bitterly.

Silence descended upon them after that. Miss Mortimer discouraged, sunk in the collar of her fur coat and dozed.

Shirley had turned her back to watch the flashing landscape and the dawn—miles and miles of orchards in full bloom under a translucent sky, hedges vivid with young green, petals snowing the grasses. She was thinking of her brother William. She could see him opening the telegram yesterday—or even last night, coming in late with Roger from the moors, but anyway enjoying the turn of events, leaping up the old staircase to his room, flinging clothes in all directions, racing time as he bathed and dressed and dined to catch the train for London. Old Mrs. Mackie packing his bags, with half the household hovering to help him; and Roger would peer through his glasses benevolently, hands in pockets, to produce at the last moment a thumping tip.

O, lovely lost Uplands, where every wind blew free! It seemed to her that she could recall the thrill of every separate arrival and departure, old Mackie's embraces and Roger's incredulous: "What holidays already?" or "off again, are you?"—back to the far-off days when they had traveled in charge of Duguid, the guard, acquiring thereby privileges which somehow had continued to prevail. . . . Such as window seats in the restaurant car, however full the train might be; a smiling hint to cut along early from a uniformed figure as he passed the door. Days when they couldn't read the bill of fare and anxiously sought advice, turning their heads away later as they paid for the meal in case the added sixpence they had been told to give embarrass the friendly waiter; exciting and ridiculous days when a deferential voice said "Coffee, sir," to a William verging on eleven.

Fun it had been whether coming or going in the trains to the north, with the prospect of Uplands before them, or its memories behind.

Child's Sense of Security Lies in Parent

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

[Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

How can I stress enough the fact that a little child's security is a vital need in his life? What can I do or say to make this vivid?

I want especially to make it clear that your child's sense of security has its roots in you—in his father and mother. His world stands or falls by you, what you do and what you are. You must be his Rock of Gibraltar. If you are, gradually he will find security within himself; and with maturity will come an all-around self-reliance, and an ability to judge people, and to know where to place his faith and where not to.

* * *

While he's young your word and your actions must be clear and dependable. Consistency in handling him, loyalty, and keeping your promises are among the things which give him solid ground beneath his feet.

There is one situation I haven't yet mentioned which holds a threat to a child's security—a rather deep threat, too, and that is when a mother leaves home without the little boy or girl knowing she is not coming back. In order to spare a child immediate unhappiness a mother will sometimes go off to the hospital to have her baby, or an operation, without telling all about it beforehand.

"Helping the Nervous Child," etc., will be sent to you upon receipt of a self-addressed, stamped envelope. Address your request to Mrs. Gladys Bevans, The Chicago Tribune, Chicago, Ill.

The Housewife

Laundry hampers are becoming works of art. So artistic are they, with hand painted flower designs and pastel tinted backgrounds, that they make charming gifts for the bride-to-be. Then, too, you can get waste baskets to match if you wish.

Some we greatly admired, the other day, were not of the conventional laundry hamper shape at all, but were made in long, slender cylinders. They were of metal and were perforated in back for ventilation. Then, they were painted pale tints of turquoise, of peach, of yellow and of green, and trimmed in white.

The flower designs were of graceful white calla lilies, or of little white field flowers. The matching waste baskets were oval in shape.

Oily Skin Best Treated with Cold Rinses

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

If you have any tendency toward skin troubles, this is the time of year when you experience a great sense of discomfort over blemishes of this sort and that.

* * *

We talked the other day of clearing the face of blackheads and avoiding thereby the next stage, pimples. Let me repeat that a blackhead allowed to remain in the skin is the basis of pimple and acne trouble. You have to keep the face so scrubbed and cleansed that a blackhead can't lodge in the pores and become a future trouble maker. I beg you younger women to note this. A blackhead isn't harmless. Look upon it always as a potential, nasty little blemish.

Now, today, let's talk about oily skin and what to do for it.

Our first caution is to keep away from oily facial preparations. Leave them for the time being to your dry-skinned sister. She needs the oiling. You certainly do not.

* * *

I am offering you as first aid, last aid, and all-time aid for oily skin the same thorough face cleansing with soap and water and cold, cold rinses that I suggested for the blackhead-infested skin.

Or, if you find it inconvenient several times a day to scrub and rinse in warm water and then in cold water, have an astringent lotion on hand. Take a piece of clean cotton and wipe the face with the astringent. Once a week, say, you may indulge in a mask treatment.

Suitor Planning Future, but Girl Seeks Pleasures

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

"Brick" is a hard working young fellow whose heart got more than a little involved a few months ago with a girl named Helen. They both are around 23. Brick tells that he went for the girl in a great big way. She's pretty, the kind a fellow likes to be seen out with. But Brick is a hard working fellow, as said, and he intends to get somewhere before he is through.

* * *

Behind Helen's pretty face there appears to be a lazy-girl attitude, from Brick's point of view now. Her parents just got by without Helen having had to work.

She is not the type of girl, Brick further discovers, who offers her parents either a helping hand around home or any noticeable gratitude.

Brick asks if Helen appears to us to be the kind of girl who would chip in, help, share both good and bad.

* * *

We do not know, Brick. You can't always tell about women. The most unlikely of them have been known to turn from merely decorative objects to helpmeets of the first order. It depends upon how much she really loves you, Brick, and whether you are the kind of man who will continue spoiling the girl as her people are now doing, or not.

But if you've doubts, Brick, you'd better give yourself plently of time for the momentous decision.

PETERMAN'S DISCOVERY

Urges a World Union of Churches to Aid Suffering Millions

UTRECHT, The Netherlands, May 9.—(AP)—An appeal to all churches to bury their differences and unite for an attack on mutual problems tonight opened an international conference called to lay the foundation for a world council of churches.

Dr. John R. Mott of New York, chairman of the international missionary council, made the appeal at a public meeting in Utrecht's massive Presbyterian cathedral.

He drew a pessimistic picture of a world shaken by wars and threats of wars and "unexampled sufferings by many millions of people" and of "the suspicion and dread of grave international misunderstandings."

The archbishop of York was elected chairman of the conference.

The projected world council would unite as many Protestant groups as possible in a world-wide church structure for greater religious coöperation and influence.

The conference sprang from the Edinburgh faith and order and the Oxford world life and work conferences last summer.

Two Debutantes Will Make Bows at June Parties

May 26 Mr. and Mrs. Taylor will entertain for their son and future daughter-in-law. Mr. and Mrs. Hardin will give a party for the young couple, but no date has been set for it.

Pre-nuptial Parties for Miss Eleanor Lippincott.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Hill Latham Jr. are arriving today from Palm Beach, Fla., to be here for the wedding next Monday of Mrs. Latham's cousin, Miss Eleanor Lippincott, to Chester N. Goltra. Mrs. Latham is to be the bride's only attendant. Mr. Goltra's cousin, Sidney Goltra, who is to be best man, and his wife and her mother, Mrs. Dwight Hinckley, will arrive from Cincinnati on Saturday or Sunday.

The wedding is to take place at 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon in the chapel of the First Methodist Episcopal church in Evanston, with a reception following at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard R. Lippincott, in Wilmette. Mr. Goltra and his bride will be at home in Evanston after a wedding trip.

Mrs. Raymond Darby of Winnetka, whose daughter is married to the bride's brother, Hall Lippincott, gave a kitchen shower and tea yesterday afternoon for Miss Lippincott, and Betty Archer is giving a bridge party and pantry shower at home in Evanston this afternoon. The Ralph Angells are entertaining at cocktails Saturday afternoon; Mrs. Norman Norse is giving a dinner, and Mr. and Mrs. Lippincott are giving the bridal dinner Sunday at the Shawnee Country club.

Richard Searleses Parents of Son.

A son, their first child, was born on Sunday to Mr. and Mrs. Richard D. Searles of Winnetka at the Evanston hospital. The baby has been named Warren Lamson Searles for his grandfather. Mrs. Searles is the former Miss Virginia Lamson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren A. Lamson.

Miss Phoebe Massey is leaving today for a month in Mexico, after welcoming home from their wedding trip her cousin, Stewart Boal, and his bride, the former Miss Susan Ballard. She will visit her brother, George B. Massey Jr., and his wife, who recently moved into a larger house in Mexico City. Other Winnetka householders there, but temporary ones, are the former Jane de Peyster and her bridegroom, John M. Van Beuren, of New York.

The Robert J. Thornes, who have moved to their Lake Forest home for the summer, are giving a family houseparty. Mr. and Mrs. Alexander B. Spence [Laura Thorne] and their two children arrived last week by motor from Arizona, and the George Gillespies [Katharine Thorne] are arriving today, also by motor, from their ranch near Phoenix.

Two Important Orchestra Meetings.

Today will be a busy day for Mrs. Bartholomay Osborne, for she is attending three important meetings, but tomorrow she will be able to rest, for she leaves then for a week's visit with her son, Nathan, at the Berkshire school in New York. At noon today Mrs. Osborne will attend the annual meeting of the Orchestral association, the governing body of the Chicago Symphony orchestra. It will be held at the Blackstone hotel.

At 3 o'clock Mrs. Osborne will preside at a meeting of the woman's committee of the orchestra in the directors' room of the Orchestra hall offices, and at 5 o'clock she will assist her mother, Mrs. Henry Bartholomay, in greeting members of the Grant hospital boards who will meet at the Bartholomay home in State parkway to discuss plans for a fund campaign for the hospital.

The woman's committee of the orchestra will not discontinue its intensive work to dispose of tickets for next season's concerts until the second week in June.

Fashion Tea to Be Held Today.

Today brings the summer fashion tea planned by the social service committee of St. James' church. It will be given at 3 o'clock at the Woman's Athletic club. Mrs. Clarence A. McCarthy and Mrs. George Wilson are co-chairmen of the committee.

Dr. Max Clauss, editor of the German news service, "Dienst aus Deutschland," will discuss "German Foreign Policy—1938" [as seen from the German viewpoint] today at a luncheon meeting of the Chicago Council on Foreign Relations. The meeting will be held in the grand ballroom of the Palmer house.

Young Soloist

[Maurice Seymour Photo.]

Allene Cunningham, 16, a coloratura soprano, will be a soloist with the Carl Craven Ladies' chorus in its annual concert in Kimball hall tonight. Another juvenile artist to be presented by Mr. Craven is Goodwin Samuel, 12, a pianist.

Helps Plan Bargain Ball

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Mrs. Stuart Dawson will be hostess to a meeting of the North Shore junior board of Northwestern University Settlement tomorrow morning. The board is planning a bargain ball for June 4 in the grand ballroom of the Stevens hotel at which a feature of the entertainment will be a colorful Polish wedding scene by the Settlement.

According to CULBERTSON

A DISPUTED HAND.

[Copyright: 1938: By Ely Culbertson.]

"Dear Mr. Culbertson: The following hand, which occurred in a team of four match, should provide a theme for one of your enlightening newspaper discourses. Practically every person with whom I have discussed this hand has approved of my partner's action in the bidding. Yet I am so certain that I know the Culbertson system that I have offered to bet them 5 to 1 that they are wrong. At the same time I feel like a rose amongst a bunch of thorns. Here is the hand and you are the doctor:

"South, dealer.

"Neither side vulnerable.

"The bidding:

NORTH
♠8 6
♥A K 10 9 8
♦J 10 9
♣A 10 5

WEST
♠K J 7 5 4
♥4 3
♦7 2
♣Q J 9 3

EAST
♠10 9 8 3 2
♥Q 5
♦8 6 3

SOUTH
♠A Q
♥J 7 6 2
♦A K Q 5 4
♣K 8

South	West	North	East
1 diamond	Pass	1 heart	Pass
4 hearts	Pass	Pass	Pass

"Now for the arguments. My partner, North, and his cohorts claimed that my four heart jump was a definite "stop bid" showing distribution and not much honor strength. It was their contention that had I bid three hearts North should and would have used the four-five no trump convention. My side of the picture was simply this: That my partner's one heart bid might have been a borderline takeout and that I couldn't afford his passing any bid I made short of game. I felt my honor strength was a shade too weak for a game force in any other suit and therefore adopted the [to me] very strong bid of four hearts.

"In my circle there seems to be an impression that if South opens the bidding with one club, let us say, and North responds with one heart a three heart bid by South is now an absolute game force, and in the North position these players will bid game in their own suit or no trump with no further values in their hand. Please write an article and straighten them out. Yours truly,

"R. W. V."

Gee whiz, I can't write another article on this subject so soon after the thousand words I gave it in my column on Jan. 9. This precise situation was involved in question No. 49 of the National Bridge examination. I explained that the average player confuses two superficially similar but actually different situations, to wit:

[a] South [dealer]	North	[b] South [dealer]	North
1 heart	1 spade	1 heart	4 hearts
4 spades

In [a] South opened the bidding and therefore presumably had a hand with defensive strength. When his partner responded with one spade, a noncommittal one-over-one, South was strong enough to say, "I don't care how weak your spade response is I think there is a good play for game in spades." If South were to raise to only three spades the message would be, "Besides having an opening heart bid I have very good spade support, so if you have better than a minimum one-over-one response please go to game in spades."

In sequence [b] it is quite another matter. Again South has opened the bidding with one heart and has shown defensive as well as playing strength. But now it is North, the responder, who jumps all the way to game in South's bid suit. Here North's hand is an unknown quantity. He has not already advertised defensive strength and therefore presumably his raise is distributional and very limited in honor tricks.

To refer to the hand submitted, North's pass was horrible. He had an excellent hand and should not have failed to employ the four-five no trump convention. My correspondent is sustained in all particulars.

Warm Colors Make News in Ponsen Exhibit

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

The All-Illinois Society of the Fine Arts is sponsoring a show of paintings by Tunis Ponsen at the Drake hotel.

Mr. Ponsen has long been one of our more intelligent and diligent painters. He has shown in many exhibitions and has received various honors. For a time one associated his name with canvases which were rather melancholy in character—rainy days seemed to have a fascination for him—and when he got a rainy day in conjunction with a nice wet expanse of tranquil lake, Mr. Ponsen was right in his element. There was nothing he could do about it but paint it, and then we had another moment of tranquil pathos to live through, even though our enthusiasm for his picture was real.

In the present exhibition this passion for grays is enlarged to a sincere liking of clear, warm colors and from a narrow stroke Mr. Ponsen has loosened his technique into a rolling, nonchalant freedom that lends itself admirably to the painting of landscape. The "Rolling Hills" is probably the best illustration of this departure of the painter's talent.

Mr. Ponsen has a delightful sense of composition and of contrast. One of his most brilliant canvases is "A Rainy Day," where, from inside a warm, dry room replete with comfort [a state symbolized by an open book on the window-seat and a still smoking cigaret in an ash-tray], one looks out upon a brisk April morning with young leaves on the trees and a fresh spring rain slanting down the street to the dismay of two young persons who are caught in it.

Tulips in Michigan Are Blooming Early; Festival on Saturday

Holland, Mich., May 9.—[Special.]—Thousands of visitors came to Holland this last week-end for the annual tulip display. While the tulip program will not open officially until next Saturday, with a street scrubbing scene, the tulips are now at their best. They are blooming earlier than usual this year.

Many children in Dutch costume are attending beds of tulips in the boulevards and pose for the camera, as requested by travelers.

BY NANCY CABOT.

This particular pieced pattern, "Flying Birds," is a born and bred midwesterner. Its original birthplace is unknown, but Illinois, Indiana, and Kentucky claim credit for its creation. The pattern is comparatively new, but is an easy one to piece, so that the inexperienced needleworker will have no difficulty in setting the patches together. When finished the square measures 12¼ inches and thirty pieced blocks are set together with four inch bands of white material between blocks. A six inch border and a half inch bias binding surround the quilt, which measures 90 by 107 inches when completed.

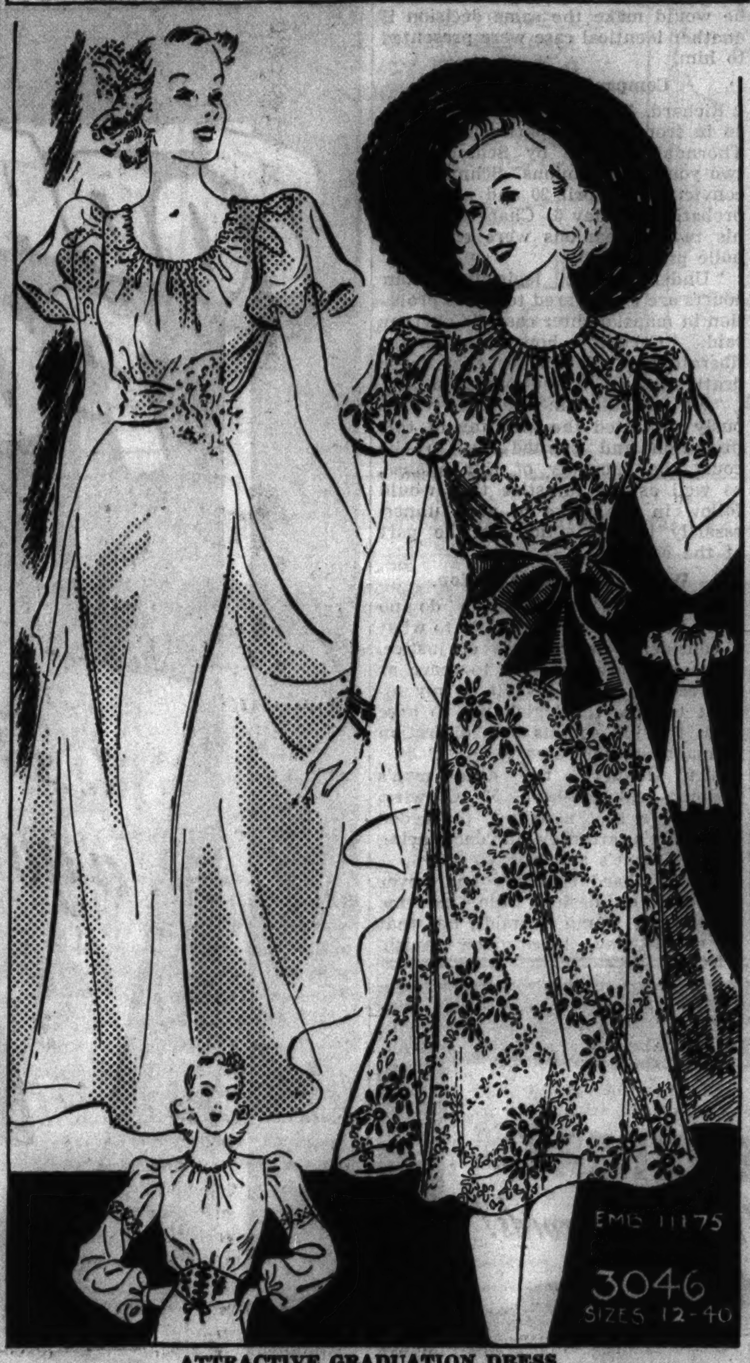
Demure Graduation Dress



ATTRACTIVE GRADUATION DRESS.

The sweet and demure graduation dress illustrated today is an easy pattern you may use for that most important of June frocks. The sketch at the left shows how the dress probably will be made for most commencement exercises, since they usually are rather formal and a long length is desirable. The neckline is rather low and round, while the shirring emanating from it is in keeping with the puffiness of the sleeves. The soft sash should be adorned with a nosegay or corsage [which probably will be furnished by the girl's "best" beau!]. The skirt is graceful and full. Silk or cotton sheers in pastels or white undoubtedly will be the choice.

If you're not graduating, and like the dress tremendously anyway, you can make it for parties during the summer. You may create it in shorter length, too, of course, for informal wear. In this version soft prints are excellent, and the fabric may be sheer or silk. You may even employ a bit of embroidery to give the dress a peasant touch. The pattern for this is No. E-11175, and is available for 10 cents extra.

Style No. 3046 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20 years, and 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, and 40 inches bust measurement.

Rice is a happy thought for many a woman whose food budget has become shrunken and inelastic. Rice is a cheap but nourishing food, and one may cook a little meat with it and please a family as much as with a roast.

I have selected these rice recipes especially for the family which must watch carefully the pennies which go for food.

Rice and Beef Hash

[Serves 4]

1 cup cooked rice
1 cup cooked leftover beef
1 cup milk
2 tablespoons butter
Salt, pepper
1 egg
1 minced onion

Stir rice, chopped beef, milk, butter, and seasonings together and mix in the well beaten egg. Turn hash into a greased baking dish and bake for 20 minutes at moderate temperature, 350 degrees.

Rice with Dried Peas

[Serves 6]

2 cups dried peas, soaked overnight
1 piece salt pork
1 cup rice [uncooked]
2 tablespoons butter
Salt, pepper

Cook peas with salt pork, keeping them as whole as possible. Let the liquid almost evaporate when the peas are done. Rice should be cooked separately until tender. Combine the peas and rice, season with butter, and salt and pepper to taste. Chopped onion may be added if desired.

Rice with Green Pepper.

[Serves 6]

3 cups cooked rice
2 green peppers, chopped
1 small onion, minced
3 tablespoons bacon fat or butter
3 tablespoons catsup
1 cup canned tomato juice
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper

Grease a casserole and turn the rice into it. Brown green pepper and onion in fat, add remaining ingredients and pour over rice. Mix in with a fork. Bake at 350 degrees, moderate heat, for 20 to 30 minutes. Leftover meat, chopped, may be added to this recipe, or raw ground beef may be browned in the fat with onion and green pepper, and included. More salt will be needed in the latter case.

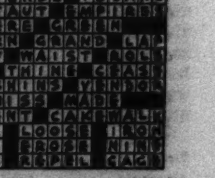
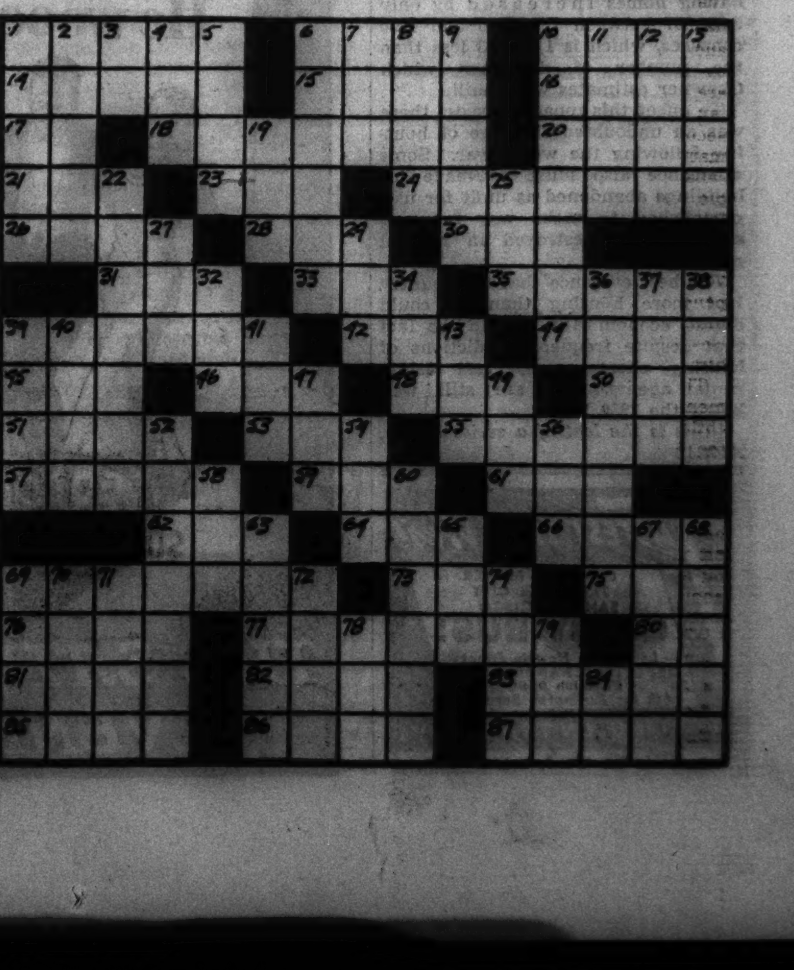
YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE SOLVED





PUBLIC HOUSING NEEDS BASED ON MERE GUESSES

Real Statistics Lacking, Official Confesses.

BY JOSEPH ATOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 9.—[Special.]—Recently an economist for one of the numerous government housing agencies in this city was asked what figures he had on a housing shortage in the United States.

"I can give you anything you want," he said, "calling for construction of from 500,000 up to 1,500,000 dwelling units a year."

"But have you any figures in which you believe yourself," he was asked.

"No," he said.

Lack Accurate Dwelling Data.

His attitude represented that of careful statisticians toward available building statistics in this country. To begin with, no one knows how many dwelling units there are today. The census counts only occupied dwellings, and, on the other hand, counts a houseboat or a tent as a dwelling. Nor can any one say with certainty how many dwelling units are built in any year. All that is available in that field is estimates based on factual data from certain cities.

With statistics on existing housing in this condition, it becomes plain that estimates of future needs, which involve piling guess on guess until the guesses are sometimes three and four deep, hardly can be worth the paper they are written on.

Green's Estimate on Needs.

President William Green of the American Federation of Labor, told a congressional committee last year that the United States would need 16,297,000 new homes by 1950, a span of thirteen years. He did not make his own estimate. It was furnished by some professional housers.

That particular estimate depended for its reliability not only on assumptions that housing now available is in much worse condition than factual surveys show, but upon the theory that the number of families in the country will tend to increase at a much greater rate than the total population.

Compare Two Estimates.

Much of the wishful thinking that the United States is ready for a housing boom is based on disparity between building in the 1920s and that during the present decade. Two reputable estimates of the amount of this building of nonfarm dwelling units are those of Lowell J. Chawner, senior economist in the department of commerce, and the national bureau of Economic Research. They are:

	1920-'29.	1930-'36.
Chawner	6,774,000	1,142,000
N. B. E. R.	7,034,000	1,107,000

Using Chawner's figures, an average of 677,000 dwelling units a year in the last decade as against an average of 163,000 a year since 1929, gives the implication that during the depression the nation has fallen behind on its building, and that an enormous deficiency exists.

Weak Point Described.

A weak point in any such argument has been pointed out by Thomas S. Holden, a leading statistician on building, who said:

"Construction demand, beyond ordinary repairs and replacements, comes from new needs. It is directly dependent upon those factors which represent economic expansion. Houses are not bought like hams, or consumed like hams. Per capita construction, favorite estimating device of some of our more imaginative statisticians, is as meaningless a term as the statistician's 'normal'."

This country saw an urban housing boom in the '20s because of a vast increase in urban population, above the normal excess of births over deaths, which is not being repeated in the present decade. Between the 1920 and the 1930 census, some 6,000,000 persons moved from farms to the cities, going into industry, and 4,295,510 immigrants landed in the United States.

Predict Stationary Population.

The effect of this was that nonfarm population increased 27 per cent in a decade, while the farm population, with a higher birth rate, increased only 4.7 per cent. During the depression, the farm to city movement was reversed, and today it is not significant. Immigration has dwindled to a trickle. Even the rate of natural population increases [excess of births over deaths] is declining.

Another factor which has slowed down building in recent years is the probability that the country overbuilt during the boom in the '20s. The number of nonfarm families having homes increased by only 5,254,667 between the 1920 and 1930 censuses, which is 1,519,333 less than the number of dwellings which Chawner estimates were built.

To offset this apparent excess, there was an undoubted shortage of housing following the world war. Some allowance also must be made for buildings abandoned as unfit for use, demolished to make way for new structures, or destroyed in natural catastrophes.

The best evidence that the country had more housing than it could digest, economically, lies in the fact that despite frequent predictions of housing shortages by real estate rental agents, rents are still well below the 1930 level.

GEM THIEF TRIES TO SHIELD WIFE; BOTH GET TERMS

CRIMINAL COURT.

Pedro De Leon Auellar, incest, sentenced to 1 to 20 years in the penitentiary; David Jack, indecent liberties with a child, sentenced to 1 to 20 years in the penitentiary by Judge Francis B. Allegretti.

Edward Druggan, John Jesse Jr., and John McHugh, robbery, sentenced to 1 to 20 years each in the penitentiary by Judge Joseph Sabath.

Eddie Manno, manslaughter, sentenced to 1 to 14 years in the penitentiary by Judge John C. Lewe.

Chief Justice Cornelius J. Harrington of the Criminal court yesterday sentenced Charles Garrett, 40 years old, to one to ten years for larceny, and his wife, Mildred, 24, to a year in the county jail.

Garrett, a former parolee from the federal prison at Atlanta, Ga., attempted to shield his wife by taking all the blame. They stole jewelry worth $3,300 from Mrs. Mary Wyatt, 831 Bonnie Brae avenue, River Forest, in September, 1936, after working for her as house servants for seven months.

The couple answered Mrs. Wyatt's advertisment in THE TRIBUNE. After fleeing with the jewelry they were traced to Fort Worth, Tex., and arrested there. All of the jewelry except a $2,200 bracelet has been recovered.

KILLED IN 3 STORY FALL.

Ben Czernauski, 62 years old, was killed yesterday in a fall from the third story of a building at 4339 South Hermitage avenue in which he lived. Czernauski was unemployed.

COURTNEY RAPS JUDGE WHO LET KILLER GO FREE

Widow of Victim Also Denounces Dunne.

It was a miscarriage of justice when Judge Robert Jerome Dunne placed Charles J. Schmidt Jr., convicted of manslaughter, on probation for two years, State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney charged yesterday. Schmidt, who is 19 years old, killed his father's business partner, Edward C. Richard, in an ambush last Feb. 24.

Judge Dunne replied to Courtney's criticism with the declaration that he would make the same decision if another identical case were presented to him.

Companions Go Free.

Richard, 59 years old, was assaulted in front of his apartment at 1538 Thorndale avenue by Schmidt and two young companions. Schmidt was convicted on April 20 and placed on probation on May 6. Charges against his two companions were ended by nolle pros.

"Under recent legislation our courts are empowered to grant probation in manslaughter cases," Courtney said. "Certainly, however, such deliberate acts of violence that cause death should not go unpunished.

"My assistant in the case vigorously protested the granting of this probation and pointed out to the court the enormity of this offense, as well as the injustice that would follow in the wake of such unnecessarily lenient action on the part of the court.

Widow Denounces Action.

"Under the law we can do no more than object strenuously to what I consider a miscarriage of justice. However, if this case is to serve as a precedent, then I shall do my utmost to urge the legislature to take from the judges this new discretion in manslaughter cases."

Mrs. Richard, the dead man's widow, and Wilbert F. Crowley, Courtney's first assistant, preceeded the state's attorney in denouncing Judge Dunne's action.

Mrs. Richard said she had never expected or desired the extreme penalty for young Schmidt, but that he should have been given punishment in keeping with his crime. Manslaughter ordinarily calls for a term of from 1 to 14 years in the penitentiary.

EPISCOPAL BISHOP IN IOWA PROHIBITS CHURCH LOTTERIES

Davenport, Ia., May 9.—[Special.]—Bingo and other games of chance have been barred in the Episcopal diocese of Iowa by Bishop Harry S. Longley.

"I most emphatically forbid in this diocese," he declared in his annual official address at the diocesan convention, "all schemes for raising money which violate the law of the land and set aside the morals which for centuries have been the guide of Christian men and women in building and holding up Christian standards. I refer to games of chance, bing, and the giving of prizes at public affairs."

STILES EXPECTED TO BE MADE NEW G. O. P. CHAIRMAN

Tyrrell Refuses to Admit Defeat for State Post.

BY PERCY WOOD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., May 9.—[Special.]—A. K. Stiles of Sycamore, freshman member of the Republican state central committee, held the lead tonight in forecasts on the election of a state chairman, which will be held tomorrow afternoon.

Stiles, an investment banker, was being picked by arrivals in advance of the session to beat the present chairman, Attorney John F. Tyrrell of Chicago, but Tyrrell would not concede defeat. Instead he predicted his own victory by about the same majority as the Stiles' backers—450,000 of the 800,000 votes which the committeemen will cast. [The committeemen vote on the basis of the party votes cast in their districts.]

New Organization in Picture.

Behind the contest looms the potent new organization, the Republican County Chairmen's association, which picked a state ticket in February and saw it nominated, except for one of the candidates for congressmen-at-large, in April. This group would like to manage its slate's campaign in the fall, and Stiles was one of the slate makers. His election as chairman would go far toward giving the county chairmen the major say in September and October.

Late today Richard Yates Rowe, Jacksonville committeeman, withdrew his candidacy for the chairmanship and announced that he would support Stiles on tomorrow's roll call. This reduced the race to two men and set the supporters of each busy with pencil and paper tallying strength.

Claim Cook County Aid.

Edward F. Moore, Cook county chairman and head of the county chairmen's executive committee, arrived here tonight on the same train with Tyrrell, but definitly was not in the Tyrrell camp. Moore was represented as feeling that the chairmanship belongs to the downstate and to have accepted the wishes of a majority of the downstate committeemen who are pledged to Stiles.

Apparently with Moore's authority the Stiles' managers claim the support of seven of the ten Cook county committeemen and say that their downstate help will bring the Sycamore man's strength to from 450,000 to 500,000 votes. The successful candidate must poll about 401,000.

The exact number will be made known tomorrow when the state canvassing board announced its findings on the primary day vote.

WOMAN DIES AT 85 YEARS.

[LESSON ON PAGE 19.]

The sixth annual term of THE TRIBUNE'S free golf school, largest university of group instruction in the history of the game, will open tonight on the four courses of the Chicago park district—Diversey in Lincoln park, Jackson park, Columbus park, and Marquette park.

Every Chicagoan interested in golf is invited to attend. There is no charge for the course of instruction. It doesn't matter whether you have played for years or whether you never swung a club in your life. The school is open to men, women, boys, and girls, regardless of age or ability.

The only requirements for matriculation are a golf club, preferably a driver, and promptness. Each of the four lessons will begin at 7 p. m. Each student is urged to appear at the most convenient course about fifteen minutes before the lesson begins.

Read the Lesson.

The first lesson will be devoted to the grip, primary fundamental of golf. In another part of today's TRIBUNE, prospective students will find an outline of the grip as it will be taught tonight. All pupils are advised to read this carefully, so that they may be properly prepared for the actual lesson tonight.

Throughout the series of four lessons, the classes in the school are assured of instruction of a high caliber. The faculty is composed of the membership of the Illinois section of the Professional Golfers' association, the first unit in the national organization to promote the advancement of group instruction and devote attention to junior golfers.

Four veterans of the school will take over the duties of head professor at each course. While they are explaining the various phases of the grip their P. G. A. colleagues will circulate among the classes, giving personal instruction. The foursome of head teachers includes Jock Anderson of Techny fields, who will be stationed at the Diversey course in Lincoln park; Lew Waldron of Mohawk, who returns to his old stand at Columbus; Harry Adams of Elgin, who will deliver the main lecture at Jackson park, and Tom Walsh of Westgate Valley, the No. 1 professor at Marquette park.

Pick Prize Pupils.

The locations of the four courses at which the lessons will be given:

Columbus—Jackson boulevard and Central avenue.

Marquette—Marquette road and Kedzie avenue.

Jackson—63d street and Stony Island avenue.

Diversey—In Lincoln park, foot of Diversey boulevard and the lake.

Following tonight's first lesson, the second lesson will be held on the same four courses on Thursday night at the same hour; the third on Tuesday night, May 17; the fourth and final instruction will be given on Thursday night, May 19.

At the conclusion of this fourth lesson the Illinois P. G. A. members at each course will name the two pupils in each division—men's, women's boys' and girls'—who have made the best progress in the school. These thirty-two prize students will thus become eligible for the final graduating exercises to be held at the Diversey course on Sunday afternoon, May 22.

Tribune Offers Prizes.

A jury of leading P. G. A. professionals will name the ablest four in the school at these finals. Each will receive a golf bag and a set of clubs, together with a season ticket to the Chicago open championship, to be played at Olympia Fields on July 22, 23, and 24. The other 28 graduates will be presented with one dozen P. G. A. balls and a ticket for the final 36 holes of the Chicago open.

Senators Beat Browns, 7 to 1; Take 1st Place

The Cubs were rained out of their game with the Giants which was scheduled yesterday in Wrigley field. Bad weather also forced the postponement of the White Sox's engagement with the Yankees in New York. Both Chicago teams are to meet the same opponents today.

Washington, D. C., May 9.—(AP)—Washington climbed into first place in the American league today, using the cellar dwelling St. Louis Browns as a stepping stone.

The Senators defeated St. Louis, 7 to 1, in today's game. This, coupled with the fact that Cleveland lost to Boston and the New York Yankees were idle, put Washington on top.

The Senators' knuckleball star, Dutch Leonard, yielded the Browns only seven hits—all singles—fanned three and batted out a triple and single, driving in three runs. Score:

Jimmy Foxx, with two homers, and Manager Joe Cronin, with one, led the Red Sox assault on three Cleveland pitchers. But by the time Foxx clouted his homers, in the sixth and seventh, Boston already had enough runs to win. Score:

PAIRINGS MENACE AMERICAN HOPES IN BRITISH GOLF

Stars Are Bracketed in Early Rounds.

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland, May 9.—(AP)—Barring a sudden collapse of both their games, United States Amateur Champion Johnny Goodman and Ray Billows, whom he defeated in the 1937 final, will clash in the second round of the British amateur golf tournament, which opens May 23 at Troon.

That was the worst of a lot of bad news for the American invaders which accompanied today's draw for the tournament.

Goodman and Billows were drawn in the same quarter and in adjoining brackets. Goodman meets Robert Montgomerie of Scotland in the first round, while Billows plays Raymond Quilter of England, and from there they should go on to a match that will eliminate one of the two top ranking United States contenders.

Americans Are Bunched.

Besides Goodman and Billows, both members of the American Walker cup teams, five other Americans are in the second quarter. They are Francis Ouimet, veteran team captain; Charles [Chuck] Kocsis of Detroit, Marvin [Bud] Ward of Olympia, Wash.; Reynolds Smith of Dallas, and Charles [Sherry] Munson, Yale university captain. Kocsis, Ward and Smith also are members of the Walker cup team.

Two other members of the team, Former Amateur Champion Johnny Fischer of Cincinnati, and Charley Yates of Atlanta, were drawn against each other in a first round match in the third quarter.

Other American contenders are Robert Sweeny, defending champion, who is a United States born resident of London; Fred Haas Jr. of New Orleans, and Bobby Dunkelberger of High Point, N. C. The name of T. Suffern Tailer of Greenwich, Conn., also appears in the draw, but Tailer has decided not to compete.

Ward, Munson to Meet.

Ward and Munson will meet in the second round if they win in the first. The Pacific coast youngster meets Israel Sidebottom of England in the first round, and Munson tackles Albert Briscoe of England.

Kocsis, bracketed with R. W. Crummack in the first round, is a likely opponent for whoever comes out of that muddle. Smith meets Koch de Gooreynd and Ouimet is paired with P. J. Urlwin in first round tests.

Sweeny, Fischer, and Yates are in the third quarter, and with them are Charles Stone and Frank Pennink, British Walker cup players. Haas, whose first round opponent is A. J. Ashworth, is in the fourth quarter against such British threats as Hector Thomson, former champion; Tony Torrance, Eric Fiddian, Leonard Crawley, and Harry Bentley.

With Tailer out, Dunkelberger is the only United States representative in the first quarter, where he meets A. E. L. MacKenzie Grieve in the opening round.

TROSKY RETAINS MAJOR LEAGUE BATTING LEAD

Hal Trosky, Cleveland first baseman, maintained his lead in the major league batting race, although he was held to one hit in three times at bat yesterday and dropped from .448 to .443. Frank Hayes of the Athletics did not play and maintained second place in the Big Six at .409. Cecil Travis of the Senators dropped out of the first three in the American league when he made only one hit in four attempts. Bill Dickey of the Yanks displaced Travis with an average of .390. The standings:

Leg Injured, Lawrin's Sire Cheats Death

BY FRENCH LANE.

Between races at Aurora yesterday a horseman revealed how narrowly Insco, sire of the Kentucky Derby winner Lawrin escaped being "humanely" destroyed long before he had a chance to send a son of Lawrin's running ability to the races.

Insco, so the story goes, had been purchased from the late Admiral Cary T. Grayson by Griffin Watkins, a shoe manufacturer of Alton, Ill., for $30,000. Watkin's trainer, the veteran, C. E. [Boots] Durnell, had recommended the colt to his boss.

Immediately Insco showed so much ability that he had a royal chance of becoming the big money winning 3 year old of the year. Watkins fell completely in love with the colt and was able to insure him for $75,000.

Fractures Bone in Ankle.

Next came the race in which Insco fell and fractured a bone in his ankle. Had he been a cheap horse he would have been destroyed immediately. The insurance company holding the policy on his life however, called in numerous veterinarians. Finally it was decided to endeavor to save the horse's life instead of destroying him.

This brought weeks of suffering for Insco. He had to be bandaged and strapped to a pulley which hung from the roof of his stall. He had to hang in this uncomfortable position until the broken bone knitted and healed.

His racing days were over, but the insurance company had saved the life of the horse which now has become the sire of a Derby winner.

Sells Insco for $500.

With his pet horse gone as far as racing was concerned, Watkins sold his turf holdings. Insco went for $500. He's still hale and hearty. Opportunities to sire great horses were not numerous since he was located near Parnell, Mo., far away from where most of the choice brood mares of the country are placed. Watkins is no longer in racing. Durnell, his trainer, is conditioning horses in the far west.

Margaret Lawrence, mother of Lawrin, is by Vulcain and a direct descendent of Rock Sand which produced in this country more good brood mares than almost any other sire. Breeding authorities give the Rock Sand cross in her blood lines much of the credit for Lawrin's running ability.

Officials of the Fox Valley Jocky club will mail Trainer Ben Jones an invitation to nominate Lawrin for the $12,000 Illinois Derby to be run at Aurora on May 28. C. Bruce Head, general manager of the Lincoln Fields track, arrived from Louisville yesterday, and said that if Lawrin remained in the west he would start in at least two of the stake races to be run at Lincoln Fields in June.

Chicago Plans Gala Welcome for Champions

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Arrangements were completed yesterday at a meeting of the executive committee of Chicago's reception committee for the civic welcome which will be extended the European amateur boxing champions when they arrive tomorrow at 1:30, Chicago daylight time, in Union station. Preliminary plans had been made last week and at yesterday's executive session representatives of the clubs and societies which will coöperate in greeting Chicago's visitors reported on the number of uniformed and costumed groups, the drum corps and bands which will gather in the station.

Capt. George H. Weideling, president of the German club, on motion of John Dolce, chairman of the Italian reception committee, seconded by Peter J. Peel, past president of the Irish Fellowship, unanimously was chosen as marshal of the arrangements at the station.

Report an Hour Ahead.

Capt. Weideling immediately visited Union station to prepare a chart of the lobby. Definite positions will be assigned to each of the six national groups, Italians, Finns, Hungarians, Germans, Poles, and Irish, and all will report an hour before the train bringing the European champions is scheduled to arrive. During this organization period, several bands will entertain the throng. In this group will be the Catholic Youth Organization band under the direction of Tom Fabish.

The executive committee yesterday was emphatic that all Chicago is invited to the station reception. "While only six racial groups have organized the reception since boxers from those nations are members of the European squad," Capt. Weideling said, "it will be Chicago's welcome to our guests from across the Atlantic."

To Meet the Mayor.

There will be a motor parade through the loop after the ceremonies at the station to the city hall, where Mayor Edward J. Kelly will welcome the officials and boxers. Thirty automobiles, a maximum of four cars for each group, will be escorted by motorcycle police across Jackson boulevard and then north on La Salle street. Other groups will disband after the review in the station and on Canal street. Capt. Patrick J. Collins, of the Desplaines street station, has assigned a detail of twenty police to the station to coöperate with Capt. Weideling and his committee for the reception.

Members of executive committee which met yesterday are:

Peter J. Peel, past president Irish Fellowship club; Maurice N. Cotter, Ancient Order of Hibernians; Terry Bannon, sports editor, Irish American newspaper; Jack Elder and Mike Murphy, Catholic Youth organization; Carl Stockholm.

John Dolce, chairman of the Italian reception committee; John Merlo, Anthony De Julio, athletic director Italo-American Youth

FIGHTERS TAKE OVER CITY FOR TWO DAY STAY

Don Uniforms for Chicago Trip.

BY ARCH WARD.

New York, May 9.—Ten rugged young Europeans came off the Royal Mail ship, Queen Mary, at 9 o'clock this morning, each of them looking for a fight. They will be accommodated in Chicago Stadium the night of May 18 when they engage the Golden Gloves champions of Chicagoland in America's largest indoor arena.

With just enough good will toward their opponents to meet the requirements of diplomacy, they have a serious desire to smack each and every one of the Golden Gloves boys as severely as possible and return to their various homelands credited with licking the most famous team of amateur boxers in the world. No fighting group from Europe has been able to whip Chicago's representatives in seven years of international competition.

Here Is the Lineup.

The personnel of the party is as follows:

FLYWEIGHTS—Guido Nardecchia, Italy, and Olli Lehtinen, Finland.

BANTAMWEIGHTS—Ulderico Sergo, Italy, and Miholy Bondi, Hungary.

FEATHERWEIGHT—John Saunders, Ireland.

LIGHTWEIGHT—Herbert Nurnberg, Germany.

WELTERWEIGHT—Antoni Kolczynski, Poland.

MIDDLEWEIGHT—Adolf Baumgarten, Germany.

LIGHT HEAVYWEIGHT—Richard Vogt, Germany.

HEAVYWEIGHT—Herbert Runge, Germany.

The four officials of the International Boxing federation who have charge of the squad are Oscar Soderlund, Sweden; Arthur Kankovszky, Hungary; Dr. Franz Metzner, Germany and Count Gerardo Leonardi, Italy.

The young men who will strive to check Chicago's success in amateur boxing are no hand picked group. They won their way to the United States first of all by fighting through their own national tournaments. From there they went to Berlin, where on April 29 they encountered the strongest men of their weights the continent could produce. Out of that competition has come the team for the Stadium bouts on May 18, and unless Chicago this year has the greatest squad in its history the stocky, ruddy complexioned boys who today are touring Manhattan will return to Europe victorious. Beyond question this is the strongest team of amateur boxers that ever has crossed the ocean.

Leave New York Today.

After four days of rigorous work aboard the Queen Mary, the boxers are enjoying a break in their training today and tomorrow. After a morning and afternoon of sightseeing they will leave New York at 7:35 tomorrow evening on the Manhattan Limited of the Pennsylvania railroad. They will arrive in the Union station, Chicago, amid a hullabaloo of hospitality having an official civic tone at 1:30 p. m. daylight time, Wednesday.

There was nearly an hour's delay at the pier this morning when one of the boys lost his luggage. Four of the ten have been in the United States before but, with the exception of Saunders, the Irishman, none of them can ask the time of day in the language of the country. The six who got their first look at Manhattan this morning were on deck before 7 o'clock to wave hello to La Belle Liberty and to take pictures of the skyline. After reaching their rooms on one of the upper floors of the New Yorker hotel they peered out windows and touched things wonderingly, much impressed by the strangeness of it all.

The European boxers have at least one thing in common with Chicago's Golden Glovers. Asked where they most wanted to go after their arrival

TRINER'S 'REIGN' BRINGS REBUKE BY FITZPATRICK

Commissioner's Charges Reveal Break.

Disagreement between Chairman Joe Triner and Commissioner James R. Fitzpatrick of the Illinois Athletic commission, which has been suspected since Fitzpatrick was appointed last Aug. 11, resulted in an open break yesterday when the new commissioner called in reporters and issued a statement protesting Triner's alleged desire and attempt to run the commission single handed.

Fitzpatrick, a former Springfield promoter, and Triner at present are the only members of the commission. Gov. Henry Horner has not yet appointed a third member to fill the vacancy caused by the death of George Getz last February.

Overrule Triner on Levinsky.

During yesterday's session it was revealed that the votes of Fitzpatrick and Getz barred King Levinsky from fighting in Illinois following his humiliation at the hands of Joe Louis three years ago.

"I've got a few things I want to have cleared up as to the commission's policy," Fitzpatrick said, "in the wake of reports that Max Baer would not be permitted to meet Joe Louis in a proposed bout in Chicago and that Promoter Mike Jacobs' future activities in this city would not be sanctioned because the Louis-Max Schmeling contest will be held in New York instead of Chicago.

"These statements were issued by Joe Triner and are his viewpoints. I don't know anything about them. Inasmuch as Triner and myself are the only members of the board these statements cannot be interpreted as official.

"As far as I know Chicago never had the Schmeling-Louis match. Indications are the match never left New York. I have no objection to a Baer-Louis meeting if the encounter is proposed for presentation in Illinois. Surely, Baer rates equally as well as Harry Thomas and Thomas was granted permission to fight Louis.

After Boxing, Wrestling.

"What Jacobs does in New York is his own business or the New York commission's business. The only time we'd be interested in Jacobs is when he is operating in Illinois. Because we lost one bout [the Louis-Schmeling encounter] is no reason why we should jeopardize our future activities in regard to major contests."

Fitzpatrick, who succeeded the late Packy McFarland, said he had nothing against Mike Jacobs and couldn't see why Jacobs should not be as welcome in Chicago as heretofore. He then commented on wrestling.

"Personally, wrestling matches are exhibitions and not contests," Fitzpatrick said, "recently Chairman Triner suggested that Jim Londos meet Ali Baba in a bout in the International Amphitheater. This engagement was held without my approval.

"Any further statements given out must be concurred in by me before they will be recognized as official by this commission. In addition I will not give out any statements without first consulting Triner for his approval."

Chairman Triner then defended himself.

"Gentlemen, this is as much a surprise to me as it is to you. The Baer-Louis matter was not officially brought before this commission. It was only a lot of conversation.

Triner Speaks Up.

"Mike Jacobs asked me a hypothetical question. 'If Louis defeats Schmeling; if it is decided to hold the contest in Chicago next September; if Baer is the logical contender, would you, Mr. Triner, look with favor on a Baer-Louis rematch?' I said no, I would not sanction such a bout for the reason that Baer was counted out on one knee in his first meeting with Louis. On the other hand, I would approve of a Schmeling-Baer encounter because Baer already holds a knockout victory over Schmeling."

MaxSchmeling Reaches U. S. for Louis Bout

New York, May 9.—(AP)—Customs men checked in their old pal, Max Schmeling, for the 19th time today, and they all thought the 32 year old German was looking better than ever before.

Arriving on the Bremen, the ex-champion said he was indeed in the best shape of his career and that he more than likely would knock out Joe Louis on June 22 in the Yankee stadium.

"O, yes, I think I will whip that Louis again," he grinned amiably. "Do you think I come over for fun? Sure, I win the championship back and then I fight here again in September for Mike Jacobs."

He'll Keep on Fighting.

Then, it could be taken as settled that he didn't intend to carry the title back to Germany and sit on it, so to speak? That is, providing he did bash Joe again.

"That's the bunk," he said, very flatly. "Fighting keeps me young. I think I'm a better fighter now than ever. I have more—what you say?—confidence. Yah, more everything, and I keep on fighting."

Among those who went down the bay to greet Schmeling were his manager, Joe Jacobs, and Promoter Mike Jacobs. Mike was unusually cheerful, having just been advised that the advance sale had passed the $100,000 mark.

Sale Cheers Max.

Max will rest for a few days and take in the Nathan Mann-Tony Galento bout Friday night before going up to Speculator, N. Y., to begin training. He and Louis are due to appear before the state athletic commission Wednesday to sign the articles. Louis is to arrive tomorrow.

It will require very little work to get the German in top shape. He has licked three men—Harry Thomas, Ben Foord, and Steve Dudas—in the last five months.

CAMARATA BEATS MARQUART; RUDY WHIPS NYBERG

Nick Camarata, New Orleans, La., won a ten round decision over Billy Marquart in Marigold Gardens last night.

Referee Norman McGarity and Judge Rube Metz each voted for Camarata, 52 to 48, while the other judge, R. A. Goudie, scored for Marquart, 53 to 47.

Camarata received a cut on his left eye in the second and another on his right eye in the third.

Marquart weighed 130½ pounds and Camarata 132.

Chester Rudy beat Russ Nyberg in a five round semi-final. Rudy was a last minute substitute for Steve Karas of South Bend.

Tommy Pallatin, South Bend lightweight, defeated Phil Saeli in a four round preliminary contest. It was Pallatin's twelfth victory in thirteen appearances.

Gene Spencer, South Chicago featherweight, conquered Joe Law and Mike Sinko whipped Jack Pumphrey in other matches of four rounds.

The seventeen Chicago boxers now are immediately concerned with being selected to fight against Europe and they have no time for the amenities of the reception.

Many of the Chicago boxers plan to attend the Cub baseball game tomorrow. Several may see the foreign boys in Union station. While three of the ten Europeans, Herbert Runge, Ulderico Sergo, and Herbert Nurnberg, were here last year, Frank Kainrath, captain of the Chicago Glovers, is the only member of the Chicago team who has returned for this international squad.

EUROPEAN RING CHAMPIONS TAKE OVER NEW YORK

in New York, they answered unanimously "Jack Dempsey's restaurant." So they went to Dempsey's for dinner. From there they were taken to Radio City Music hall.

Uniforms, ordered in Chicago after the personnel of the team was determined in Berlin April 29, were waiting for the boxers this morning. The boys will arrive in Chicago attired in dark blue coats and gray trousers.

One of the first to welcome the fighters to New York was Jimmy Dykes, manager of the White Sox, who was in the hotel lobby when the squad checked in. He immediately cornered the closest member of the team, who happened to be the Pole, Kolczynski, and began to explain the miseries connected with managing a ball club. Dykes was embarrassed no end when an interpreter made known that Kolczynski never had heard of Dykes or the White Sox. The young man from Warsaw wanted to talk about the Zbyszko boys if Dykes insisted on discussing sport.

CUBS TAKE REST AND WORRY OVER TITLE CHANCES

Rain Washes Out Game with Giants.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The Cubs had a chance to rest yesterday because of rainfall and it not only was their first vacation of the season but was most opportune. Having been bowled over the day previous in their year's initial engagement with the Giants, the leisure provided P. K. Wrigley's chattels with time in which to figure out, at least make the attempt to figure, what is going to happen to their pennant chances between now and the end of next September.

The Cubs came to no definite conclusion so far as public announcement was concerned but under their hats all of them know right well that the flag winning is going to be as difficult for them as it was in 1936 and '37 when it wasn't at all successful. They'll continue to take this view until their pitching improves and nobody can guess when that will happen.

Dean May Help.

The Cubs' pitching must be considered weak not only because of what happened the last two months of the 1937 race when a huge lead was frittered away but because of developments in the current race. Out of twenty games played only five of them have been completed with the starting pitchers still in action. More than a few of these three and four pitcher decisions have been saved only because Manager Grimm is happily fortified with rescuing talent but even rescuers fade unless given proper rest in between appearances.

The return to service of the one and only Dizzy Dean, whenever it takes place, may help considerably. Diz will win some games even if his arm continues to be a problem but more important is that when he is available for work the other pitchers who now are doing the fadeouts may be stimulated. They naturally don't want Diz to take the play away from them completely.

Lee Pitches Today.

The title holding Giants will conclude their visit here this afternoon and Bill Lee, who was ready yesterday to bid for his first nine inning job of the year, will make the attempt today. The Giants' starter will be Harry Gumbert.

There was an addition yesterday to Manager Grimm's list of minor invalids. Joe Marty, who hasn't missed a game since the season started, was laid up with a cold. If he isn't able to be up and around this afternoon the center field berth will be placed in the care of Herman Coaker Triplett, the rookie from the Southern association. Gabby Hartnett also is slightly out of kilter. He was hit on the right arm by a foul ball during Sunday's defeat, so O'Dea probably will catch Lee this afternoon.

Rip Collins, who was stabled Sunday because of sniffles, was back to normal yesterday, so unless there is a relapse will be taking care of business at first base today.

GOMEZ CASE IS SETTLED; TERMS REMAIN SECRET

New York, May 9.—[Special.]—After three days of negotiation, attorneys for Vernon Gomez, Yankee pitcher, and his wife, June O'Dea, actress, settled out of court this afternoon her separation suit which had been on trial before Supreme Court Justice Aaron J. Levy.

It was admitted that the settlement agreement provided for a cash payment from Gomez to Miss O'Dea, but all parties refused to discuss the terms.

The settlement leaves Gomez and Miss O'Dea as much married as ever as far as the law is concerned.

YANKEES LOSE CHANCE TO PICK ON SOX CRIPPLES

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 9.—The Yankees this afternoon were thwarted by umpires in an amazing effort to take a kick at our crippled White Sox. They called off the scheduled Yank-Sox game a few minutes after the matter came under their jurisdiction.

The Sox remained in their midtown hotel until 1:45 o'clock this afternoon, taking occasional peeps outdoors to watch the rain. They were startled when word came that the Yanks had refused to call off the game despite rain, cold, and Monday darkness. The Yankees, a half game out of first place at noon had a mathematical chance to go into the lead, an eminence which they have not enjoyed this season.

Chance to Pick Up Cripples.

Though the Sox at full strength haven't always cast fear in the hearts of the Yanks, even world champions get hungry at the prospect of picking on cripples.

And, speaking of cripples, here's the lineup Manager Dykes had announced just before the game was called off at 3:25 o'clock: Berger, ss; Kreevich, cf; Steinbacher, rf; Walker, lf.; Radcliff, 1b; Owen, 3b; Landrum, 2b; Sewell, c., and Gabler, p. This array would have included three gents rated as regulars when the season began and one of the three, Sewell, assigned to the position planned for him early this spring.

The assignment of Radcliff was the most drastic of the realignments due to injuries. Rip has played several hundred games at first base in organized baseball, but never before was sent there by Dykes. Joe Kuhel, injured yesterday, remained in his hotel, but will leave for Chicago tomorrow.

Lee to Pitch.

In the Sox-Yank final tomorrow Thornton Lee will pitch for the Sox. Last year, you remember, Thornton beat the Yankees the first five times he went against them. They beat the big lefty three times in the latter half of the season, but Thornton believes he is in form to get started on a new victory string against the champs.

After tomorrow's game the Sox will hasten to Boston, where they are scheduled to play against the Red Sox Thursday and Friday before taking off for Cleveland.

Pupils! Here Is Lesson for Tonight—Grip

Tonight's first lesson in THE TRIBUNE'S sixth annual free golf school will be devoted to the grip. All students are requested to read the following suggestions on this fundamental, so that they may have a preliminary understanding of the lesson when their teachers begin the actual instruction.

With the head of the club on the ground in the normal golfing position, the left hand is to a degree over the top of the shaft; the left thumb is on the right side of the shaft; the V formed by the thumb and forefinger points toward the right shoulder, and at least two knuckles of the left fist are visible.

Diagonally Across Hand.

The club is held not entirely in the fingers nor entirely in the palm, but lies diagonally across the hand. And it is a combination palm and finger grip with the main pressure exerted by the three smallest fingers. This method produces firmness and permits wrist freedom.

When extended, the right hand should parallel the face of the club. Not more than one knuckle of the fist is visible, and the V formed by thumb and forefinger points toward the right shoulder.

The club is not held in the palm, since this would restrict wrist action. It is almost entirely a finger grip, with slightly more pressure exerted by the first finger.

The left is the holding and guiding hand, the right is the free hitting hand.

Overlapping Grip Popular.

You may have noticed that a great majority of players use the overlapping grip, in which the little finger of the right hand is placed either directly on top of the first finger of the left hand, or between the first and second fingers. The purpose of this grip is to unite the hands so that they will work together and prevent their separation during the swing. This is the most popular type, although the plain grip, where all fingers of both hands are on the shaft, may be used to advantage by people with unusually short fingers or small hands. In such cases the interlocking grip, where the fingers interlock, also has been successful.

A proper grip permits free wrist action on both the backward and forward swings. A grip always should be firm, never too tight and never too loose.

SORE-ARM DEAN'S UNIFORM SHIPPED TO BROKEN BOW

Broken Bow, Neb., May 9.—(AP)—Clarence Mitchell, manager of the volunteer fire department's baseball team and former St. Louis Cardinal pitcher, wrote a letter to the club recently asking for a discarded uniform.

The Cards sent him Dizzy Dean's old suit with this note attached:

EARLY SPRING IN NORTH BRIGHTENS FISHING OUTLOOK

BY BOB BECKER.

Fishermen planning a trip into Wisconsin for the opening of the walleyed pike and pickerel [northern pike] season on May 15 have every reason to expect better sport this year, due to the early spring, and we'll wager that the muskie fishing, opening on May 25, will be better for the same reason.

Here is the way to do a little figuring on how fish behave in relation to an early or late spring. When spring is slow in coming, one is apt to find the muskies finishing their spawning around May 15 in a section as far north as the Hayward country. After spawning these big fish are rather sluggish and a fellow has to work pretty hard to arouse them. Last year spring was late in the north and the muskies weren't through spawning until the middle of May.

Muskies Spawn Early.

This spring it's an enirely different story. A resident of the Hayward country who helps collect muskie eggs for the hatchery in that section reports that the muskies were through spawning around April 26, due to the warm March and April weather.

In other words, the 'lunge were off their beds early and should have plenty of time to recover their usual ornery disposition before the fishermen come along with their hardware on May 25. The pike also spawned ahead of their usual schedule. These fish had finished their run by April 15 in the Hayward country.

Mosquitoes on the Wane.

Another guess we'll hazard about fishing around the 25th and later is that the mosquitoes won't be as bad this year as they were last season at that time. We have a hunch that the warm weather we have enjoyed so far will have the skeeters on a speeded-up hatching schedule. They should reach their peak early and be on the decline before the end of the month.

MANY CALL IT THE MORE-WHERE-THAT-CAME-FROM BOTTLE-
It's our full ½ Gallon Size—The Thing for parties and when folks drop in
By RICHARD SEIBOLD, Meister Bräu Brewmaster

Add Sugars or Syrups?
WE COULD BUT WE WON'T
Our way is the old way—brewing from all grains

MAYBE I am extravagant. Because I still insist on making Meister Bräu the way I learned from my first boss. (He was the first Meister Bräu brewmaster back in 1891.) Even if it does cost more.

But when I talk to folks who drink Meister Bräu, many ask, "How can you make such a good beer at such a reasonable price?"

Well, first, it's because we know how. And then, by making so much Meister Bräu, we enjoy the efficiency and economy of large scale operation. Meister Bräu is Chicago's largest selling bottled beer.

These economies enable us to pay a premium for the best malt and as much as ⅓ more to get the finest hops.

We could save time and trouble by using sugars or syrups. That's a "modern" method—makes a beer some people may like—but may not give the "all-grain" beer flavor.

We have the very finest and latest bottling equipment, but when it comes to anything that affects the character of the beer, we still stick to old-time methods. Thus we bottle only with Natural Draft Beer Carbonation created in the beer itself. This retains the real draft beer flavor. Gives it sparkle, foam, and zest.

Please try this old-time beer made the slow, careful way that brings perfection. Ask for Meister Bräu in cans or bottles. That name assures you the true beer flavor.

PETER HAND BREWERY COMPANY, Chicago, Ill.

Party Night get Meister Bräu in ½ gallon bottles — cold and fresh from your retailer

We recommend your neighborhood retailer. Buy your beer and other beverages from him. You'll get prompt delivery and beer that's kept in perfect condition.

PREEMINENT IS VICTORIOUS IN PREAKNESS PREP

Beats Sun Egret by Four Lengths at Pimlico.

Baltimore, Md., May 9.—(AP)—Preeminent, Hal Price Headley's 6 year old campaigner, pulled ahead without effort in the stretch to beat Sun Egret, a preakness candidate, by four lengths in the $2,500 Jennings handicap at Pimlico today.

The six furlong dash, which drew only three horses, was the first since April 23 for Sun Egret, A. C. Compton's chestnut colt. He was not forced in today's conditioner for the $70,000 preakness on Saturday and is a likely starter since he has recovered from a minor leg injury suffered in the Chesapeake stakes at Havre de Grace.

T. J. Healy's Black Look, the only other starter, was two and a half lengths back of Sun Egret. Preeminent paid $3.50 in earning the winner's purse of $2,100.

Dixie to Be Run Tomorrow.

The arrival of five Kentucky Derby horses earlier in the day sent preakness excitement soaring. Headed by Dauber, second in the Derby, the thoroughbreds detrained in good shape, but are not likely to race before Saturday. Others taking Pimlico stalls were Can't Wait, third in the Derby, and Fighting Fox, Bull Lea, and Menow.

The $20,000 Dixie handicap will be run on Wednesday. Pompoon, third to Stagehand and Seabiscuit in the Santa Anita handicap, has been given a special and careful prep for the Dixie. Other possible starters include Burning Star, Busy K., Tatterdemalion, Caballero II., Eagle Pass, Aneroid, victor over Seabiscuit during the winter at California, and Snark.

DELIBERATOR WINS

New York, May 9.—(AP)—Deliberator, 5 year old from Fred Burton's Everglade stable, won the 45th Toboggan handicap today, but little Eddie Arcaro, rider of the Kentucky Derby winner, stole the spotlight as Belmont Park opened its 24 day spring meeting before a crowd of 10,000.

The 22 year old Newport, Ky., veteran, who piloted Lawrin to victory in the Derby Saturday, returned to New York in time to win two races and finish in the money in two others.

Starting where he left off at Churchill Downs, Arcaro won the opening event with Mrs. Ethel D. Jacobs' Spanish Way; took the third with Roll And Toss, owned by Mrs. Payne Whitney; finished third with John Hay Whitney's Gentle Savage in the mile test for 3 year olds, and wound up the day by riding Mrs. Whitney's American Daisy into second place in a dash for 2 year old fillies.

Deliberator reeled off six furlongs in 1:11 and left five other high ranking sprinters in his wake in the Toboggan. Wayne Wright broke the Everglades colt in front, but he was driving at the end to hold a nose margin over C. R. Fleischman's Parmelee T. Jay Jay, owned by Howard Bruce of Baltimore and slight choice over Deliberator, trailed by another two lengths to take third in front of Clodion, Go Home, and Fairy Hill, a failure since winning the 1937 Santa Anita Derby.

day, refused to go to work yesterday. Their places immediately were filled by men on the reserve list. Everybody with an inclination to wager was accommodated. Last year mutuel betting clerks were paid eight dollars a day on the Illinois circuit.

Louis M. Severson uncovered a swift running Illinois bred 3 year old in yesterday's third race in Spanit, a son of Spic and Span-Flora. He won the 5½ furlong third race by four lengths and was at 7 to 1 in the betting. Severson owns both the sire and dam of Spanit, the 3 year old having been sired at the Severson farm located only a few miles from the Aurora course.

Even with all the derby talk in the air Rushaway, the iron horse, could not get excited yesterday. He finished next to last in the seven horse field of the Montgomery purse, the day's feature. He was away slowly and finished slowly. He didn't look like the Rushaway of 1936 who won the Illinois Derby on a Friday afternoon and then 24 hours later captured the Latonia Derby. Bel Espoir, owned by Mrs. E. K. Weil of Lake Forest came from behind to win the Montgomery purse easily by a length and a quarter. Cardarrone finished second and Lucky Ducky was third. Bel Espoir was a long shot, paying $19.40 for a $2 ticket. Her time for the three quarters of a mile was 1:12 1-5.

THE CHIEF HAS THROAT AILMENT; PREAKNESS OUT

Louisville, Ky., May 9.—[Special.]—Maxwell Howard's 3 year old, The Chief, which finished fifth in the Kentucky Derby last Saturday, is suffering from a sore throat and fever, the same illness which forced Howard's Stagehand out of the big race. Howard had entered The Chief in the Preakness, but today said the colt would not start.

"The Chief is suffering from a low fever and a throat disorder very similar to that which knocked Stagehand out of the Derby," said Dr. Henry C. Harthill, veterinarian. "It's a condition which affects the respiratory tract. There is no immediate danger."

Dr. Harthill also said Stagehand has recovered from his illness.

Watching a calf, it came over Grandpa how milk-fed veal is the tasty kind and whiskey is tastier too, made from real fine grain. Harry E. Wilken

Grandpa was the first Wilken to note what Personal Attention will do!

We're the third generation of Wilkens that's been busying ourselves with whiskey making.

On account of the hours we're putting in and the orders we're filling, we can pretty much tell how people everywhere are taking to the Wilken Family Whiskey. I guess a real old style family recipe made with personal care strikes everybody as being tastier.

What with being on the job every working day and using the best of everything we know of distilling, it's no wonder if we've got a knack for turning out an extra tasty whiskey.

MAYOR TALCOTT GIVES BENNY'S PROGRAM A LIFT

Waukegan Official Makes Debut as Radio Actor.

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

While most Waukegan residents try to get to a loudspeaker at 6 p. m. Sundays to near Jack Benny, a famous son, practically everybody listened last Sunday evening when Mayor Mancel Talcott made his debut as a radio actor. Mayor Talcott has appeared on previous Benny programs—but only as a commentator or foil. On Sunday he essayed a romantic rôle—playing one corner of a triangle of which Jack and Mary Livingstone were the other two.

Dramatizing the story of one Mortimer P. Bookend and his none-to-faithful wife, the Benny crew called on Mayor Talcott to essay the rôle of the extra-curricular suitor. The Mayor's ardent wooing wound up with this plea:

"Marry me and we can elope to Waukegan Falls!"

"But there are no falls in Waukegan," interjected Mary.

"Oh, yes there are," the actor-mayor replied. "The WPA has just built some."

Mayor Talcott got the call to come and give his old schoolmate a helping hand while attending a Red Cross convention in San Francisco. He will return tomorrow and a company of home town leaders is expected to be on hand at the station to applaud his efforts as a spare time Thespian.

Whether it is indicative or not of a west-to-east radio trend, the Ranch Boys, who used to sing here, are riding out of Hollywood and all the way east to New York, allowing themselves three months for the trip. They start today from Hollywood with Clark Gable, Carole Lombard and Robert Taylor among those seeing them off. After a detour by way of San Francisco they will trek steadily eastward with broadcasts every Saturday night on the National Barn Dance from convenient points along the way.

The Ranch Boys have one advantage over the covered wagon pioneers who went west a century ago. They are carrying spare horses in a big trailer. The singing trio is due here on July 16.

Launching a spring tune-up drive last evening, Dr. O. H. Caldwell, former radio commissioner, suggested three rules to insure better reception during the summer months: Install an outdoor antenna as high as possible and leading away from the house or apartment; have tubes checked to see whether they are in good condition. If interference is still impaired have an experienced radio technician check over the receiver as well as nearby electrical devices which may be causing the trouble.

More than 49,272 mothers and fathers of the Child Welfare League of America have voted Fred Allen's show their first choice among all radio programs. Both the mothers and fathers favored Allen for first place: The mothers' runners-up were Bing Crosby, Radio Theater, Jack Benny and Charlie McCarthy, in the order named. The papas' alternatives: Eddie Cantor, Radio Theater, Bing Crosby and Jack Benny. The fathers, it seems, are not so hot for Bergen's brat.

THOMAS M'GARRY DIES; A VETERAN OF INDIAN WARS

Thomas J. McGarry, an old Indian fighter in the northwest, died yesterday at the age of 76 in the Hines Veterans' hospital. He lived at 6335 Laflin street. Mr. McGarry, born in Chicago, was in his teens when he enlisted in the 3d United States cavalry. He served from 1881 to 1889 in Idaho, Montana, Wyoming, and Washington, and engaged in many skirmishes with the almost vanquished redskins. On leaving the army he became a treasury agent and later an employé of the Federal Reserve bank in Chicago. He was pensioned in 1933. His widow, Catherine; two daughters, Mrs. Luretto Labrecque and Mrs. Agnes Becker, and four sons, John, Arthur, Joseph, and Bernard, survive. The funeral will be held at 9 a. m. Thursday from the chapel at 1716 West 63d street to St. Brendan's church.

HAVE YOU A PET OTTER IN YOUR HOME? TRY ONE

Take the word of E. E. Liers, who raises them on his farm at Homer, Minn., tame otters are noted for their good nature and docility.

And, in addition, Liers pointed out, a trained otter is a boon to duck hunters as a retriever because of his expertness as a swimmer and diver.

With two of his pets on a leash Liers visited the Field museum yesterday to tell of his success in training the animals. He said he had recently sold several to Mrs. Esther du Pont Weir of Philadelphia and others in the east. Otters make better pets than dogs, he added.

Mr. De Vries was born in The Netherlands, studied chemistry at the University of Michigan and the University of Chicago, and had been in business in Chicago for fourteen years. His home was at 725 Colfax street, Evanston. His widow, Florence, and two daughters, Florissa and Joan, survive.

ADVISES COURT TO ACCEPT PICK ESTATE OFFER

Master in Chancery Charles A. McDonald yesterday recommended that Federal Judge Philip L. Sullivan accept Albert Pick Jr.'s offer of $100,000 in settlement of claims against his father, a former hotel supplies manufacturer, who created a $500,000 trust in 1930 and went into bankruptcy in 1933. The elder Pick listed liabilities of 5 million dollars and assets as a watch and chain.

Last January Master McDonald recommended that the trust in favor of Pick Jr. and his mother, Mrs. Gertrude F. Pick, be set aside as a fraud. In his latest report he emphasized that the recommendation is "not to be construed as condoning the fraudulent conduct of said defendants or as a settlement of any criminal or civil liability" in hiding assets from creditors.

Master McDonald said he doubted that the Pick properties, at forced sale, would bring more than the $100,000 settlement offered.

WARNS JEW-GENTILE MARRIAGES USUALLY BRING UNHAPPINESS

Factors aiding couples to a happy married life were discussed yesterday by a young people's group at the silver jubilee convention of the United Synagogue of America in the Morrison hotel.

These factors included: Physical attractiveness, compatibility of temperament, respecting each other's friends and families, and coöperation for the welfare of the family. A report by Marvin Finder, president of the Chicago division of the young people's group, warned that most marriages between Jews and gentiles led to unhappiness.

The report also urged Jewish leaders to take a more liberal attitude toward youth activities and so win back young people to the ideals of religion.

MALONE SEEKING PRESIDENT'S EAR TO BEAT PRISON

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 9.—[Special.]—William H. Malone, former chairman of the Illinois tax commission, who is facing two years in prison and a $5,000 fine for income tax evasion, was seeking tonight to reach President Roosevelt's ear to make a pardon plea.

Malone arrived here by plane during the afternoon. He left for a hotel where he rested an hour and then began working to obtain an appointment.

He said he is confident that when the President gets all the facts in the case he would save him from prison.

The Seventh Circuit Court of Appeals affirmed Malone's conviction for income tax evasion in 1929 and 1930 totaling $59,590. The United States Supreme court has refused to review the case.

FIND ROOSEVELT KIDNAP PLOT IS PURELY FICTION

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 9.—[Special.]—What was reported to them as bizarre plot to kidnap President Roosevelt and hold him for ransom aboard a dynamite laden boat anchored in the Potomac was investigated for six hours by the United States secret service tonight.

The supposed plot was brought to light after the arrest Sunday of Robert Kennedy, 46 years old, former lessee of a roadhouse, on forgery complaints. One of the complainants told secret service officers of the alleged plot which he had heard of in a roundabout way from a former partner of Kennedy.

When Kennedy was questioned about the story he denied knowledge of a plot to kidnap the President, according to Secret Service Agent Morris R. Allen, but admitted he contemplated the kidnaping of Andrew Mellon two and a half years ago. He dropped the idea because it was "too fantastic," he said.

The secret service agents announced that Kennedy convinced them he had entered into no plot against the President.

CRY FOR FOOD IN CLEVELAND RELIEF CRISIS

Cleveland, O., May 9.—(AP)—Women and children piled government rations of cabbage and potatoes into baby carriages and toy wagons to replenish their bare cupboards today as city officials grappled with the food crisis among Cleveland's 87,000 direct relief recipients.

Long lines formed at five federal surplus commodities distributing stations. The vegetables and butter issued there comprised the only food for many families. Only the neediest cases received scanty rations at six relief stations where hungry persons clamored for food.

Mayor Harold H. Burton, meanwhile, had several conferences with officials on transferring money from municipal funds to replace an exhausted $50,000 stop-gap appropriation. A special relief session of the Ohio legislature meets next week to discuss appropriating state moneys in the crisis.

BRUCE KENNEDY ESTATE HELD TO BE WORTHLESS

The estate of Col. Bruce Kennedy, Spanish American war veteran, supposedly worth between 2 and 3 million dollars, was declared worthless yesterday in a hearing on a final accounting before Joseph F. Geary, assistant to the Probate judge.

Patents upon which ownership of 1,500,000 acres of Texas land was based were reported to be forgeries by Attorney Philip R. Davis, who was handling the estate for thirty-five heirs. The patents were outlawed by a United States court decision of 1890, Attorney Davis said.

Col. Kennedy, who died in 1933, acquired title to the land in 1929 at a receivership sale. The land lies in three sparsely settled counties in southwest Texas. Col. Kennedy's nephew, Clarence W. Taber of Philadelphia, Pa., is the administrator.

BELGIAN ENVOY, U. S. TREASURY OFFICIAL CONFER

Washington, D. C., May 9.—(AP)—Secretary Morgenthau disclosed today that a Belgium embassy official had conferred with the treasury, but he declined to say whether the conference related to Belgium's reaction to devaluation of the French franc.

In discussing the French action, the treasury secretary said he was interested to note that "as far as speculation in foreign exchange is concerned, on this side of the Atlantic there wasn't any speculation."

"American business men with foreign commitments have coöperated a hundred per cent and so have the banks that deal in foreign exchange," Morgenthau said.

Union Oil.

Investors' Guide: I am interested in Union Oil stock. Please give me a report on this company.—Miss J. T.

Answer: The $165,516,000 Union Oil Company of California, the second largest petroleum operator on the Pacific coast from the standpoint of sales, is engaged in all phases of the industry. Earnings have expanded sharply in recent years and the company has an excellent dividend record.

Most of Union Oil's activities are concentrated in California. Ninety per cent of its oil properties are in that state and the bulk of its products are distributed there. The company, however, also has sales outlets in other west coast states, Canada, Mexico, Hawaii, and elsewhere. Producing properties also are owned in New Mexico, Wyoming, and Texas. Foreign holdings are located in Colombia and Venezuela, South America.

Union Oil owns approximately 490 domestic and foreign wholesale stations and more than 730 retail stations. About 5,300 independent dealers handle Union Oil products, nearly 70 per cent of them exclusively. Sales aggregated approximately 39,196,485 barrels of various petroleum products in 1937, compared with 30,369,616 barrels in 1936.

The company has expanded its producing facilities and its petroleum reserves in recent years. Full use has not been made of potential output, however, because Union Oil has followed the policy of purchasing about half of refinery requirements on the open market.

Sales in the first quarter of 1938 were $17,950,000 and net profit was about $2,300,000, or 49 cents a share, compared with sales of $17,900,000 and net profit of $2,200,000, or 47 cents a share, in the corresponding 1937 period. The record of earnings in recent years follows:

	*Gross operating income.	Net income.	Earned per share.
1937	$85,340,726	$12,061,332	$2.58
1936	67,568,100	6,133,398	1.40
1935	63,787,543	5,036,286	1.15
1934	59,703,740	2,902,733	.66
1933	53,234,858	1,954,279	.45
1932	60,204,586	3,211,084	.73

*Includes sales and other operating revenues.

The company had 4,666,270 shares of $25 par capital stock outstanding at the end of 1937. The regular dividend rate now is $1.20 a share.

Union Oil is well established in its territory and a large productive capacity is available if the need arises. The company's fixed interest obligations are regarded as sound and the capital stock as rather high grade.

$17,500 in Sales

THE EXPERIENCE of a financial firm which purchased space in twelve publications last year to advertise a course in securities trading is noteworthy in showing the superior value of The Times as an advertising medium. Inquiries from the firm's regular advertising in The Times numbered 1,288, resulting in sales of $17,500, compared with 1,174 inquiries and $7,000 in sales from the firm's regular advertising in the next best medium, an out-of-town newspaper.

No better evidence of The Times ability to produce results for financial advertisers is needed than this case history.

Meat Production Is Lowest for April in Sixteen Years

Meat production in the United States last month was second smallest for April in sixteen years, slaughter figures provided by the department of agriculture disclosed yesterday. Plants under federal inspection killed 5,137,726 cattle, calves, hogs, and sheep during the month, compared with 5,533,726 a year ago which also was a period of abnormally low meat production.

It was estimated at the Chicago stockyards that the slaughter represented an output of 908 million pounds of meat, compared with 1,259 million pounds in January and 957 million pounds a year ago.

All Classes Decline.

Beef production dropped from 406 million pounds in January and 388 a year ago to an estimated output of 376 million pounds last month. Pork and lard fell from 742 million pounds in January and 459 million pounds in April, last year, to 423 million pounds last month. Lamb and mutton at 60 million pounds compared with 65 million pounds in January and 54 million pounds a year ago.

With the exception of sheep, slaughtering of all classes of meat animals during the first four months of 1938 show declines compared with the same months of 1937. The cattle slaughter at 3,103,826 compared with 3,203,047 head last year. Hogs decreased from 12,204,375 last year to 12,106,356 this year. The sheep kill at 5,828,106 compared with 5,661,349 during the four months last year.

Meat Prices Decline.

Despite the steady decline in the output of nearly all classes of meats, most prices in wholesale channels continued to fall yesterday. Some kinds reached new lows for this season. Consumer demand has been falling faster than available supplies.

Sellers managed to halt the break in cattle and hogs, and in some instances forced slight advances on light Monday receipts. Live costs of lambs, however, slumped again, mostly 25 cents for the day, and at a new three year low for May.

Demand for hogs improved after a steady to 10 cents lower opening yesterday, with all but the lightest kinds recovering from the early slump cattle gained 10 to 25 cents.

COTTON

Houses with foreign connections sold cotton futures early yesterday, but pressure let up later in the day and reports of unwanted rains in the south brought a rally that erased most losses. The market closed at its high for the day, with prices on the Chicago Board of Trade .02 cent lower to .02 cent higher, and other American markets .02 cent higher to .04 cent a pound lower. At no time did American markets fully reflect the weakness at Liverpool.

Spot cotton closed unchanged, with New Orleans, 8.85 cents; New York, 8.65 cents; Houston, 8.55 cents, and Galveston, 8.50 cents a pound. Prices follow:

GRAIN MARKETS WEAKEN; IGNORE FROST REPORTS

General News on Wheat Crop Is Favorable.

CHICAGO GRAIN FUTURES

Closing prices on the July delivery of principal grains on the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday:

	Yesterday.	Saturday.	Year ago.
Wheat	$ .78¼	$ .79¾	$1.16¾
Corn	.58¾	.59¼	1.18¾
Oats	.27⅜	.27⅝	.43⅜
Rye	.57⅞	.58½	1.03⅝
Soy beans	.94	.94½	1.77

Grain markets showed a weaker undertone yesterday, support was lacking when scattered selling orders appeared. Reports of frost over parts of the winter wheat belt attracted little attention.

Closing trades on wheat futures on the Chicago Board of Trade were at net declines of ⅞ to 1¼ cents. Losses in other North American markets ranged from ¾ to 1⅝ cents, with the Kansas City market showing the most weakness. The Liverpool market closed ⅛ to ⅞ cent lower.

The general run of crop reports from the winter and spring wheat belts was favorable. With a government estimate on the winter wheat crop due this afternoon traders were not disposed to take an aggressive stand, especially as there was a lack of export demand.

Other Trading Is Light.

Trading in corn, oats, rye and soy beans was light. Corn drifted lower despite smaller hedging sales and closed ⅜ to ⅝ cent a bushel lower. No export business was indicated and country offerings were smaller than recently. Cold weather in the central west was reported to be delaying corn planting. Oats closed small fractions of a cent a bushel lower and rye was ¾ to 1 cent lower. Soy beans declined ½ to 1 cent a bushel.

Three governmental crop reports will be given to the grain trade today. The department of agriculture will issue an estimate on the American winter wheat and rye crops at 3 p. m., Chicago daylight saving time. The Canadian bureau of statistics will issue a report late today giving farmers' intentions to plant spring grain.

New estimates on the Argentine wheat, oats, rye and barley crops will be given to the trade this evening.

FREE MARKETING URGED

OTTAWA, Ont., May 9.—(AP)—Free marketing and the continuance of the futures trading system of the Winnipeg grain exchange were recommended today by Justice W. F. A. Turgeon in his report on grain and grain marketing, presented in the Canadian house of commons today by Trade Minister W. D. Euler.

The report is the result of the jurist's investigation as a royal commissioner extending over more than a year. Findings in the report included:

A compulsory government wheat board is not practical.

The futures trading system at Winnipeg should be continued subject to supervision of the grain exchange by a competent officer under the board of grain commissioners.

Voluntary flexible wheat pools, selling in line with world conditions and with, not against, the trade, should be encouraged.

Burley Tobacco Growers Vote 87 Per Cent for Quota

Washington, D. C., May 9.—[Special.]—Out of 250,000 burley tobacco growers eligible to vote 177,078 cast ballots in the department of agriculture's referendum on whether the quota designated by Secretary Wallace should become effective, and 154,208, or 87.1 per cent, voted in favor of the quota.

● A business conducted nightly in residential districts. Hundreds of home-lootings occur that you never hear about. No home is burglar-proof. Average homes are "gravy" for inexperienced burglars while the "professionals" confine their activities to the "luxury" districts--and there are undercover channels for the disposal of loot of any value--jewelry, silverware, novelties, clothing, furs, works of art, cameras, guns,--everything. Whether you're out for the evening or gone on an extensive trip--even when you are at home in bed--the risk of loss by burglary exists and should be insured. An EMPLOYERS MUTUAL Residence Burglary Policy with its broad coverage is economical protection against loss by burglary or theft. It is written in various forms for individual needs and, because of the annual dividend savings of the company, which have never been less than 25%* on Burglary insurance, it costs less! WRIGHT AERO'S QUARTER PROFIT UP TO $586,288

Other Firms Report Lower Earnings.

Wright Aeronautical corporation, maker of aircraft engines and parts, yesterday reported a large increase in first quarter earnings compared with those of a year ago. Most other companies showed lower profits for the period.

Among those earning less than a year ago were Ohio Oil company, Amerada corporation, Chicago Pneumatic Tool company, Sharp & Dohme, Inc.; Niagara-Hudson Power corporation, and Hecla mining company. A slight drop was reported by Liquid Carbonic corporation. The Postal Telegraph Land Lines had a larger net loss than in the first quarter of 1937.

98 Cents a Share.

Net profit of Wright Aeronautical, a subsidiary of Curtiss-Wright corporation, amounted to $586,288 or 98 cents a share in the first quarter against a profit of $286,353 or 48 cents a share in the corresponding 1937 quarter.

Liquid Carbonic's net income in the first quarter slipped to $116,742 against $126,910 last year, in spite of the fact that net sales showed a gain of 14 per cent over the first three months of 1937 to $4,199,620.

McGraw Electric company, Chicago manufacturer of electric appliances reported net profit for the twelve months ended March 31 increased to $1,156,271, compared with $839,044 in the preceding twelve months.

Hecla Has Lead Surplus.

Hecla Mining company, 70 per cent of whose output is lead, is unable to dispose of its full lead production at present, L. J. Hoban, secretary, said yesterday. He commented that lead prices in the first quarter continued to decline steadily and that the falling price level contributed to the drop in net profit to $52,004 against $519,585 a year ago.

Ohio Oil company's net profit for the quarter fell to $1,292,148 compared with $3,471,629 in the like 1937 period.

First quarter net profit of $173,935 against $539,485 for the first three months of 1937 was reported by Sharp & Dohme, Inc., maker of pharmaceutical products.

Chicago Pneumatic Tool company's March quarter net profit dipped to $221,284 against $421,137 last year.

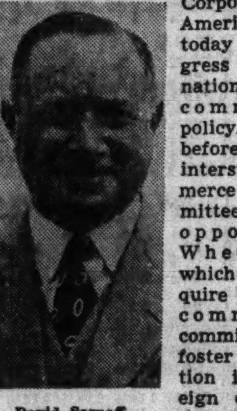
SARNOFF, RCA'S HEAD, FIGHTS WHEELER RADIO COMMUNICATIONS BILL

Washington, D. C., May 9.—(AP)— David Sarnoff, president of the Radio Corporation of America, urged today that congress declare a national radio communications policy. Appearing before a senate interstate commerce subcommittee, Sarnoff opposed the Wheeler bill which would require the federal communications commission to foster competition in the foreign communications field.



David Sarnoff.

Sarnoff asserted the Wheeler bill was inspired by refusal of the communications commission to grant an application of the Mackay company for a radio circuit to Oslo, Norway. Mackay interests have charged Radio Corporation of America Communications, Inc., with operating a virtual monopoly in foreign radio communications.

Sarnoff said Mackay, by duplicating RCAC's circuit to Japan in 1934, forced a decrease in the revenue to American investors. He said RCAC had to make a contract giving the major share of the revenue to Japan

STEEL OUTPUT WILL DECLINE FOR 4TH WEEK

Operations in the steel industry opened this week with a fourth consecutive weekly decline, the American Iron and Steel institute said yesterday.

Mills are scheduled at 30.4 per cent of capacity, a decline of 0.3 of a point from last week. Operations were at 32 per cent two weeks ago and at 32.7 per cent of capacity a month ago.

U. S. Planning Is Held Failure by World Bank

[Copyright: 1938: By the New York Times.]

BASEL, Switzerland, May 9.— Spendthrift nationalism, however planned, is severely criticized as a remedy for depression by the annual report of the Bank for International Settlements, which the bank's president, J. Beyen submitted to its general assembly today. The report assailed nationalism in stronger terms than it did government planning and spending.

Against this whole dominant world doctrin it cited the United States as the star witness on the ground that the remedy's failure there means that it cannot succeed anywhere.

1937 Setback Severe.

In an analysis of the events of 1937 the report asserted that in some respects "a parallel can be found only in the most acute depressions ever known." But in others, it added, the world is better off than in the last depression. It said that the 1929 situation was "exceptionally dangerous" because an industrial setback coincided with an agricultural depression, which is not the situation now.

The report emphasized that the 1937 setback "originated in the United States."

"No other country," it said, "experienced anything like this setback," but added others felt its effects. It then said:

"The hope cherished in certain circles that a country could liberate itself from the influence of developments in other countries by following a national economic policy has proved vain."

U. S. Slump Felt Elsewhere.

The report said the steep decline in business in the United States has a very pronounced effect on raw material markets and thereby on economic development in the rest of the world."

Again stressing the importance of the United States it drew this lesson:

"In no country except those in which the government practically controls the whole of economic life has administrative action been so strong and widely spread.

"Nowhere, however, has reaction been so violent. It has proved to be infinitely more difficult to direct the trend of economic life by government action than the weight of experience encouraged many to believe."

The bank declared its usual 6 per cent dividend.

EXPECT BITTER FIGHT AT CHESAPEAKE & OHIO STOCKHOLDER MEETING

New York, May 9.—(AP)—"Fireworks" at the Chesapeake and Ohio stockholders' meeting at Richmond tomorrow were predicted tonight by both sides in the proxy battle, but no one would explain just what was meant.

However, it was indicated here that a tangle of proxy counting could be expected. A C. & O. management committee, supported by Robert R. Young, and a committee headed by Earle Bailie, Wall street banker, supported by Guaranty Trust company [New York], have each solicited proxies and revocations of opponent's proxies.

[Young, nominally in control of the companies owning 34 per cent of C. & O. stock, is suing Guaranty for the right to vote that stock, in United States Circuit Court of Appeals here.]

Letters received by both sides indicate that hundreds, possibly thousands, of individual owners of the remaining "free" stock, have signed proxies for and revocations against both sides, spokesmen said. The task of unscrambling the proxies may take many hours, as indications were that as many as 50,000 individual forms may have to be checked.

WARD'S APRIL SALES DIP 7.56% BELOW YEAR AGO

Montgomery Ward & Co., large mail order house, yesterday reported that its sales during April amounted to $37,062,930, a decline of $3,032,588, or 7.56 per cent, from volume of $40,095,518 in April, 1937.

For the three months ended April 30, first quarter of the company's fiscal year, sales amounted to $89,624,311, a decrease of $7,562,940, or 7.78 per cent, from sales of $97,187,251 in the corresponding period last year.

J. C. Penney company reported a gain of 0.6 per cent in sales last month—$20,370,335, against $20,232,760 in April, 1937. For the first four months this year, the total was $66,115,469, or 5.8 per cent less than $70,235,008 in the first third of 1937.

Rose's 5, 10, and 25 cent stores April sales were $402,890, a gain of 9 per cent from the $269,566 in April, 1937. The total for the first four months of 1938 was $1,362,856, a decrease of 3.2 per cent from $1,408,724 a year ago.

UTILITIES, RAILS LEAD STOCKS IN LAST HOUR RISE

Sudden Buying Rush Clogs Ticker.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 9.—A strong closing drive by public utility and rail shares shook the stock market out of the doldrums today and sent prices up 1 to 4 points. Industrial shares, which had lagged, also advanced under the impetus of the better demand in the other sections.

Volume increased to 1,018,150 shares, with particularly keen deranging up to 2⅛ points, the larger 150 shares and clogging the ticker.

The late rally was attributed to a combination of developments including the quick passage by the senate of the tax revision bill, indications the wage-hour bill may run into a senate filibuster, brighter hopes of a truce between the administration and the power companies and the possibility that federal assistance will save the stricken railroads.

Preferred Issues Rise.

Consolidated Edison, Electric Power and Light, North American, American Water Works, Commonwealth and Southern, United corporation, Engineers Public Service, and Columbit Gas and Electric were popular, gaining fractions to 1¼ points. A number of preferred utility issues advanced as much as 4 points, with Electric Power and Light and Consolidated Edison leading.

Carrier issues became active and stronger in the late trading after being ignored for a time. New York Central, Pennsylvania, Southern Pacific, Chesapeake and Ohio, Great Northern and Santa Fe were in biggest demand and added amounts gain accruing to Santa Fe.

Earlier in the day local tractions were given a lift on indications of progress in unification developments. Interborough Rapid Transit, Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit and Manhattan railway were active, with the last two each adding more than 1 point.

Steel Group Climbs.

Steels climbed after being depressed early in the session. United States Steel common and Bethlehem gained 1⅜ and 1 point respectively.

Chrysler surged 1⅞ points higher in the automobile stocks, and General Motors was fractionally higher Coppers registered gains ranging from fractions to 1⅜ points, with Anaconda and International Nickel leaders.

Electric equipments turned strong in sympathy with the power and light shares. General Electric rose 1¼ points and Westinghouse gained 4⅝. Other heavy machinery issues, notably Case, International Harvester and Allis Chalmers, advanced up to 2 points or more.

Further evidence that the Securities and Exchange commission is keeping a close watch on market movements and the effects of its rulings regarding many important trading practices was contained today in a questionnaire sent by the stock exchange to its members.

The inquiry covers member or member partner trading in twenty of the more active stocks on the list during the period from March 21 to April 2, when the market was declining sharply.

The stock exchange letter does not explain the reason for the questionnaire, but it generally interpreted as a further check of the effect of the SEC's short selling rule during the market's decline.

Edison's Directors Approve Loans Totaling 72 Millions

Directors of the Commonwealth Edison company yesterday authorized the filing of a registration statement with the Securities and Exchange commission at Washington covering a proposed issue of 33 million dollars of first mortgage bonds and a proposed issue of convertible debentures of not less than $39,083,195, nor more than $42,303,845.

It is expected the registration statement will be filed before the end of this week. Statements become effective, if approved, twenty days after filing, so the securities may be offered at any time after the first week in June.

Chicago Firm to Handle Issue.

When the big issue, which is expected to total not less than 72 million dollars, is placed on the market it will be underwritten by a syndicate headed by a Chicago investment banking house, Halsey, Stuart & Co.

The first mortgage bonds are to bear a 3½ per cent coupon and mature in 1968. Proceeds will be used to retire 30 million dollars principal amount of series A and series B 5 per cent bonds, maturing in 1953 and 1954, respectively, and callable at 110.

The Commonwealth Edison company has not yet determined the rate or the maturity of the convertible debentures. They will be offered pro rata to stockholders at par. Each $100 of the debentures will be convertible into four shares of Commonwealth Edison common stock.

Will Retire Older Issue.

Proceeds from the sale of the debentures will be used in part to retire $19,429,000 principal amount of Commonwealth Subsidiary corporation 5½ per cent debentures, due in 1948. The remainder of the proceeds will be used to retire bank loans and for general corporate purposes, including improvements to plants.

Subscription warrants will be issued to stockholders at the rate of $5 of debentures for each share of stock held on the record date. Warants will be transferable, but may be exercised by the holders only in amounts calling for $100 of the debentures, or any multiple thereof. The record date will be announced later.

Necessary authority to issue the first mortgage bonds is to be acted upon at a special meeting of stockholders on May 20.

A banking group headed by Lehman Brothers is offering a new issue of $2,100,000 of Cleveland, O., 3 and 3½ per cent bonds. R. W. Pressprich & Co. is offering $600,000 or 5 per cent-2½ per cent refunding bonds of the Salt Lake City, Utah, school district.

MAN PAYS TREASURY FOR THE PRIVILEGE OF LENDING CASH TO U. S.

Washington, D. C., May 10.—(AP)— The treasury today discovered a citizen who not only wants to lend money to the government but is willing to pay the government to take it.

This man, whose name was not disclosed, offered $10,001 for a $10,000 bill, part of the treasury's weekly $50,000,000 offering. Officials said he probably wanted to get the $10,000 into non-taxable federal securities. His offer was accepted with alacrity.

Secretary Morgenthau reported that the $50,000,000 issue was taken up at the lowest average interest rate ever recorded—0.029 per cent.

ROOT SAYS RFC LOAN BILL PERILS REORGANIZATION

Washington, D. C., May 9.—(AP)— Elihu Root Jr. attorney for some security holders of the Chicago, Rock Island, and Pacific railroad, told a house banking committee today that a bill to permit Reconstruction Finance corporation equipment and reemployment loans to railways would jeopardize reorganization of major lines.

He objected to a provision which he said would let the corporation sell at any time collateral it had received for loans to bankrupt railroads.

Since the provision would be retroactive, Root said it would upset a Supreme court decision, in a case involving the Rock Island, which held the courts might enjoin the sale of collateral when that step was necessary to permit the framing of a reorganization plan.

"The retroactive feature," Root said, "upsets the basis on which reorganization plans are being worked out."

Knoxville, TVA Resume Negotiations with Utility

Knoxville, Tenn., May 9. — (AP) — Knoxville and Tennessee Valley authority officials resumed negotiations today with the National Power and Light company seeking joint city-TVA purchase of the utility's holdings in and near Knoxville. Mayor Walter W. Mynatt and David E. Lilienthal, TVA director, conferred with Paul B. Sawyer, president of National Power and Light, parent company of the Tennessee Public Service company, which serves Knoxville.

N. Y. EXCHANGE RULE PASSES TO 'PROGRESSIVES'

New Board Headed by Martin Elected.

New York, May 9.—[Special.]—Rule of the New York Stock exchange passed to a new group today with the uncontested election of a new board of governors headed by William McChesney Martin, member of a St. Louis brokerage house. The new directors known as "progressives," will dominate the affairs of the nation's leading stock exchange formerly in the hands of the group headed by Charles R. Gay, president since 1934.

Paul H. Davis of Chicago elected.

Martin was elected to the newly created position of chairman of the board. He is also expected to hold temporarily the position of president until the exchange selects a full time salaried president.

Heavy Vote Is Cast.

Martin, who is a Yale graduate, is 31 years old and is one of the youngest members ever chosen by the exchange for an executive position. A member of the firm of A. C. Edwards & Sons, he was secretary of the committee that made the recommendations for a change in the administrative machinery of the exchange. He is the son of the governor of the Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis.

A total of 924 vates was cast in the election of twenty-eight governors. This was said to have been the largest number ever to have been cast in an uncontested election. The exchange has 1,375 members.

Six candidates who live outside the New York area who were elected today were Paul H. Davis of Paul H. Davis & Co., Chicago; Richard Pigeon of Estabrook & Co., Boston; William R. Trigg of Davenport & Co., Richmond, Va.; Ralph S. Richards of Kay Richards & Co., Pittsburgh; C. Newbold Taylor of W. H. Newbold's Sons & Co., Philadelphia, and William Cavalier of William Cavalier & Co., San Francisco.

Ex-Chicagoan Elected.

Fifteen candidates elected who reside in or near New York included: Edward E. Bartlett Jr., Benjamin H. Brinton, R. Lawrence Oakley, Winton G. Rossiter, H. Allen Wardle, Joseph D. Gengler, Charles B. Harding, Harry K. Smith, Jacob C. Stone, Sidney J.

Go After BIG BUSINESS
--And Get It

Moderate size Manufacturers and Jobbers need no longer let big, worthwhile sales go to larger competitors through fear of jeopardizing their capital.

Today many such firms go vigorously after Big Business, protected by an Individual Debtor policy of American Credit Insurance

Does it work? Does it pay? An "American" policyholder of average capital (name on request) recently sold a $30,000 bill of goods to a single firm on acceptances. They write: "Without your insurance we could not have afforded to take this business; the amount involved was too large for a firm of our size to risk, even though the concern is absolutely good and worthy of credit."

Other forms of "American" protection meet various needs: general coverage is often desirable, or your problem may be your non-rated debtors, sales made by branches or subsidiaries, or other special groups. Insolvencies, reorganizations, delinquencies are covered by "American" policies. Investigate. Offices in all principal cities.

UNFINISHED BUSINESS

Keeping money safely and efficiently invested is always unfinished business. Every day something happens somewhere to weaken the intrinsic value of some issue you are holding or to make more desirable an issue you do not hold. Even if you are "not in the market", you must continuously review and realign your investments.

But the management of your investments today involves more than the continued observance of the old and recognized principles. Today, you must be not only a shrewd interpreter of the domestic business situation, but as well a student of international money markets, world politics and economics. You must be able to readjust your viewpoint quickly; to cope with each unprecedented development promptly and prudently.

Merely to be well informed on just one of these phases of your investment problem is more than a spare-time job. To watch and weigh all the perplexing situations, to take action without the bias of wishful thinking, to make a realistic appraisal of your holdings every day is more than a full-time job for any one man.

Successful management of investments demands the facilities, manpower and organized knowledge of a large group of investment specialists to scrutinize each new situation and judge dispassionately how it will affect the value of securities. That is the job that Moody's Investors Service is doing for investors.

Which of our services will help you most, we cannot tell until we have examined your list and know your investment requirements. Your inquiry will be held in confidence and will involve no obligation.

New York Bonds.

New York, May 9.—(AP)—Further advances in the secondary rail group and a rise in New York City transit liens set the pace in active trading in the bond market today. United States government obligations were firm, showing increases of up to 9-32, although two issues of treasury bonds were down 1-32.

Liens of the city's privately owned rapid transit systems advanced on news that long discussed unification under city control was a step nearer. B. M. T. 4½s were 6 higher at 48; Manhattan "L" certificate 4s were 5⅝ higher at 25, and I. R. T. 7s up 4¼ at 48¼.

Associated Press averages showed a mild decline in the industrial group, a fair increase in utilities, and the foreign and low yield groups unchanged for the day. Volume was $7,109,500, just under Friday's $7,273,800, which was highest since April 22.

Chicago Stocks.

Chicago stocks closed higher yesterday as the result of a strong showing in the last hour of trading. The Tribune average of 20 stocks finished at 8.98, which was 0.19 higher than Saturday's close, and the highest closing average since April 22, when it stood at 9.01.

Most volume leaders finished higher. Commonwealth Edison, Middle West, and Cities Service reflected the strength in utility issues. Edison moved up a full point to 27½, Middle West gained ½, closing at 6¾, and Cities Service closed ¼ higher at 10½. Borg-Warner was up ½ at 22. Chicago corporation was unchanged at 2, and Northwest Bancorporation slipped ⅛ to close at 6.

Bank Stocks.

Chicago bank stocks showed little change yesterday. First National was quoted at 173 bid and 177 asked, as against 170 bid and 175 asked on Saturday, but American National, Chicago Title, and City National remained at Saturday's levels. Harris Trust, Continental Illinois, and Northern Trust showed only slight changes.

Commodities

Commodity prices moved irregularly yesterday. Futures markets broke in the early trading but recovered most of their losses toward the close and several items finished above their Saturday finals. The Dow-Jones commodity futures index dropped 0.30 to 48.42 at the end of the first hour's trading yesterday, but rose slowly to close at 48.63, off 0.09 from Saturday.

Cash prices were lower. The Associated Press weighted index of 35 wholesale commodity prices, based on 1926 as 100, declined to 65.99, the lowest point since June 8, 1934, compared with 66.02 on Saturday.

Raw hides, cocoa, silk, and sugar closed higher in the futures markets, but rubber, cottonseed oil, tin, copper, and wool tops failed to regain all the ground they lost early.

Crude rubber futures finished 0.02 to 0.04 cent lower on sales of 262 contracts. The July future delivery closed at 11.83 cents a pound after ranging between 11.67 and 11.87 cents and compared with its close at 11.85 cents on Saturday. The spot price slipped to 11.75 cents from 11.80 last Saturday.

Hide futures rose sharply in the late trading, wiping out early losses ranging to 0.13 cent a pound to close 0.05 to 0.09 cent higher. The June delivery finished at 9.24 cents a pound compared with 9.15 cents on Saturday. Cocoa was 0.05 to 0.08 cent higher at the close after early weakness.

Cottonseed oil futures closed unchanged to 0.05 cent lower. Wool tops were unchanged to 0.7 cent lower, with the spot price steady at 80½ cents a pound. Coffee futures were irregular early but closed practically unchanged.

Raw silk futures were firm, closing ½ to 2½ cents higher, and sugar futures finished 0.01 to 0.04 cent a pound higher. Metals were about steady to slightly lower. The export copper price sagged from 9.70 cents a pound on Saturday to 9.60 cents at the close of trading yesterday.

WARNS UTILITIES CAN'T VIE WITH SUBSIDY PLANTS

Aller Assails Federal Power Program.

Asserting that electric utilities cannot hope to compete with the federal government, Howard L. Aller, president of the American Power and Light company, yesterday gave stockholders a detailed account of the government's power projects which are a "serious menace" to operating companies in the system.

The account was made in the 1937 annual report of the company which, as a unit in the Electric Bond and Share system, serves a population of about 3,660,000 in 14 states. American Power and Light's consolidated net income for 1937 was reported as $11,448,078, or 59 cents a common share, against $10,398,806, or 25 cents a share, in 1936.

Charges Burden on Taxpayers.

Discussing the question of federal power projects, Aller said:

"The taxpayers of the nation are being taxed to provide money for the construction of unnecessary and duplicate electric facilities, which are not even planned to be self-supporting since they are largely financed by gifts of federal funds.

"The investor is being taxed for money to build the facilities which threaten to destroy his investment. The privately owned utilities are being taxed to provide the duplicating systems which threaten to destroy their own business. It is obvious that the electric utilities cannot hope to compete with our government."

Criticizes Vast Federal Dams.

Operating subsidiaries of the American Power and Light, a holding company, are menaced, Aller said, by the Grand Coulee and Bonneville projects on the Columbia river in the northwest, on which $113,000,000 already has been spent and the Colorado and Brazos projects, involving federal loans and outright expenditures up to now of $55,000,000.

Commenting on the huge federal hydro-electric plants in the northwest, Aller said the present market is adequately served and highly developed, and that "there will be greater and greater pressure to seek a market for this government power in the territory supplied to a large extent by subsidiaries of your company."

TELLS PROBERS HE CAN'T EXPLAIN BYLLESBY ACTS

Madison, Wis., May 9.—(AP)—William G. Pohl, secretary-treasurer of H. M. Byllesby & Co., told the state banking commission today he was unable to give the purposes of large amounts of "unexplained" expenditures by the company.

The commission is investigating the firm's business practices before determining whether to deny it a license to sell securities in Wisconsin. "The unexplained" payments, the company contends, were made too long ago to affect the question of the 1938 license.

Pohl told Special State Counsel William H. Spohn he knew nothing of payments made to William M. Dinneen, former secretary of the Wisconsin public service commission, until the banking department started its inquiry early this year.

Questioned regarding certain suits and claims brought against the firm in Delaware, Pohl said the company could "not sustain" settlements if claims approximated $5,000,000 or $10,000,000.

WEEK'S DRIVE BY RESTAURANTS ADDS PATRONAGE

National Restaurant week, observed last week by members of the National Restaurant association, yesterday was given credit by the association for an increase of 9 per cent in restaurant patronage during the period.

Henry I. Dunnock, president of the organization, estimated that on the basis of returns from all parts of the country the week's volume of business totaled 50 million dollars. Dunnock said newspaper advertising, backed by effective merchandising by restaurateurs, was the chief factor in the success of the drive.

Capital Loans.

An unexpected result of the passage of the securities exchange act has been the development of a new type of corporate financing by banks. Until the passage of the act it was considered unsound practice for a bank to make "capital" loans to a corporation.

The virtual suspension of public financing that followed passage of the act led many corporations of high credit standing to go to banks for money that ordinarily would have been raised by the sale of securities. The larger banks began to make loans of 1 to 5 years to concerns of good credit standing. The practice has continued, many corporations preferring to raise money in this manner rather than go through the complicated and comparatively expensive procedure of registering an issue of securities and making a public offering.

The loans usually mature serially in annual instalments, making them self liquidating, a factor which is said to counterbalance their lack of marketability. Bankers have predicted a further growth in this type of financing.

Open Week's Drive to Tell Public About Life Insurance

A week's campaign to acquaint the public with the rôle of life insurance in the economic affairs of the nation was opened in Chicago yesterday at a breakfast given by the Chicago Association of Life Underwriters in the Hotel Sherman. More than 1,600 persons attended the breakfast. "Life Insurance Week" is held annually throughout the nation.

Alan E. McKeough explains purposes of campaign.

The extent of the life insurance business was emphasized by John A. Stevenson, executive vice president of the Penn Mutual Life Insurance company, Philadelphia, Pa., who in an address at the breakfast declared that with 110 billion dollars of life insurance in force in America in 1937, the life insurance companies have something to boast about. Stevenson said the 1937 figure represented an increase of about 7 per cent over the 1929 total.

133 Million Policies.

He declared that the 110 billion dollars of life insurance represented more than 133 million policies, or more than one policy for each of the 129 million persons in the United States. Actually, he said, owners of life insurance policies total about 64 million persons.

Insurance companies last year disbursed about 2 billion 400 million dollars, he continued, or nearly three times as much as the total pay rolls of the automobile factories. Payments made by American life insurance companies from 1930 to 1937, inclusive, totaled more than 21 billion 26 million dollars, or nearly twice as much as the total war debts owed or in default by all European countries to America, he added.

"If we could translate these figures into terms of families protected from financial hardship, college educations guaranteed, mortgages canceled, estates conserved, and business organizations saved from disaster, they would, of course, give us a better idea of the service life insurance renders," Stevenson continued.

Year's Volume 15 Billion.

He said the same holds true of the 15 billion dollars of insurance written in 1937—the largest annual amount since the 1931 peak—for "if this figure could be expressed in terms of financial plans to be carried through, the public would not have to be educated as to the services rendered by the institution of life insurance as a whole or by individual underwriters."

Alan E. McKeough, president of the Chicago Association of Life Underwriters, presided at the breakfast. He explained the primary aims of life insurance week, which are given to the public through addresses before civic organizations, women's clubs, and various associations, by radio talks and by advertising.

During the week those in the insurance business will endeavor to tell the public how insurance companies operate and how the public's needs with respect to insurance can best be met. The public will be told why it should support the insurance companies.

N. Y. EXCHANGE RULE PASSES TO "PROGRESSIVES"

New Board Headed by Martin Elected.

Weinberg, William Kurt Beckers, Robert P. Boylan [former president of the Chicago Board of Trade], John C. Coleman, Joseph Klingenstein, and Robert J. Stott.

Six nonmembers of the exchange, partners in exchange firms, who were elected, included: John M. Hancock, Robert V. White, Robert A. Drysdale, Paul V. Shields, Gayer C. Dominick, and Philip W. Russell.

The new régime will take office May 16. The new governing board, set up in the new constitution, will replace the old board of fifty members. One of the first actions of the new board when it takes office will be to select the paid president of the exchange. The paid president will be the active head of the exchange and will be a member of the board of governors.

Follows Attacks on Policy.

The election today, marking the end of the rule by the conservative group known as the "old guard," was the first step in the program of reorganization which began as the result of attacks on policies of the exchange. William O. Douglas, chairman of the securities and exchange commission, last year warned the exchange that it must reform its methods or face the possibility of stringent federal regulation.

After recommendations made by an independent committee, the exchange in January unanimously approved a reorganization program which included the new constitution.

EGG CONTRACTS LOWER; BUTTER FUTURES FIRM

Egg futures, reacting under pressure of heavier arrivals in Chicago over the week-end, dropped ⅛ to ¼ cent a dozen yesterday on the Chicago Mercantile exchange. Octobers were off ⅛ at 21⅞ cents, and May storage packed firsts slipped ¼ to 20¾ cents a pound. Cash prices were unchanged. Local receipts of 44,389 cases [1,331,670 dozen] were the heaviest since April 11.

Butter contracts held steady in the face of heavy receipts and continued large storage stocks. Novembers were unchanged at 26⅜ cents a pound, but no sales were made in the May contract. Cash prices were firm, with purchases by the Federal Surplus Commodity corporation of 29,000 pounds of extras [92 score] at 26 cents, and 8,500 pounds of extra firsts [91 score] at 24¼ to 25 cents a pound.

DOLLAR'S VALUE UP SLIGHTLY IN EXCHANGE MART

The dollar rose moderately in terms of several leading European currencies yesterday in foreign exchange dealings. The British pound closed ½ of a cent lower at $4.97⅝, the French franc was 0.00⅛ of a cent lower at 2.80 cents, and the Holland guilder receded 0.14 cent to 55.37 cents.

After showing weakness in early trading, the Belgium belga rallied and closed 0.03 of a cent higher at 55.37 cents. Selling of the belga at various stages of trading was attributed to concern over Belgium's internal political situation and possible financial repercussions.

Demand for the French franc was again strong in all foreign exchange markets as repatriation of French capital continued.

Builder of Alton Locks Sues U. S. for $407,420

Washington, D. C., May 9.—(AP)—John Griffiths & Son company, a Chicago construction firm, sued the government for $407,420 today in the United States Court of Claims. The petition asserted that the company, while constructing twin locks on the Mississippi river at Alton, Ill., in 1935, was required to proceed with its work "in the face of abnormal, excessive and extremely hazardous river conditions," although to do so was contrary "to sound engineering principles."

Business Bits

Field warehousing will be discussed at the Chicago Credit Men's open forum Wednesday evening in the La Salle hotel. Participating in a 30 minute explanation of five different phases of the subject will be Henry Paulman, Crooks Terminal Warehouse; R. M. Elder, Terminal Warehouse; Percy Caris, William H. Banks company; Roy Osgood, Douglas-Guardian Warehouse, and P. S. Holt, Lawrence warehouse.

The Stewart-Warner corporation will hold sectional conferences for its radio distributors May 31 and June 1 in Chicago and June 6 and 7 in Atlantic City, N. J. F. A. Hiter, vice president, said the company will announce an additional line of household appliances at the meetings, which were called to consider a sales and advertising program for 1939 radios.

Albert Dean Henderson has become vice president of the investment firm of I. Newton Perry & Co., marking a renewal of association of Henderson and Perry which dates back to the old Chicago firm of Stevenson Brothers & Perry.

The Rotary Club of Chicago will elect officers today at a luncheon in the Grand ballroom of Hotel Sherman. Founded in 1905 by Paul P. Harris, the club is the first of more than 4,000 that now make up Rotary International.

Appointment of T. J. Gracey as auditor and C. J. Gillespie as assistant auditor of the Grand Trunk Western Railroad company was announced yesterday. Gracey has been western division regional auditor in Winnipeg. Gillespie was chief clerk to the auditor and has been acting auditor since the death of Paul Heitman.

Stuart Orgain, combustion engineer of the Chicago Coal Merchants association, will speak this evening at the Union League club before the association on the burning characteristics, qualities, efficiency, and proper firing of the various sizes and grades of coal and coke used in the Chicago area.

Swedish Kreuger & Toll Court Decision Affirmed

Washington, D. C., May 9.—[Special.]—The United States Circuit Court of Appeals today affirmed a lower court decision rejecting the claims of the Lee Higginson Trust company as trustee for the participating debentures of Aktiebolaget [Swedish], Krueger & Toll, and individual holders, that they were on a par with the claims of general creditors. The order allowed but subordinated the claims both as to principal and interest of this issue to the general creditors.

$200,570 IN YEAR PAID TO SINCLAIR BY OIL COMPANY

Salaries of Other Firms Disclosed by SEC.

Washington, D. C., May 9.—(AP)—Annual corporation reports made public by the Securities and Exchange commission today disclosed that Harry F. Sinclair, chairman of the executive committee of the Consolidated Oil corporation, New York, received $200,570 from the corporation in 1937.

Harry F. Sinclair.

Sinclair's 1936 income from the oil company was $200,659. The company paid H. R. Gallagher, president, $110,890 in 1937, compared with $111,089 for 1936, and E. W. Sinclair, chairman of the finance committee, received $101,030 for 1937.

COURT ORDERS LIQUIDATION OF EATON'S TRUST

Baltimore, Md., May 9.—(AP)—Circuit Court Judge Edwin T. Dickerson signed a decree today directing formation of a new corporation to liquidate Continental Shares, Inc., investment trust founded by Cyrus Eaton, Cleveland financier.

Previously, Judge Dickerson had approved a reorganization plan involving a distribution of new stock in the firm, at one time capitalized at more than $100,000,000. Disagreements between stockholders' groups in carrying out the plan resulted in his liquidation order.

The jurist directed that the two principal conflicting stockholders' committees be equally represented on the board of the new corporation and that court receivers in Maryland and Ohio also should serve. Approximately $6,000,000 in assets are to be liquidated.
